A Season of Celebration

In celebration of the team's 70th Anniversary, the Washington Redskins will highlight the franchise's rich history throughout the 2002 season. Since the inception of the team 1932, the Redskins have accumulated a myriad of great memories and traditions, ranging from fan favorite players to Championship seasons.

The foundation of the anniversary celebration is the 70 Greatest Redskins team, announced in June. Spanning the entire history of the storied franchise, the 70 Greatest Redskins, encompass three head coaches and 67 players.

Overall, they represent accomplishments from the franchise's very beginnings, with Turk Edwards and Cliff Battles selected from the Redskins' 1932 inaugural roster. The distinguished group includes two active players--cornerback Darrell Green, in his 20th year as a Redskin, and Brian Mitchell, now with Philadelphia after 10 years as a Redskins running back and kick/punt return specialist. Fifty-nine of the 70 are still living, and 33 live in the greater Washington, D.C., area.

The 70 Greatest Redskins will be honored at weekend festivities, including a charity gala, on October 25, at the Marriott Wardman Park Hotel in Washington. They will be recognized at FedExField during the Sunday, October 27, game against Indianapolis.

Head coaches George Allen, Joe Gibbs and Ray Flaherty were selected for the 70 Greatest Redskins team because of their record of achievements, not the least being Gibbs' taking the team to four Super Bowls and winning three of them. The Most Valuable Players of those three championships also appear on the list: quarterbacks Doug Williams and Mark Rypien and running back John Riggins, as well as quarterback Joe Theismann, who commanded the team the year Riggins won his MVP award.

There are 92 Super Bowl appearances among the 70 Greats, 45 playing in more than one. Twenty-nine members of the squad possess one Super Bowl ring; 26 have more than one. For the years prior to the Super Bowl, members of the 70

During their Redskins careers, 44 of the 70 appeared in at least one Pro Bowl, which began in 1950. In total, the Redskins greats appeared in 124 Pro Bowls.

Longevity is represented in Green, Sammy Baugh, Monte Coleman, Jeff Bostic, Dave Butz, Chris Hanburger, Len Hauss, Art Monk, Charley Taylor and Don Warren, who amassed a cumulative 150 Redskin years.

Every Redskin in the Pro Football Hall of Fame who played more than three years with the team is represented. Every member of the team's Ring of Fame at FedExField is on the list.

"This was no easy task," said former CNN anchor Bernard Shaw, chairperson of the independent 12-member selection panel.

"We knew going in that there would be 25 or 30 easy and potentially unanimous choices. The 40 other representatives provided the toughest debate."

The panel was guided by the following criteria: Only players and head coaches were eligible; on-field performance was the only criteria; players or head coaches must have played or coached a minimum of three seasons with the team; active players were eligible, but any current team member must have spent at least 10 years with the team to be considered.

The blue-ribbon committee consisted of Shaw; Redskins Hall of Famer Bobby Mitchell; U.S. Sen. George Allen of Virginia; broadcasting legend Ken Beatrice; Noel Epstein, editor of several Washington Post histories of the team; former Under Secretary of State Joseph J. Sisco; Phil Hochberg, who retired last season after 38 years as a team stadium announcer; Pro Football Hall of Fame historian Joe Horigan; WRC-TV Sports Director George Michael; WTEM Sports Director Andy Pollin; Steve Sabol, president of NFL Films; and WRC-TV anchor Jim Vance.

Nearly 30,000 fans participated by registering their sentiments at the team web site, redskins.com.

The 70th anniversary is also being commemorated through "retro" uniforms for home games this season, featuring a one-season return to the team's spear-and-feather helmet logo, as well as jersey and pants colors that harken to the 1960s midpoint of the Redskins' storied history.

GAMEDAY

Credentials: Accredited members of the media who cover the Washington Redskins and the NFL on a regular basis may apply for gameday credentials. For security purposes, the Redskins do not send paper credentials out ahead of gameday. All media that have been confirmed by Redskins PR will be given their paper credentials in person, with valid photo ID, on gameday. Requests must be written on the news organization's letterhead and mailed to Michelle Tessier at the above Redskin Park address. Requests can also be faxed to 703-726-7086, but should be followed up with a phone call. All credentials can be picked up at Media Will Call and Bag Check, located in the South Field Tunnel, next to Gate B. Please be advised that all media must provide photo ID, and all bags will be checked by FedExField security. Guests are not permitted in the FedExField Press Box and credentials are issued to working press only.

Media Entrance: All media must enter the stadium at the South Field Tunnel, next to Gate B. The credential desk opens three hours prior to kickoff.

Photographers: Sideline credentials for field photographers are issued by the Redskins PR department. Free-lance photographers who are not on specific assignment for a recognized sports or news publication will not be accredited. Credentials are marked to only allow photographers on one side of the field – either Home or Visitor.

Parking: Television trucks that provide satellite, uplink, or microwave functions will be parked in Lot B1. Other media are welcome to park, free of charge, at the Media Parking Lot at Landover Mall. Regular shuttles provide transportation directly from Media Parking to FedExField. Directions: (See page 287 for directions to FedExField. Contact Redskins PR for detailed directions to Landover Mall Parking.)

Telephones: The Redskins provide a limited number of co-op credit card phones for copy transmission. To order a phone line in the press box at your expense, contact Derrick Crawford at 301-276-6641.

Post-game interviews: Members of the media seeking to conduct post-game interviews will be given access to players and coaches after the NFL-mandated "cooling off period." Access is available only to media with proper credentials. No still photography is allowed in the locker room. Redskins Head Coach Steve Spurrier and a key player will conduct their post-game press conference in the press interview room located on the field level of FedExField. The Visiting Head Coach will be available in the interview room located directly opposite the visiting locker room.

DURING THE WEEK

Releases / Stats: All press releases, rosters, depth charts, and up-to-date statistics are quickly available on the Redskins official website at www.redskins.com.

Coach Steve Spurrier will hold a Monday press conference (Tuesday, after Monday night games) in the media room at Redskins Park, at the end of the practice day. The press conference audio will be streamed live and archived on redskins.com. Check with Redskins PR for times.

Conference Calls: Coach Steve Spurrier and a player will be made available to visiting team media each Wednesday during the regular season. The Redskins will set up conference calls with the opposing team's coach and player for local media on the same day. Please check with Redskins PR for times.

Interviews: Coaches and players are available to the media coming off the field after practices. Additional interview requests for Redskin coaches, players or staff must come through the Redskins Public Relations Staff.

Access: During the regular season, players are available to accredited media during specific interview periods throughout the week. On Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays the locker room will be open for 45 minutes after the morning practice, around the lunch hour. In addition, players and coached will be made available coming off the playing field after practices. Check with Redskins PR for practice and open locker room times. Players are off-limits on Saturdays and before games on Sundays.

Team Ownership

Daniel M. Snyder

Redskins Owner

Since assuming ownership of the Washington Redskins in July 1999, Daniel M. Snyder, 37, has revitalized the storied franchise both on and off the field, while maintaining an active role in his financial, community and philanthropic interests. Entering the franchise's fourth season under Snyder's leadership, the Redskins continue their role as the nation's most valuable and innovative sports franchise, as calculated by Forbes magazine. He is active in National Football League management, including serving as a member of the League's Broadcast Committee and Ventures Committee.

On January 14, 2002, Snyder named coaching legend Steve Spurrier as the franchise's 25th head coach, bringing renewed excitement to Washington, DC, and to Redskins fans across the country. Offered the challenge of taking the Redskins to a fourth Championship, and playing on the NFL's largest stage at FedEx Field, Spurrier came aboard sharing Snyder's drive and determination. "Dan Snyder wants to win for the Washington Redskins, the fans, and the area. I think we're on the same page," said the new head coach at his first press conference at Redskins Park. "My expectation is like that of every other Washington fan, and that is to return this team to glory."

If bringing a proven champion like Spurrier to the Redskins was not enough, shortly thereafter Snyder offered the same challenge to defensive giant Marvin Lewis, who signed on as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator. With tremendously skilled coaches in place on each side of the ball, Snyder and his team spent the off-season adding talented new players to an already impressive roster, including: Pro Bowl linebackers Jessie Armstead and Jeremiah Trotter; defensive end Renaldo Wynn; offensive lineman Larry Moore; quarterback Patrick Ramsey; and running back Ladell Betts.

Outside of the Redskins, Snyder is equally active. As a native Washingtonian, he participates in community activities both large and small, sometimes providing the funding that allows a local program to flourish, other times spearheading the fund-raising efforts of established organizations like the Leukemia Society. He is a member of the Executive Leadership Cabinet for the Martin Luther King, Jr., National Memorial Project Foundation, taking a lead role in bringing to fruition the memorial to the slain civil rights leader to be built between Washington's Lincoln and Jefferson memorials.

As a member of the Board of Directors of Washington's Children's National Medical Center (Children's Hospital), his financial support enabled construction of the Snyder Family Emergency Medicine and Trauma Center. He is also a member of the Board of Directors of the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children, where he funded construction of the center's Daniel M. Snyder and Family Communications Center. The Center handles the thousands of calls received each week from law enforcement organizations, parents of missing children, runaways seeking help, and people responding to the Center's well-known awareness campaign on behalf of missing children.

Snyder also serves on the Board of Directors of Ted Forstmann's Parents in Charge, as well as the Washington Board of Trade; and is a member of Business Executives for National Security.

In January 2000, he founded the Washington Redskins Leadership Council, an innovative $1 million charitable partnership between the team and prominent Washington-area business leaders such as Fred Smith, Chairman, President and CEO of FedEx Corp.; J.W. Marriott, Jr., CEO of Marriott International; and John Morton, President Mid-Atlantic Banking Group, BankAmerica. The Council uses the significant presence and leverage of the Redskins organization to fund and further community projects such as summer reading programs, community-based redevelopment initiatives and renovation of high school football facilities throughout the Redskins' home geography of Maryland, Virginia and Washington, D.C.

Prior to its sale in 2000, Snyder was chairman and CEO of Snyder Communications, Inc., the company he founded in 1985. During his 15 years of leadership, Snyder Communications grew into a global organization of 12,000 employees, 77 offices in 16 countries, and more than $1 billion in annual revenues. The company's leading role in providing its Fortune 500 client base targeted marketing solutions – including advertising and marketing services – led to its acquisition in September 2000 by the French marketing firm Havas for more than $2.3 billion, at the time the largest such merger in the history of the advertising/marketing industry.

He and his wife, Tanya, have two daughters and are long-time residents of Bethesda, MD.

Michele Snyder

In the early days of Daniel M. Snyder's business career, at Snyder Communications in Bethesda, Maryland, three individuals were among his closest advisors and supporters. Throughout his business career, and extending into his ownership of the Washington Redskins, they remain key advisors.

Long time business partner Fred Drasner and family members Michele Snyder and Gerry Snyder are the key individuals Daniel Snyder turns to before launching a business initiative or making a critical business decision. They are partners, advisors, and confidants, each performing a distinctive role.

Drasner was the first in the business world to recognize the potential of Daniel Snyder when he arranged the initial financing of Snyder Communications. The two have since engaged in several other joint business ventures.

A native of Brooklyn, New York, Drasner is a self-made man with tremendous drive and ambition. In the latter two qualities, as well as in his business vision, he has found a great affinity with the Redskins owner. Drasner also directs several businesses including Applied Graphics Technologies, Applied Printing Technologies, U.S. News & World Report, the New York Daily News, and Fast Company magazine, with combined revenues of over $1.3 billion.

Daniel Snyder's sister Michele, a founder of Snyder Communications, shares his ambitious spirit. Her creativity, operational skills, and business instincts have played an instrumental role in the success of Team Snyder over the past 15 years.

A calm and steady influence has been the contribution of Gerry Snyder, father of the Redskins' owner. In fact, from his father Daniel Snyder has inherited his love of the Redskins. The elder Snyder has been one of the Redskins' most avid fans for over three decades. He frequently attended games at RFK and took Daniel to his first Redskin game in 1971.

A long-time journalist and author with many books to his credit, Gerry Snyder was Editor-in-Chief of Snyder Communications during the early years of Daniel Snyder's phenomenal business career.

Coaches & Staff

Steve Spurrier

Head Coach

1st NFL Season/1st Redskins

"I am one lucky guy to be coaching the Washington Redskins."

-- Steve Spurrier, on his first day at Redskins Park

On January 14, 2002, Redskins Owner Daniel Snyder welcomed Steve Spurrier as the franchise's 25th head coach, beginning a new chapter in Redskins history. Spurrier comes to Washington ready to test his famed "fun-n-gun" offense on the pro level, and guide the Redskins back to a World Championship.

The former Heisman Trophy winner amassed a truly stunning 122-27-1 record in his 12 years as head coach of the University of Florida Gators, including the 1996 National Championship. Spurrier's teams have won seven Southeastern Conference Championships, and he had 10 or more wins in nine of his seasons with the Gators.

"Steve Spurrier will bring a supercharged, exciting and dynamic brand of football to our great fans," Snyder said. "His ability to energize players and teams is unprecedented. The Redskins deserve to be back at the Super Bowl and I am immensely confident that Steve is the coach to get us there."

The new head coach lost no time in putting his staff together, bringing six members of his successful Gators' staff with him to the NFL, and filling in additional positions with proven teachers including Marvin Lewis, who will act as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator.

Spurrier's offensive fireworks have been a constant. Since 1990, his Florida offense averaged more than 35 points a game, along with an average 310 passing yards and 460 total yards per game.

His list of achievements is lengthy, including the best win total in history for a major college coach over his first 12 seasons, and reaching 100 career victories faster than any major college coach in the 20th century. While his name seems synonymous with the success of the elite University of Florida football program, Spurrier has seen great success at every coaching stop of his career.

He began coaching following the completion of a 10-year career as an NFL quarterback on the heels of his 1966 Heisman Trophy, earned as a stellar field leader while at Florida. He was the Gators' starting quarterback for three years and was voted first team All-American in both 1965 and 1966. He was named to the National Collegiate Football Hall of Fame in 1986.

As the first-round pick of the 49ers in the 1967 NFL Draft, Spurrier played quarterback for San Francisco during the pre-free agency years from 1967-75 and for the Tampa Bay Bucs in 1976. He launched his coaching career with a return to Florida in 1978 as quarterbacks coach, before moving to Georgia Tech as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach for the 1979 season. He joined the Duke Blue Devils in the same capacity from 1980-82, and then moved on to his first tour in professional football with the USFL, as the head coach of the Tampa Bay Bandits.

At the Bandits from 1983-85, Spurrier compiled a 35-19 record with two straight playoff appearances, proving that his style of play calling and coaching has been successful on all levels of the game. His 1984 team was the first in pro football history to produce a 4,000-yard passer and two 1,000-yard rushers in the same season.

He returned to Duke as head coach in 1987 and dramatically turned around a moribund program to produce winning seasons after his initial 5-6 year. During his three-year tenure, he compiled a 20-13-1 record and led the team to its first Atlantic Coast Conference (ACC) Championship in 24 years in 1989. In each of his three seasons, the Blue Devils averaged more than 300 yards per game passing, the only team in ACC history to reach the mark.

Spurrier was born April 20, 1945 in Miami Beach, Florida, the son of Presbyterian minister J. Graham Spurrier and his wife, Marjorie. The family moved to Johnson City, Tennessee when he was 12. As a student at Science Hill High School, he was all-state in football, basketball and baseball. He was prep All-American in football in 1962. His baseball team won two straight state titles and in three seasons of pitching, he never lost a game.

Spurrier met his wife, Jerri, while both were students at Florida and they married in 1966. They have four children - daughters, Lisa and Amy, and sons, Steve, Jr., who joins the Redskins in 2002 as wide receivers coach, and Scotty. They also have seven grandchildren.

"To coach in this city, with the biggest stadium in the NFL, with the best fans -- we're going to turn FedExField into the loudest stadium in the country."

-- Steve Spurrier

Marvin Lewis

Assistant Head Coach/Defensive Coordinator

11th NFL Season/1st Redskins

After six years in Baltimore, Marvin Lewis makes his way down the interstate to join the Redskins organization as assistant head coach and defensive coordinator. He brings with him 21 years of coaching experience, as well as a long list of personal and professional accolades given by his industry counterparts. Under his guidance and leadership, the Redskins look to improve a defense ranked in the top ten for the past two seasons.

Lewis has orchestrated defenses that have finished as the league's number two ranked squads for each of the past three years with the Baltimore Ravens. During the Ravens' 2000 Super Bowl season, Lewis' defense set a new single-season record for fewest points allowed in a 16-game season with 165, clipping 22 points off the previous record, as well as finishing at the top of the league in a half dozen other key categories. The defense crafted by Lewis during the 2000 season was argued by many to be the best of all time. Last season, his squad picked up where they left off, finishing the season second in the NFL in total yards, as well as in points allowed.

With the Redskins, Lewis takes on a new challenge: to build on the strengths of a solid defensive lineup, and help take his new team to a Super Bowl championship. Lewis will oversee a unique combination of experience and youth, responsible for drawing the best possible play out of veterans including DE Bruce Smith, DE Renaldo Wynn and LB Jessie Armstead, and developing the talents of young players such as LB

LaVar Arrington, CB Champ Bailey, and CB Fred Smoot.

Prior to his tenure with the Ravens, Lewis spent four seasons with the Pittsburgh Steelers (1992-95). From 1993-95, the Steelers' defense ranked among the top three in the NFL each season.

He began his coaching career working with the linebackers at his alma mater, Idaho State (1981-84). The Bengals finished 12-1 during Lewis' first season and won the NCAA Division 1-A championship. In 1985 he joined the staff at Long Beach State, before moving on to New Mexico (1987-89), both as linebacker coach. In 1990, he accepted a position coaching outside linebackers at Pittsburgh (1990-91).

Lewis played linebacker, quarterback and free safety at Idaho State, earning All-Big Sky Conference honors for three consecutive years.

He received his bachelor's degree in physical education from Idaho State in 1981 and his Master's in athletic administration a year later. He was inducted into Idaho State's Hall of Fame last year. He attended Fort Cherry High School in McDonald, PA where he was an all-conference quarterback and safety, and also earned letters in wrestling and baseball.

Active in his community off the field, Lewis has been honored as the "Assistant Coach of the Year" by the Pro Football Writers Association, and was named "Man of the Year" last year by The Washington Observer in his hometown of Pittsburgh. While in Baltimore, he was involved with numerous philanthropic groups including the American Red Cross and Muscular Dystrophy of Baltimore. This year, he joins the Washington Redskins Leadership Council's Honorary Committee, assisting in community and youth outreach efforts of the organization throughout the DC metro area.

Lewis and his wife, Peggy, have a son, Marcus, and a daughter, Whitney.

Coaching: Noah Brindise follows Head Coach Steve Spurrier to the Redskins, after spending the previous three seasons working with him as a graduate assistant coach at the University of Florida (1999-2001). Before joining the Florida staff, Brindise began his coaching career as offensive coordinator and quarterbacks coach at Ursinus College, outside of Philadelphia.

Playing: Brindise was a three-year letter winner as a Florida quarterback from 1995-97, starting his career as a walk-on and earning a scholarship in 1997. A two-time member of the SEC Academic Honor Roll, he was named to the honorable mention team for the 1997 College Football Chronicle's Unsung Hero All-American Team.

Personal: The Fort Myers, FL, native earned his undergraduate degree in sports administration from Florida in 1998. Brindise and his wife, Jennifer, live in Potomac Falls, VA.

Assistant Defensive Line/Quality Control

DeChon Burns1st NFL Season/1st Redskins

Coaching: DeChon Burns joins the Redskins from the University of Florida, where he served as a defensive assistant for the 2001 season. In his new role with the Redskins, he will work closely with defensive line coach Ricky Hunley, and support the entire defensive staff in breaking down game tape and other preparation throughout the season.

Burns began his coaching career in 1995 at Bishop Amat High School in LaPuente, CA. After six seasons of coaching offense, defense and special teams positions, he accepted a position working with current Redskins defensive line coach Ricky Hunley at the University of Florida.

Playing: Burns started his collegiate career at USC playing cornerback, until a neck injury curtailed his football career at the beginning of his sophomore season. Later he joined the fall baseball team, demonstrating enough promise to earn a tryout with the Houston Astros.

Personal: A native of Riverside, CA, Burns earned a degree in communications/social sciences from USC in 1992. He and his wife, Enid, have three children: sons Lorenzo and Simeon, and daughter Jailyn. The Burns family lives in Sterling, VA.

George Catavolos

18th NFL Season/1st Redskins

Coaching: George Catavolos comes to the Redskins with 34 years of coaching experience, ready to oversee a secondary that boasts some of the NFL's most exciting young talent in Champ Bailey and Fred Smoot.

He spent the past four seasons as the assistant head coach/defensive backs coach with the Indianapolis Colts. Over the last two seasons, Catavolos' secondary accumulated 32 interceptions, 15 during 2001. His veteran DBs, Jeff Burris and Chad Cota, continued to lead the way, Burris with three interceptions for 69 yards and a touchdown, Cota adding two interceptions and registering his third straight 100-plus tackle season. Under Catavolos' tutelage, second-year starter David Mecklin also improved, contributing with three interceptions, 84 tackles and 13 passes defended.

Catavolos previously served as defensive backs coach with the Carolina Panthers from 1995-97. He helped cornerback Eric Davis earn Pro Bowl honors in 1996 as the Panthers reached the NFC Championship Game in only their second season. His first tour working with Indianapolis' defensive backs lasted ten seasons, from 1984 to 1993.

He started his coaching career as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Purdue, in 1967 under Jack Mollenkopf. After two seasons, he moved to Middle Tennessee State (1969), and then Louisville (1970). He returned to Purdue in 1971 to coach the secondary, staying with the Boilermakers for six seasons. He then went on to Kentucky (1977-81), helping the Wildcats to a 10-1 record in 1977. Catavolos spent two seasons as secondary coach at Tennessee before joining the Colts in 1984.

Playing: He played defensive back from 1964-67 at Purdue University, and was co-captain during the team's 1967 Rose Bowl Championship season.

Personal: Catavolos earned his bachelor's degree in physical education from Purdue in 1967. He was the recipient of the Nobel E. Kizer Award for excellence in academics during his senior year. Catavolos and his wife, Tona, have two daughters: Lindsay and Stephanie.

Asst. Defensive Coordinator/Linebackers George Edwards

5th NFL Season/1st Redskins

Coaching: George Edwards comes to Washington after four years with the Dallas Cowboys. He will work closely with Assistant Head Coach and Defensive Coordinator Marvin Lewis in orchestrating the Redskins defense in 2002. Edwards' primary responsibility will be to maximize the talents of a strong linebacking corps including veterans Jessie Armstead, Jeremiah Trotter, LaVar Arrington and Kevin Mitchell.

Under his tutelage, the Cowboys linebackers helped the Dallas defense finish second in the NFC and fourth in the NFL in 2001. During his four seasons with the team, he produced tremendous results from a young group of linebackers, including Dat Nguyen, Dexter Coakley, Darren Hambrick, and Randall Godfrey. In 2001, Nguyen came into his own, leading the team with 172 tackles. He was followed by two-time Pro Bowler Coakley with 134, who became the first player in franchise history to register five consecutive 100-plus tackle seasons. Edwards played a key role in the emergence of Hambrick in 1999, a first-year starter finishing the season with 62 tackles, who went on in 2000 to lead the team with 154 stops – the highest tackle total of a Dallas player since Robert Jones recorded 162 in 1994.

Edwards spent the 1997 season as defensive line coach for the University of Georgia, helping the Bulldogs to a 10-2 season record and a win over Wisconsin in the Outback Bowl. He worked with the linebackers at Duke in 1996, after four seasons at Appalachian State University (1992-95). While at Appalachian State, he coached Coakley, a two-time Division 1-AA National Defensive Player of the Year, and an all-rookie selection as a third-round draft choice of the Cowboys in 1997.

He began his coaching career at the University of Florida in 1991, working with the linebackers as a graduate assistant under Spurrier. In his two seasons at Florida, the Gators were 19-4, capturing the Southeastern Conference title and a spot in the Sugar Bowl following the 1991 season.

Playing: Edwards earned four letters as a linebacker for Duke, playing for current Redskins Head Coach Steve Spurrier. He led the team with 116 tackles his senior season, a year the Blue Devils tied for the Atlantic Coast Conference crown and made an appearance in the All-American Bowl. Named most valuable linebacker in 1989, Edwards was an honorable mention All-ACC selection as a senior under Spurrier. He also served two years as special teams captain.

Personal: A native of Siler City, NC, Edwards was a three-time all-conference and all-county choice at Jordan Matthews High School, and an All-American selection as a senior. He graduated from Duke with a political science degree and did post-graduate study at Florida. Edwards and his wife, Jami, have a son, B.J.

Paul Guenther

1st NFL Season/1st Redskins

Coaching: Paul Guenther makes his Redskins and NFL coaching debut as an offensive assistant, after spending last season with West Texas A&M University as secondary coach. Previously, he spent four years as the head coach at Ursinus College (PA), finishing the 2001 season with an 8-3 record and an ECAC playoff appearance. In 1999, he transformed a team that went 3-7 in 1998, into a 10-2 squad that advanced to the second round of the NCAA Division III playoffs. The ten victories was a school record and his team broke virtually all of the school's offensive all-time marks.

Guenther was the defensive coordinator at Jacksonville University in 1997, prior to taking the Ursinus head coaching position. He previously had been an assistant coach at Ursinus in 1996, becoming the youngest coach in college football at the age of 25. He spent the 1995 and 1994 seasons at Western Maryland College.

Playing: He was an All-ECAC linebacker at Ursinus College in 1991, All-Conference in 1992 and 1993. He holds the Ursinus record with 355 career tackles.

Personal: Guenther received his undergraduate degree in communications from Ursinus in 1994, and a master's degree in sports administration from Western Maryland in 1997. He and his wife, Patrice, live in Ashburn, VA.

Jim Collins

1st NFL Season/1st Redskins

Coaching: Jim Collins comes to the Redskins organization with 28 years of coaching experience, 15 of which came at the side of new Redskins Head Coach Steve Spurrier. He will play a number of roles in Washington, working with the linebackers, as well as assisting with the special teams units.

Collins spent the last 12 seasons at the University of Florida (1990-2001), coaching special teams, as well as linebackers, tight ends, and defensive ends. A proven teacher on both sides of the ball, Collins also made significant contributions to the Gator football program as a recruiting coordinator. His 2000 recruiting class was considered the consensus number one class in the nation.

He began his career on the fields of Page High School in his hometown of Greensboro, NC (1974-79). In 1980, he was named defensive coordinator at Lees-McRae Junior College, and was soon invited to join the staff at Appalachian State as defensive backs coach (1981-82). Collins headed to Duke University as outside linebackers coach in 1983, and left for a brief stint at Jacksonville State as defensive coordinator/linebackers coach in 1984. He returned to the Blue Devils in 1985, meeting Spurrier in 1987. Spurrier brought Collins with him to Florida in 1990, initially as a linebackers coach.

Collins has been part of seven conference championship teams (Duke - 1989, Florida - 1991, 1993-96, 2000), as well as the 1996 National Championship team. He's coached in twelve Bowl games, most recently the Orange Bowl in 2002.

Playing: Collins played at Elon College from 1970-73.

Personal: He earned his bachelor's degree in physical education from Elon in 1974, following with a master's in education from North Carolina A&T in 1979. He and his wife, Geri, have a daughter, Jennifer, and live in Leesburg, VA.

Assistant Strength and Conditioning

John Hastings

8th NFL Season/1st Redskins

Coaching: John Hastings travels cross-country from San Diego to join the Redskins, returning to his native Virginia. He will work closely with strength and conditioning coach Chip Morton in overseeing the Redskins' off-season workout program, getting Washington's players in peak playing condition for training camp and the upcoming season.

Hastings spent the past seven seasons with San Diego (1995-2001), serving as head strength and conditioning coach for the last five. He joined the Chargers as an intern in 1990 and remained until he was hired as an assistant coach before the 1995 season. Prior to joining the Charger's organization, Hastings owned his own fitness company, "The Future is Fitness," based in San Diego.

Personal: A native of Newport News, VA, Hastings earned his degree in psychology and physical therapy from Ohio University in 1987. He and his wife, Lori, have a son, Alexander, and a daughter, Taylor.

Defensive Line

Ricky Hunley

1st NFL Season/1st Redskins

Coaching: Ricky Hunley returns to the NFL for his second official tour, this time on the sidelines, coaching the Redskins defensive line. He is responsible for combining the skills of Redskins veterans Bruce Smith and Dan Wilkinson with the talents of newcomers Renaldo Wynn and Santana Dotson.

Hunley joined the coaching ranks after his own seven-year career as an NFL player. He got his start as a graduate assistant at USC, working with the defensive ends and linebackers. Two years later he moved on to Missouri, where he spent seven seasons, first as defensive line coach (1994-97) and then promoted to associate head coach/linebackers (1998-2000). In 2001, he joined Coach Spurrier's staff at the University of Florida, overseeing the defensive line. He has coached in five Bowl games: Freedom (1992 and 1993), Holiday (1997), Insight.com (1998), and Orange (2002).

In between his college coaching responsibilities, Hunley also made time to work with the Pittsburgh Steelers (1992), San Diego Chargers (1997) and Philadelphia Eagles (2000) as part of the NFL's Minority Fellowship Program.

Playing: Hunley played linebacker at the University of Arizona, earning numerous honors. He was a two-time consensus first-team All-American, a three-time All-Pac-10 selection, and 1983 Pac-10 Co-Player of the Year. He led Arizona in tackles in each of his final three seasons, totaling 566 for his collegiate career. Among other honors, he was a Lombardi Award finalist in 1983 and was inducted into the College Football Hall of Fame in 1997.

Hunley was selected in the first round of the NFL Draft by Cincinnati in 1984 (7th overall). As a member of the Denver Broncos, he played in Super Bowls XXI and XXII (beaten in 1988 by his new team, the Redskins). He also played for Phoenix (1988) and the Los Angeles Raiders (1989-90).

Personal: The Petersburg, VA, native earned a bachelor's degree in business administration from Arizona in 1987. In 1990, he was voted Executive Vice President of the NFL Players' Association, a position he held for two years. He has also served on the Board of Directors for the Black Coaches Association, the Minority Issues Committee of the American Football Coaches Association and represented the Big XII and SEC on the AFCA's Assistant Coach Committee. Hunley and his wife, Camille, live in Ashburn, VA, with daughters, Alexis and Kenady.

Asst. Offensive Coordinator/Offensive Line Kim Helton

11th NFL Season/1st Redskins

Coaching: Kim Helton returns to the NFL, joining the Washington Redskins as the assistant offensive coordinator and offensive line coach. He will be responsible for continuing the development of two of the NFL's most dominant tackles, in Jon Jansen and Chris Samuels. He will work closely with the Redskins new head coach to integrate elements of the Spurrier offense that have proven so successful.

Helton brings three decades of coaching experience to the Redskins offense. Most recently, he was the head coach at the University of Houston (1993-99), where he was named Coach of the Year in 1996. His 1996 Cougar team was the Conference USA co-champions and gained a birth to the Liberty Bowl.

Helton began his coaching career at Eastside High School in Gainesville, FL, before accepting a graduate assistant position at his alma mater, Florida, in 1972. He was promoted as the Gators' offensive line coach in 1973, a position he held through the 1978 season. Helton moved on to the University of Miami, where he spent three seasons as offensive coordinator, working with college and NFL stand-outs Jim Kelly, Bernie Kosar and Vinny Testaverde.

He jumped to the NFL in 1983, joining the Tampa Bay Buccaneers as offensive line coach. After four seasons, he moved to the Houston Oilers (1987-89) and then the Los Angeles Raiders (1990-92).

Playing: He was a three-year starter at center for the University of Florida from 1967-70, earning honors of SEC all-freshman team (1967), outstanding sophomore (1968) and team offensive MVP (1970).

Personal: Helton earned his bachelor's degree in physical education from Florida in 1970. He and his wife, Pam, live in Hamilton, VA.

Tight Ends

Lawson Holland

1st NFL Season/1st Redskins

Coaching: After seven years at the University of Florida, Lawson Holland joins the Redskins as tight ends Coach. During his tenure with the Gators, he held a range of responsibilities, most recently working with the team's running backs and coaching special teams. He started at Florida in 1995 as tight ends coach and special teams coordinator. While with the Gators, Holland was a part of three SEC title teams (1995, 1996, 2000) and a National Championship (1996).

Holland began his 27-year coaching career in 1975 as a graduate assistant at his alma mater, Clemson. After two years, he moved on as a part-time assistant coach at Duke (1977) and spent a year as head coach at Douglas Byrd

High School in Fayetteville, NC (1978). He returned to Clemson in 1979 to coach the wide receivers, staying with the Tigers for seven seasons before taking over as running backs coach at North Carolina (1986-87). Before heading to Florida, Holland worked with the wide receivers at Wake Forest (1988-91) and Oklahoma State (1992-94).

During his illustrious career, Holland has coached in eleven Bowl games: Peach (1979), Orange (1982, 1999, 2002), Independence (1985), Aloha (1986), Fiesta (1996), Sugar (1997, 2001) and Citrus (1998, 2000).

Playing: Holland lettered in both football (quarterback) and basketball at Clemson. He was all-conference in three sports at Mooresville High School, named player of the year in both football and basketball.

Personal: He graduated from Clemson University in 1975, earning his degree in secondary education and English. Holland and his wife, Cathy, have two children: son, Jake, and daughter, Katie.

Strength and Conditioning Chip Morton

11th NFL Season/1st Redskins

Coaching: Morton joins the Redskins after three seasons with the Baltimore Ravens (1999-2001). During his tenure in Baltimore, the Ravens held a 10-2 game record in December, a testament to the success of the team's conditioning regimen. Already, during the 2002 off-season, Morton has installed a disciplined conditioning program that will have the Redskins in peak form for the start of the season.

Morton helped build the expansion Carolina Panthers strength program, serving as the strength and conditioning coach in Carolina from 1995-98. Previously he was the assistant strength and conditioning coach for the San Diego Chargers for three seasons (1992-94), culminated by a trip to the Super Bowl following the 1994 season.

He started his coaching career in the collegiate ranks, serving as assistant strength coach at Ohio State (1985-86) while completing his master's degree in physical education. He went on to Penn State in 1987 as the first-ever full-time strength and conditioning assistant for the Nittany Lions football team. He also worked with 14 other men's and women's sports during his tenure at Penn State (1987-91).

Personal: Morton graduated from North Carolina in 1985 with a degree in zoology. He was a varsity letter winner in swimming while studying at Chapel Hill. Morton and his wife, Stacey, have four children: sons, Campbell and Aaron, daughter, Abigail, and twins, Asher James and Ariel Nicole.

Assistant Offensive Line John Hunt

1st NFL Season/1st Redskins

Coaching: John Hunt joins the Redskins, bringing a wide range of experience with his 14-years in coaching. He will assist assistant offensive coordinator/offensive line coach Kim Helton in working with a mix of Redskins veterans and new faces that make up the offensive line.

He spent the last three seasons overseeing the offensive tackles at the University of Florida, experience that will serve him well as he works with two of the NFL's best in Jon Jansen and Chris Samuels.

Hunt began his coaching career in 1989 as a graduate assistant at Florida. He spent three years assisting the Gator's coaching staff before leaving to coach the offensive line at nearby Buchholz High School in Gainesville (1995-96). He took a similar position in his hometown of Orlando in 1997, spending two seasons at Dr. Phillips High School, before joining Coach Spurrier at Florida in 1999. During his three-year tenure, the Gators ranked among the SEC's top two schools in total offense, passing offense and scoring.

Playing: He lettered four years at Florida as an offensive guard. He was named second-team all-ACC in 1983 and played in four Bowl games during his collegiate career. He was drafted by the Dallas Cowboys in 1984, and played two seasons in the NFL, with Dallas and Tampa Bay.

Personal: The Florida native earned his bachelor's degree in criminal justice from Florida in 1985, and his master's in exercise and sport science in 1991. Hunt and his wife, Rene, have a son, Christopher, and live in Ashburn, VA.

Running Backs

Hue Jackson

2nd NFL Season/2nd Redskins

Coaching: Hue Jackson enters his second season in Washington, responsible for the development of Pro Bowler Stephen Davis and his fellow running backs. Under Jackson's tutelage, Davis rushed for a career high 1,432 yards last season, breaking his 1999 record of 1,405 yards and becoming the first Redskin RB to rush for more than 1,000 yards three consecutive seasons. Known for his tireless energy and enthusiasm on the practice fields, Jackson's challenge this year is to make second-round draft choice Ladell Betts a significant contributor to the Redskins offense.

Jackson came to the Redskins in 2001 after 14 years coaching in the college ranks. Prior to his jump to the NFL, he spent four seasons as Southern Cal's offensive coordinator (1997-2000). In 1996, Jackson led California's high-powered offense as its offensive coordinator, and was the quarterbacks coach when the Golden Bears won the Aloha Bowl. He also spent four seasons at Arizona State (1992-95), two at Cal State Fullerton (1990-91) and three at University of the Pacific (1987-89), all in various coaching roles on offense.

In 1991, he served as running backs, wide receivers and special teams coach for the World League's London Monarchs. He made a coaching stop in Washington, completing a summer internship with the Redskins in 1995. He held similar internships with the Los Angeles Rams (1990) and Arizona Cardinals (1992).

Playing: Jackson was a standout quarterback at Pacific (1985-86), throwing for 2,544 yards and 19 TDs in his career. He also lettered in basketball in 1986. He began his playing career at Glendale (CA) Community College (1983-84).

Personal: Jackson and his wife, Michelle, have two daughters, Jordyn and Baylee, and live in Ashburn, VA.

Kirk Olivadotti

3rd NFL Season/3rd Redskins

Coaching: Going into his third season with the team, Kirk Olivadotti has the longest tenure with the Redskins of anyone on the current coaching staff. As assistant defensive backs coach, he will work closely with George Catavolos overseeing the secondary and helping a number of young players get up to NFL speed, including third-round draft choice CB Rashad Bauman.

Olivadotti began his coaching career on the collegiate level, working with wide receivers and tight ends at Marine Maritime for one season (1997). He moved on as defensive backs coach at Indiana State for two years (1998-99), and joined St. Joe's as defensive coordinator before making the jump to Washington and the NFL.

Playing: Olivadotti was a wide receiver for four years at Purdue.

Personal: Kirk is the son of Tom Olivadotti, the current New York Giants linebackers coach, who has also coached in Cleveland, Miami and Minnesota. Olivadotti and his wife, Keely, live in Ashburn, VA.

Wide Receivers

Steve Spurrier, Jr.

1st NFL Season/1st Redskins

Coaching: Steve Spurrier, Jr. comes to the Redskins from the University of Oklahoma, where he has been responsible for the wide receivers since 1999. In his new position in Washington, he is charged with developing the talents of young receivers including Rod Gardner and Cliff Russell, as well as tuning the skills of veterans such as Jacques Green, Reidel Anthony, and Kevin Lockett.

While at Oklahoma, Spurrier, Jr. turned the Sooners' receiving corps into one of the most productive in the country, with at least four receivers tallying over 30 receptions and more than 400 yards each season. He started his coaching career as a graduate assistant in 1994 at the University of Florida. He remained at Florida through the 1998 season, earning his master's degree while assisting on the playing fields.

He has coached in eight Bowl games during his eight-year career: Sugar (1995, 1997), Fiesta (1996), Florida Citrus (1998), Orange (1999, 2001), Independence (2000), and Cotton (2002). He has also been part of two National Championship teams (Florida 1996 and Oklahoma 2000).

Playing: He lettered two years at Duke as a wide receiver, finishing his playing career with 24 receptions for 299 yards and a touchdown as a senior.

Personal: Spurrier Jr. earned his bachelor's degree from Duke in 1993, and master's degree from Florida in 1996. He and his wife, Melissa, have triplets: sons, Gavin and Luke, and daughter, Emma. They reside in Leesburg, VA.

Special Teams

Mike Stock13th NFL Season/2nd Redskins

Coaching: Mike Stock returns for his second season with the burgundy and gold, looking to build on a successful 2001 special teams campaign. This will mark his 40th year in coaching, and the Redskins will look to his leadership and experience to help mold together the many new talents in this year's special teams lineup.

Guided by Stock, the Redskins special teams units improved drastically from the 2000 season. By the end of 2001, Washington led the NFL in yards allowed by kickoff coverage, permitting only 945 yards on 54 kickoffs. The team finished second in kickoff return average (or average starting field position after kicking off), with opponents starting at the 25.7 (avg.) yard line, an improvement from 14th overall in 2000, with a 31.0 average start. Stock's work cultivated stellar performances from a number of special teams stand-outs including K Brett Conway, PR Eric Metcalf, KR Michael Bates and FB Bryan Johnson.

Prior to joining the Redskins, Stock served as special teams coach in Kansas City for six seasons (1995-2000). His units consistently ranked among the league's finest, particularly in the return phase of the game. Under Stock's guidance, the Chiefs posted eight TDs in the return game, four on both punts and kickoffs. Kansas City amassed 706 punt return yards in 1999, snapping its all-time mark of 612 set in 1979. The Chiefs tied the franchise record with 58 punt returns in 2000 and returned two punts for scores, just the fifth time in team history. In 1997, Stock was voted Special Teams Coach of the Year.

Stock also coached with the Cincinnati Bengals (1987-91) and the USFL's New Jersey Generals (1983). In 26 years of college coaching, he helped numerous young athletes enter the NFL ranks. In coaching stints at Notre Dame (1969-74, 1983-86), he worked with Heisman Trophy winner Tim Brown, All-American tight end Dave Casper, former New York Giants Pro Bowl tight end Mark Bavaro, and 1,000-yard running back Anthony Johnson of the Carolina Panthers. At Ohio State, where Stock coached from 1992-94, he groomed a talented trio of future NFL receivers: Joey Galloway, Terry Glenn and Chris Sanders.

Stock was head coach at Eastern Michigan from 1978-82. He was the offensive coordinator at Wisconsin (1975-77) after completing stints at Notre Dame (1969-74), Navy (1968) and the University of Buffalo (1966-67). Stock started his coaching career at Akron (OH) South High in 1965.

Playing: Stock played fullback under legendary coach Ara Parseghian at Northwestern. He led the Wildcats in rushing in 1959 and 1960. A knee injury halted his pro playing career with the CFL's Saskatchewan Rough Riders.

Personal: Stock spent three years in the U.S. Army. He earned his bachelor's degree from Northwestern in 1961. A native of Barberton, OH, he and his wife, Peggy, have three children: Michael, Patrick and Cynthia. The Stocks live in Leesburg, VA.

Front Office

Assistant General Manager

Bobby Mitchell

44th NFL Season/40th Redskins

A 1983 inductee into the Pro Football Hall of Fame, Bobby Mitchell joined the Redskins' personnel staff in 1969 following his retirement as a player, at the encouragement of Vince Lombardi. He has risen through the organization's ranks, promoted to Director of Pro Scouting, then to Assistant to the President in 1978. In 1981, he was named Assistant General Manager, a position he has held to this day. With his playing and front office experience combined, Bobby has spent 44 years in the NFL, 40 with the Redskins.

Mitchell began his NFL career as an eighth round draft selection of the Cleveland Browns in 1958. After four seasons in Cleveland, he was traded to Washington in 1962, along with Leroy Jackson, for Ernie Davis (Washington's number one draft choice in 1962).

As a Brown and a Redskin, Mitchell gained 2,735 yards rushing on 513 attempts (5.3 avg.); 521 receptions for 7,953 yards (15.3 avg.), 69 punt returns for 699 yards (10.2 avg.), 102 kickoff returns for 2,690 yards (26.4 avg.). When he retired, his 14,078 total yards stood third in NFL history and his 92 touchdowns stood fifth all-time. He played in four Pro Bowls (one with Cleveland and three with Washington) over his 11-year playing career.

Mitchell's collegiate career was also one for the record books. A 1958 graduate of Illinois, he excelled at track and football. Bobby set a world record for the 70-yard low hurdles, and was also named an All-Big Ten halfback. He completed his college playing career as a co-recipient of the 1958 College All-Star Game MVP Trophy.

In addition to his 1983 induction to the Pro Football Hall of Fame, he has also been inducted into the District of Columbia Hall of Fame, the Arkansas Hall of Fame, the Hot Springs (Arkansas) School District Hall of Fame, the Touchdown Club Hall of Fame and the Robert F. Kennedy Memorial Stadium Hall of Stars. A glance through the list of "Who's Who Among Black Americans" would also reveal the name "Bobby Mitchell", as would any list recounting some of the NFL's greatest players. Most recently, he was honored as one of the 70 Greatest Redskins of all time, announced this summer as part of the organization's 70th anniversary season.

Over and above his distinguished playing career, Bobby has established an equally distinguished reputation for himself in the Washington, D.C. community through his dedication and service. He has been affiliated with and chaired a host of causes, some of which include: The Boys and Girls Club of Washington; The Urban League; the NAACP; the Police Boys and Girls Clubs of Washington, D.C.; the Bike Federation and Advisory of the Variety Club of Greater Washington; the United Negro College Fund Radio Drive; the Howard University Cancer Research Advisory Committee; the American Lung Association; the Washington Board of Trade; the Friendship

House; the Metropolitan Washington, D.C. Area Leadership Council; the Southern Financial Bank of Virginia Advisory Board; Joe Gibbs Youth Homes Board of Trustees; Plymouth Congregation Church Board of Trustees, Washington, D.C.; and the White House Task Force on Drugs. He has served as President of the Doug Williams Foundation and is also a past President of the NAMD (National Association of Marketing Developers).

The NFL Alumni Association honored Mitchell in 1998, presenting him with the Order of the Leather Helmet. The award is presented to individuals who have made significant contributions to the game of professional football. Mitchell also sits on the NFL Alumni Executive Committee and serves on the Advisory Board of the United Negro College Fund. His Bobby Mitchell Hall of Fame Golf Classic has raised more than $2 million for leukemia research. In 2000, he was honored for his unparalleled commitment to youth in the D.C. community with the dedication of Bobby Mitchell Field, a state-of-the-art football field in the heart of Anacostia's Congress Heights neighborhood in Washington, D.C.

The University of Illinois alumnus serves his alma mater as well. Mitchell is a member of the University's President's Council and is on the Board of Directors of the University of Illinois Foundation. He has received the University of Illinois Foundation National Network Outstanding Leadership Award, and is a member of the Advisory Board of the University Library.

A native of Hot Springs, AR, he is a 1954 Langston High School graduate. Bobby and his wife, Gwen, a Washington, D.C., lawyer, have two children: Terri, a graduate of Illinois and Howard University Graduate School of Education, and Robert C. Jr., who completed Stanford University and Georgetown Law School. The Mitchells live in Washington, D.C. and Manassas, VA.

Vice President of Football Operations

Joe Mendes

22nd NFL Season/8th Redskins

After a two-year hiatus, Joe Mendes returns to the Washington Redskins organization as Vice President of Football Operations. During his two seasons away from the club, he spent his time consulting for a number of agents, lending his experience of 22 years on the team side of the business. Ultimately, Mendes rejoined the franchise at the request of owner Daniel Snyder, to help new Head Coach Steve Spurrier build the current Redskins team into a Super Bowl Champion. In his new role, he is responsible for overseeing all aspects of player personnel, including both college and pro scouting, coordinating the college draft, free agency, contract negotiations, and day-to-day football operations of the organization.

Previously, Mendes spent 1993-2000 as the team's contract negotiator and salary cap expert. He was among the first executives in the NFL to bring together a background combining extensive knowledge of personnel and of the economic aspects of a football franchise, a trend that soon spread throughout the league. He was responsible for signing an impressive group of free agents and draft selections during his tenure, including future Hall of Fame defensive end Bruce Smith and the number two and three overall draft picks in 2000, linebacker LaVar Arrington and offensive tackle Chris Samuels.

A former personnel scout, Director of College Scouting, Director of Player Operations and Vice President of Player Operations, Mendes has a long history of success, including helping build two Super Bowl teams (Los Angeles Rams in 1979, New England Patriots in 1985). He came to Washington after a short stint with San Diego, after spending the previous 12 seasons (1981-92) with New England, the last two as Vice President of Player Operations. Among the players he helped draft for the Patriots, more than a dozen were Pro Bowlers, totaling over 30 appearances in Hawaii. Stand-outs among that group were OT Ben Armstrong, WR Irving Fryar, and TE Ben Coates.

He joined the NFL in 1978 as a college scout with the Los Angeles Rams under the late, and then-general manager, Dick Steinberg. He joined Steinberg's scouting staff in New Orleans in 1980, before again moving with him to the Patriots organization.

A native of Ferndale, CA, Mendes began his scouting career in 1977, when he was hired by Mike Giddings for Pro Scout, Inc. A 1974 graduate of Chico State University, he spent one year as an assistant at Chico before stops at Hawaii in the World Football League, and at the University of California. He and his wife, Sandy, live in Leesburg, VA.

Vice President of Football Operations Pepper Rodgers

3rd NFL Season/3rd Redskins

Franklin "Pepper" Rodgers was named Vice President of Football Operations of the Washington Redskins in January of 2001, bringing years of college and professional experience to the organization. Rodgers played an instrumental role in bringing new Head Coach Steve Spurrier to the Redskins.

In 22 years of college coaching, Rodgers earned more than 100 victories, amassing a 65-25-5 record as an assistant coach at Air Force, University of Florida and UCLA, and compiling a 70-60-3 record as head coach at University of Kansas, UCLA, and Georgia Tech. Rodgers was named Big Eight Coach of the Year twice while at Kansas, and runner-up Coach of the Year in 1979 while at Georgia Tech. He was also named Pac-10 Coach of the Year twice while at UCLA and Southern Independent Coach of the Year twice at Georgia Tech.

He also spent time coaching on the professional level, with the Memphis teams of the USFL and CFL. He coached the Memphis Showboats from 1984-85, and then, in 1993 was named head coach of the Mid-American Football Association's Memphis Hound Dogs. In an effort to draw the attention of the NFL to Memphis, Rodgers and FedEx Chairman Fred W. Smith helped sell-out four NFL preseason games to Memphis' Liberty Bowl Stadium in six years, with the proceeds going to charity. Rodgers' quest faded when the League decided to expand in Jacksonville and Charlotte.

Several of the major names in college and professional coaching have served under the tutelage of Rodgers, including Terry Donahue, Steve Spurrier, John Cooper and Dick Tomey. Spurrier and Beban, winners of the Heisman Trophy, were coached by Rodgers, as well as Redskins Hall of Fame running back John Riggins and future inductee, Reggie White.

Rodgers got his start in football as quarterback and placekicker for undefeated Georgia Tech in 1954, and was named MVP of the 1954 Sugar Bowl. He graduated from Georgia Tech in 1955, with a degree in industrial management. After graduation he served five years in the Air Force as a pilot and went on to serve as a Captain in the Air Force Reserve while beginning his coaching career.

Rodgers is the author of several books, including an autobiography entitled "Pepper", a fictional novel, "Fourth and Long Gone", and a textbook on the wishbone offense. He is a member of both the Kansas and Georgia Tech Hall of Fame. He and his wife, Livingston, reside in Alexandria, VA, and have six children and eight grandchildren.

Director of Player Personnel

Vinny Cerrato

12th NFL Season/3rd Redskins

Vinny Cerrato returns to the Redskins organization after spending last year as a color analyst for ESPN and ESPN.com. In his new position, he will assist Vice President of Football Operations Joe Mendes in player evaluation and other scouting activities.

Cerrato began his first tour in Washington in the summer of 1999 after spending nine years with the San Francisco 49ers. His two years in Washington were busy, helping acquire future Hall of Famers Bruce Smith and Deion Sanders, as well as several free agents including Irving Fryar and Mark Carrier. He orchestrated trades with the Miami Dolphins (Matt Turk) and swapped first-round draft picks with the 49ers, leading to the additions of the second and third overall picks in the 2000 NFL Draft (LB LaVar Arrington and OT Chris Samuels).

He joined San Francisco in 1991 as Director of College Scouting, helping to draft players including Ted Washington, Ricky Watters, Dana Stubblefield and Elvis Grbac. In 1995, Cerrato was promoted to Director of Player Personnel, overseeing all college scouting and draft activities as well as pro scouting of NFL players and opponents. Again, Cerrato made an impact as his drafts produced such stand-outs as Terrell Owens, Greg Clark and JJ Stokes.

Before breaking into the NFL, Cerrato served as the football recruiting coordinator under Lou Holtz at Notre Dame (1986-90). During that time, the Irish played in four Bowl games, won the 1988 NCAA National Championship, and had 23 players selected in the first and second rounds of the NFL Draft. Cerrato started his career as a graduate assistant for the Minnesota Golden Gophers (1983-84) before he was promoted to recruiting coordinator in 1985, a position he served one year before moving on to Notre Dame.

A 1982 graduate of Iowa State, Cerrato lettered at quarterback and wide receiver all four years, and earned one letter in track. He is a native of Flushing, NY and grew up in Albert Lea, MN, where he was a star in football, track and hockey. Cerrato and his wife, Becky, live in Chicago.

Mark Levin

3rd NFL Season/3rd Redskins

Mark Levin begins his third season with the Washington Redskins, responsible for negotiating all player contracts, as well as overseeing and applying the NFL's complex salary cap.

Levin works closely with VP of Football Operations Joe Mendes in signing a number of free agents during the 2002 off-season, including linebackers Jeremiah Trotter and Jessie Armstead, and defensive end Renaldo Wynn. To create cap room for these maneuvers, Levin managed the contract restructuring of certain veteran players, keeping Washington in compliance with the NFL's rigid cap constraints.

Levin brings invaluable experience to the Redskins organization, having worked on both sides of player contracts throughout his career. Levin joined the Redskins before the 2000 season, after fourteen years with the National Football League Players' Association (NFLPA). As the Association's assistant director of research for the last eight years, he was responsible for the tracking and oversight of salary cap moves and player contracts for all NFL teams. Levin worked closely with agents and players consulting on contract terms, including fair market value and incentive packages.

He began his career with the NFLPA as an intern while still in college, working in various departments throughout the organization including public relations, legal and research.

A native of Olney, Maryland, Levin earned his bachelor's degree in communications from Temple University in 1986. He and his wife, Jaime, live in Fairfax, VA.

Dustin Nelson

3rd NFL Season/3rd Redskins

Dustin Nelson returns for his third season with the Redskins, working closely with Mark Levin on salary cap and player contract issues. Before focusing specifically on contracts, he spent the 2000 season as a personnel assistant in the Redskins scouting department, after getting his NFL start here in Washington as an intern. Nelson is a graduate of California Polytechnic State University in San Luis Obispo, and holds a degree in business administration with an emphasis in sports management. He lives in Arlington, VA.

Director of Player Development

John 'JJ' Jefferson10th NFL Season/3rd Redskins

John "JJ" Jefferson begins his third year at the helm of the Redskins player development efforts. In his role, Jefferson's responsibilities include the integration of players into professional football, encouraging their educational development, and acting as a counselor to both rookies and veterans as needed throughout the season. During the off-season, JJ coordinates an internship program that assists players in locating and securing occupational opportunities that help them earn practical job experience that may lead to a second career when it comes time to leave the playing field. He also works closely with players in family assistance and financial programs JJ contributes on the field as well, where he assists during practice and on the sidelines during games.

Jefferson joined the Redskins in March 2000. Previously, he spent five years as the Director of Student-Athlete Life at the University of Kansas.

A member of the famed "Air Coryell" offense that revolutionized San Diego's passing game, Jefferson played wide receiver for the Chargers in the late 1970s and early 1980s. Known for his acrobatic catches, JJ was selected to the Pro Bowl four times, and won a Pro Bowl Co-MVP selection in 1983. Jefferson, along with his 1980 San Diego Chargers teammates Dan Fouts, Charlie Joiner, and Kellen Winslow, was voted the best passing unit in NFL history. JJ began his NFL career as the first-round draft choice of the Chargers in 1978. He also played with the Green Bay Packers (1981-84) and the Cleveland Browns (1985).

Jefferson is a graduate of Arizona State University with a bachelor of arts degree in history. He and his wife, DeWanda, have two children: Tiffany and John, II.

Special Assistant/Football Operations

Lamar 'Bubba' Tyler32nd NFL Season/32nd Redskins

The senior staffer in the Washington Redskins organization, Bubba Tyler changes roles to start his 32nd season with the franchise. After 25 years as the team's head trainer, Tyler now moves to the front office, assisting NFL newcomers Jamie Speronis and Head Coach Steve Spurrier in the daily operations of the football team. He will play a vital role in coordinating the Redskins training camp at Dickinson College in Carlisle, PA, as well as scheduling and team travel logistics throughout the season.

Although he shifts his official responsibilities this season, Tyler remains a valuable asset to the Redskins training staff, now headed by veteran trainer Dean Kleinschmidt. As one of the most respected trainers in the NFL and in his profession, Tyler has been an integral part of all five Redskins' Super Bowl teams and three Super Bowl Championships. In 2000, at the Super Bowl XXXV festivities in Tampa, he was cited as the NFL's top athletic trainer and honored as Emageon Super Athletic Trainer of the Year.

A graduate of Lamar University in Beaumont, TX, Tyler was head trainer for the United States Marine Corps' varsity sports program at Quantico for four years (1968-71) before joining Redskins Hall of Fame head coach George Allen's first staff in 1971. Tyler currently sits on the board for the NFL Committee on Drug Abuse and is a former president of the Pro Football Athletic Trainers Society. He and his wife, Cathy, have one daughter, Ashley, a Virginia Tech student, and they reside in Oak Hill, VA.

Director of Football Operations

Jamie Speronis

1st NFL Season/1st Redskins

Jamie Speronis joins the Washington Redskins from the University of Florida, continuing in his role as the head coach's football administrator. Speronis, with the help of Bubba Tyler, is responsible for coordinating Redskins training camp at Dickinson College in Carlisle, PA, as well as managing all scheduling and team travel arrangements throughout the season. He works closely with the coaching staff in managing daily aspects of football operations and other administrative duties.

Until now, Speronis has spent his entire professional career at Florida, participating in many aspects of the Gators' football program. Most recently, he served as Director of Football Administration under Spurrier (1996-2001), managing the football budget, coordinating team logistics, and acting as liaison to the compliance office. Previously, Speronis held positions as senior administrative assistant, graduate assistant and student assistant with the UF strength and conditioning program.

A native of Lowell, MA, Speronis made his way south early, earning his undergraduate degree at Florida in 1985, and his master's degree in exercise and sport sciences in 1989. He and his wife, Kristy, have a son, Conner, and live in Leesburg, VA.

Scouting Staff

Director of Pro Scouting

Scott Campbell

15th NFL Season/2nd Redskins

Scott Campbell takes over as Director of Pro Scouting in 2002, after overseeing all aspects of Washington's college scouting program last season. He joined the Redskins personnel department in 2001, after spending the 2000 season in Chicago as the Bears' Director of Pro Scouting. Prior to his tenure with Chicago, he spent three seasons in Kansas City, serving as the Southeast Area Scout. Campbell began his NFL career with the Atlanta Falcons in 1987 as an assistant to his father, Head Coach Marion Campbell, then returned in 1990 for a seven-season run as an area scout.

Campbell earned his degree from Georgia in 1984, where he was a member of three SEC Championship squads including the 1980 National Championship team. He spent two seasons as a graduate assistant at Auburn from 1985-86. Campbell and his wife, Cindy, have two daughters, Courtney and Caroline, and live in Ashburn, VA.

Pro Scout

Dennis Murphy

9th NFL Season/2nd Redskins

Dennis Murphy begins his second season with the Redskins personnel department, responsible for evaluating Redskins 2002 opponents and other pro players. He joined the Redskins in 2001 after four seasons with the Detroit Lions (1997-2000). Previously, he worked with San Diego (1994-96) as an assistant for the Chargers' defense and special teams. Prior to his NFL career, Murphy spent two seasons at the United States Naval Academy (1992-93), where he was defensive coordinator in 1993.

A native of South Bend, IN, Murphy earned three letters as a defensive lineman/tight end at Notre Dame. He was commissioned as a Navy Flight Officer and, during service in Vietnam, earned the Vietnam Service Medal with three stars, the National Defense Medal and the Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal. Following his military service, Murphy returned to Notre Dame where he spent six years as a coach with the Fighting Irish (1969-74). He has also coached at Colgate (1975), Holy Cross (1976-77), Michigan (1978-81), and Maryland (1982-91). Murphy's family includes three daughters, Michelle, Kristen and Lisa, and son, Kevin. He lives in Ashburn, VA.

Louis Riddick9th NFL Season/2nd Redskins

Louis Riddick came to the Washington Redskins in July 2001, beginning his second NFL career, this time off the field. He joined the Redskins front office after spending the 2001 season playing for the Orlando Rage of the XFL, recording 21 tackles and one interception.

Riddick enjoyed a seven-year career in the NFL as a safety, amassing 172 tackles and 2 sacks, playing for the Oakland Raiders, Cleveland Browns and Atlanta Falcons, totalling 94 regular seasons games. He finished off his NFL playing career with the Raiders in 1998, posting 49 tackles and one fumble recovery.

The Quakertown, PA, native was awarded a provost academic scholarship to Pittsburgh, where he was a four-year letter winner. As a scholar athlete, he was named academic All-American both junior and senior years, in addition to earning All-Big East honors. He graduated in 1991 with a degree in economics. Riddick comes from a football family - his brother Robb played running back for the Buffalo Bills from 1981-88. He now lives in Ashburn, VA, with his wife, Debbie, and daughters, Lauren and Lindsay.

Tim Gribble3rd NFL Season/1st Redskins

Tim Gribble joined the Redskins in May 2002 after spending the past two years with the Pittsburgh Steelers as an assistant to the scouting department (2000-2002). Previously, he was an assistant coach for his alma mater, Duquesne University, serving as the special teams coordinator (1996-2000), defensive line coach (1996-1998) and running backs coach (1998-2000). At Duquesne, he was a four-year starter and team captain from 1994-98. A double major at Duquesne, Gribble received his bachelor of science degree in psychology and sociology. He resides in Oakton, VA.

Director of College Scouting Ron Nay

31st NFL Season/6th Redskins

In his sixth season with the Redskins organization, Ron Nay takes over as Director of College Scouting, working closely with Vice President of Football Operations, Joe Mendes, and overseeing all aspects of the Washington collegiate scouting program. He provides valuable experience to the Redskins personnel department, with an amazing 31 years of NFL scouting service.

Prior to his tenure with the Skins, he was a college scout with the Philadelphia Eagles in 1995, and spent seven seasons (1988-1994) with the New York Jets. Before his time with the Jets, Nay was the San Diego Chargers' Director of Scouting (1985-1986), having served in their scouting department from 1978-1984. He began his NFL career with Quadra Scouting Combine from 1972-77.

Nay played professional baseball in the St. Louis Cardinals farm system, and held down a training camp roster spot as a defensive back with the Dallas Cowboys in 1962. Nay and his wife, Bonnie, have three children and eight grandchildren. The couple lives in Mandeville, LA.

National College Scout Trent Baalke

5th NFL Season/2nd Redskins

Trent Baalke begins his second season with the Redskins, continuing his role as the team's national scout, traveling throughout the country in search of rising talent. He joined the Skins in 2001, after three seasons (1998-2000) as a scout with the New York Jets. Previously, he spent two years as the athletic director at Stanley High School in Fargo, ND. He spent six seasons (1990-1995) as the defensive line/strength and conditioning coach at South Dakota State. In 1989, he was a graduate assistant and defensive line coach at North Dakota State, where the squad finished the season 14-0 and was crowned Division II National Champions.

A double major at Bemidji State (MN), Baalke received his bachelor's degree in health and physical education. He earned his master's degree in secondary education and sports administration while coaching at North Dakota State. At Bemidji, he played strong safety and was two-time All-Northern Sun Conference and two-time All-Mid West Region honoree. Trent and his wife, Beth, have two daughters: Katlynn and Cassie. The Baalkes live in Loveland, CO.

Area Scout

Reggie Cobb

2nd NFL Season/2nd Redskins

In 2002, Reggie Cobb begins his second season with the Skins after joining the scouting department in July 2001. This is Cobb's second career in the NFL, after a seven-year playing career as a running back. Most recently, he played with the New York Jets (1996-1997), after one-year stints in Jacksonville (1995) and Green Bay (1994). He began his NFL career with the Tampa Bay Buccaneers (1990-1993), where he enjoyed his best season in 1992, compiling 1,171 rushing yards and nine touchdowns. Cobb ended his pro career with a total of 3,834 yards and 26 touchdowns.

He played in the college ranks at Tennessee, finishing his career ranked third on the program's career rushing chart with 2,360 yards and 26 touchdowns. He also lettered in track, and graduated in 1990 with a degree in sociology. Cobb lives in Sugarland, TX, with his wife Stephanie, and his son, DeMarcus.

Area Scout

Shemy Schembechler

3rd NFL Season/2nd Redskins

Shemy Schembechler returns for his second season with the Redskins, having joined the staff before training camp in 2001. Previously, he served as the Midwest Blesto Scout for the Chicago Bears (1997-98). Schembechler got his start in the NFL as a player personnel intern for the Kansas City Chiefs in 1996.

He began his professional career as a graduate assistant coach at Michigan in 1994, following in the footsteps of his father, legendary Michigan coach Bo Schembechler. He is a graduate of Miami of Ohio, and lives in Worthington, OH, with his wife, Megan.

Assistant to the Personnel Department

Kathy Wilson

Area Scout

Joe Womack5th NFL Season/1st Redskins

Joe Womack starts his first season with the Redskins after serving four years as a national scout with the Philadelphia Eagles (1998-01). He brings 15 years of experience to the Redskins draft room, most coming from his time working in the Canadian Football League. He joined the CFL as the Director of Scouting for the Saskatchewan Rough Riders in 1982, spending the next two years with the CFL Scouting combine, evaluating talent throughout the southeast. He was promoted as Director of CFL

Scouting and Scouting Combine in 1985, a position he held for three seasons (1985-87). He took leave from football after that, joining the private sector as Director of Sports Medicine and Rehabilitation at HealthSouth in Mobile, Alabama (1988-93). In 1993, Womack returned to the CFL as the Director of US Scouting for the BC Lions (1993-94), and later took a position as Director of Player Personnel for the Shreveport Pirates (1995-96). In 1997, he focused on NFL player evaluation, working with National Football Scouting.

Womack has a long resume of playing experience as well, spending seven years playing defensive back and returner in the CFL and WFL. He joined the CFL's Winnipeg Blue Bombers in 1973 before moving to the WFL (Chicago Fire 1974, San Antonio Wings 1975). He spent 1976 training camp with the Denver Broncos, and then returned to the CFL to join the Calgary Stampeders (1978). In 1980, he suited up for the Saskatchewan Rough Riders, where he would make his scouting debut in 1982.

Before making his way to pro football, Womack was a decorated Vietnam combat medic and therapist, as a sergeant in the US Army. He was a college standout as a pole vaulter on the LSU track team while earning his undergraduate degree. He went on to earn his masters in sports management from the United States Sports Academy. He now resides in Shreveport, LA.

In his second season with the Washington Redskins, Brad Berlin oversees all aspects of the equipment and locker rooms at Redskin Park and FedExField. His responsibilities include the purchase and maintenance of all team equipment, as well as outfitting players, coaches and other football staff for both practices and games. Berlin, along with assistant Anders Beutel, is charged with the transport of all team gear for training camp and road contests.

Berlin has nine years of experience on the collegiate level, beginning his career as head equipment manager with Utah State in 1992. He moved on to oversee operations at Colorado State from 1994-1998, then joined Missouri in 1998. He spent last season with Louisville as the assistant athletic director for equipment, before joining the Redskins in 2001.

A native of Marshall, MO, he received his bachelor's degree in educational studies and sports management from the University of Missouri in 1989. He continued his studies at Missouri, earning his master's of education and sports management in 1993. Brad and his wife, Kellie Ann, have one daughter, Miranda, and live in Ashburn, VA.

Assistant Equipment Manager Anders Beutel

6th NFL Season/2nd Redskins

Anders Beutel returns for his second season in Washington, having joined the team in 2001. His responsibilities include assisting equipment manager Brad Berlin in the distribution and maintenance of equipment and uniforms, as well as assisting the Redskins' coaching staff on the practice field.

He came to Washington from the Tampa Bay Buccaneers, where he was an equipment assistant for four seasons (1997-2000). Beutel began his career with NFL Europe, as the assistant equipment manager for the Frankfurt Galaxy in 1997, and the Amsterdam Admirals during their 1998 and 1999 campaigns.

Beutel is originally from River Falls, WS, and now resides with his wife, Kerry, in Ashburn, VA.

Video Department

Video Director Rob Porteus

9th NFL Season/3rd Redskins

Rob Porteus enters his third season with the Washington Redskins as the team's video director. His responsibilities include overseeing the daily operations of the Redskins video department and assisting the coaching and scouting staff with game tape and player highlights. He conducts the editing of video for all practices and games, and produces "cut-ups" of upcoming opponents. He is also in charge of the purchasing and maintaining of all video and digital equipment.

Prior to coming to Washington, Porteus spent four seasons as the assistant video director with the Baltimore Ravens (1996-99), working with defensive coordinator Marvin Lewis, coaching assistant Jamie Janette, and strength and conditioning coach Chip Morton. He also spent two seasons as an intern with the Chicago Bears (1994-95).

A Fredonia, WS, native, Porteus is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin at Platteville. He lives in Ashburn, VA.

Assistant Video Director

Mike Bracken3rd NFL Season/3rd Redskins

Mike Bracken begins his third season as assistant video director with the Redskins. He is responsible for the taping and editing of all games and practices, including the editing of game tape for individual coaching use.

Bracken came to the Redskins after serving as video coordinator for University of South Carolina basketball for one season (1999-2000) and Southern Cal in 1998. He got his start in the NFL as a video intern with the Philadelphia Eagles (1997-98).

Bracken graduated from Lycoming College where he played defensive back and helped his team to two conference titles. A native of Clifton Heights, PA, Bracken lives in Ashburn, VA, with his wife, Dawn Marie.

Video Assistant

Stephen Pratti4th NFL Season/2nd Redskins

Stephen Pratti returns to the Redskins video department for his second season, assisting Porteus and Bracken with all day-to-day operations of the department. He began his career with the New York Giants during the 1998-99 seasons, and spent the 2000 season as the assistant video director for the University of Maryland before coming to Washington.

He received his bachelor degree in communications from William Paterson University. A Manalapan, NJ, native, he resides in Lanham, MD.

NFL Acquisition: Signed by Miami as an undrafted free agent on April 28, 1994.

How Acquired: Signed with the Redskins as a free agent on March 9, 2001.

2001 Season: One of the NFL's best and most consistent long snappers, Albright is an all-around asset on special teams. He played in all 16 games and recorded four special teams tackles in 2001. In Week 2 at Green Bay (9/25/01), he had a season-high two special teams tackles, when he stopped punt returner Antonio Freeman twice in GB territory. His snaps were key in kicker Brett Conway's making 79% of his FG attempts and 100% of his PAT's.

Pro Career - 2000: Albright served as the Bills' LS in all 16 games and made a career-high ten special teams tackles (eight solo), all on punts. His accurate snaps were also key to kicker Steve Christie hitting four game-winning FGs. Albright made a season-high three special teams tackles in the season-opener vs. the Titans. In Week 2 vs. the Packers, he made his second career fumble recovery and returned it 17 yards to set up a Bills TD in their 27-18 win. He was perfect snapping on three FG attempts and one PAT at New England (11/5), helping Christie win Player of the Week honors. He posted two special teams tackles vs. New England (12/17). 1999: Albright was the long snapper in all 16 games plus a Wild Card playoff at Tennessee (1/8/00). He played in his 50th career game (60th in the NFL) with the Bills in the home opener vs. NYJ (8/19). 1998:

Albright's accurate snaps played a big role in Christie establishing a Bills single-season record for points (140) and FGs (33). Albright also helped Christie extend his streak of consecutive PATs to 108. Albright played in all 16 regular-season games and a Wild Card playoff contest at Miami. He had six tackles on special teams, all on punts. 1997: Albright showed poise on a pair of pressure-packed FG tries, Christie's game-winner as time expired in a 9-6 win at the Colts (10/20) and Christie's game-tying 55-yarder as regulation time expired at Denver (10/26). Albright played in all 16 games. He hurt his knee in the first quarter vs. New England (11/9), but stayed in the game. He played despite the injury the next week at Miami (11/7) and posted five special teams tackles on punt coverage. 1996: Albright signed with the Bills after Miami waived him during training camp. He served as Buffalo's long-snapper on all kicks. In his first game, he made a clutch snap on Christie's game-winning FG in OT at New York Giants (9/1). He was also key to Christie setting a team single-game record with six FGs at New York Jets (10/20). Albright made eight special teams tackles on punt coverage and saw his first playoff action in a Wild Card game vs. Jacksonville (12/28). 1995: After re-signing with the Dolphins on Feb. 16, Albright made his NFL debut in the season-opener vs. New York Jets (9/3). He suffered a season-ending knee injury at New England (11/12). Overall, he made four unassisted tackles on punts. 1994: After remaining in the second quarter on a "Kill Play". Anthony made a spectacular catch-and-run with a 46-yard pass for his second touchdown of the season at Washington (10/1). He then followed up with another solid performance, catching a season-high three passes for 36 yards (12.0 avg.), including a 16-yard TD in the fourth quarter against Minnesota (10/9). He made his first start of the season vs. Buffalo (11/26) and had two kickoff returns for 69 yards, including a 45-yard return. He tied a season-high with three catches for 48 yards (16.0 avg.) at Green Bay (12/24).

1999: Played in 13 games, starting seven contests and posted 30 receptions for 296 yards (9.9 avg.) and one touchdown. His 30 catches ranked third on the squad behind Warrick Dunn and current Redskins teammate Jacques Green. After suffering a rib injury in the previous game, he tied his career-high with seven grabs for 86 yards and one TD at Minnesota (10/3). Anthony notched a season-best 39-yard kickoff return at Seattle (11/28), surpassing WR Michael Morton (1,885) as the club's all-time leader in kickoff return yardage. He missed the season finale at Chicago (1/2) and both playoff contests with a left quadriceps strain. 1998: Played in 15 games and started 13, missing one late-season contest due to a shoulder sprain. Despite injury, he finished season as team leader in receptions (51), receiving yardage (708) and receiving touchdowns (seven). He also returned 46 kickoffs for 1,118 yards, averaging 24.3 yards per return. With those marks, he recorded the second-highest single-season yardage total in team history (Bobby Joe Edmonds, 1,147 in 1995) and the best average ever among all players with at least 15 runbacks in a season. He also recorded the highest TD reception total by a

Tampa Bay player since 1989, when Mark Carrier tied the franchise mark with nine. He led all Buc receivers in a win over Chicago (9/20) with five receptions for 56 yards and a TD, adding a career-long 32-yard gain on a fourth-quarter end-around run. Anthony burned Minnesota for six receptions for 81 yards. He set personal-bests when he turned just two receptions into 126 yards and two TDs at Jacksonville (11/15), recording the two longest receptions of his career, 47- and 79-yarders. He then led the squad in receptions at Chicago (11/29) with four for 47 yards and a touchdown. He suffered a sprained shoulder while making two catches for 17 yards vs. Pittsburgh (12/13), causing him to be placed on inactive list at Washington (12/19). Anthony returned to play, but did not start in season finale at Cincinnati and caught his seventh touchdown pass on his only reception, a four-yarder. 1997: Started 13 of 16 regular season games played, in addition to two postseason starts. Anthony opened the season as the team's third receiver before moving into the starting lineup in the second week. He missed games at Atlanta (11/9) and vs. New England (11/16) due to ankle injury. He finished the season as NFC's third-leading rookie receiver with 35 catches for 448 receiving yards and four TDs (tied for team lead). Proved himself extremely adept at running reverse plays, gaining 84 yards on five carries (16.8 avg.). Anthony also served as team's primary kickoff returner after inheriting those duties at mid-season, bringing out 25 kickoffs for 592 yards for a team-leading 23.7 average. In a Sunday night victory over Miami (9/21), Anthony caught two passes for 50 yards, including his first career score on a season-long 38-yard TD grab. Against Arizona the following week (9/28), he hauled in a season-high five catches for 49 yards and an eight-yard TD, then matched his season high for receptions three games later vs. Minnesota (10/26), with five catches for a season-best 92 yards and third score of the season. In the Wild Card game vs. Detroit (12/28), Anthony compiled the third-highest playoff receiving yardage total in franchise history (62) on a team-leading three receptions. In the following week's Divisional Playoff contest at Green Bay (1/4), he hauled in 52-yard pass completion that stands as the second-longest in team playoff annals.

College/Personal: Anthony was an extremely productive receiver at Florida under Redskins head coach Steve Spurrier and finished his Florida career third in team history with 26 receiving TDs. He tallied 126 career receptions to tie fellow teammate and 1997 draftee Ike Hilliard (N.Y. Giants, seventh overall) for seventh on Gators' career record list. He finished second in Florida history with 2,274 receiving yards, trailing only Carlos Alvarez's 2,563 (1969-71). Anthony also stood out on special teams during his collegiate career, averaging 23.2 yards per kickoff return (35-812) and 10.8 yards per punt return (24-258), while his long runbacks included a 90-yard TD kickoff return, 93-yard TD kickoff return (bowl game) and a 52-yard punt return. He appeared in 33 games and earned 23 starts. In three Bowl games (two starts), he contributed 14 receptions for 147 yards and seven kickoff returns for 226 yards (32.3 avg.) and one touchdown. In addition to being named consensus All-SEC as a junior, he was named All-American by Football News. He caught 72 passes for 1,293 yards (18.0 avg.), single-season totals exceeded at Florida only by Alvarez in 1969 (88-1,329), and one-upped by Florida and current-Redskins teammate Chris Doering's one-year-old school record of 17 receiving TDs by scoring 18 times. He led the SEC with 107.7 receiving yards per game and emerged as a dual receiving-returning threat as a sophomore, catching 24 passes for 366 yards and three touchdowns, while returning 19 kickoffs for 472 yards (24.8 avg.) and another score and bringing back 11 punts for 122 yards (11.1 avg.). He saw action in nine games (including Bowl) with eight starts and was named the team's Outstanding Freshman Player after catching 30 passes for 615 yards (20.5 avg.) and five TDs. He also returned nine kickoffs for 227 yards (25.2 avg.) and five punts for 46 yards (9.2 avg.) and scored his first collegiate touchdown on 65-yard catch against Kentucky. He majored in public recreation at Florida. As a prep, he was an all-state selection as a senior at Glades Central (FL) High School, returning eight punts and kickoffs for touchdowns during prep career. Anthony has a son, Reidel Anthony Jr. He is a native of Pahokee, FL.

Career Highlights:

- Selected to play in fifth consecutive Pro Bowl last season, teaming with fellow linebackers Jeremiah Trotter and LaVar Arrington.
- Started all 16 games in 2001 for the sixth straight year. Armstead has 96 consecutive starts and has played in all 150 regular season and postseason games since 1993. He has not missed a game in eight professional seasons.
- From 1996-2000, he led the NY Giants in tackles, exceeding 100 stops in each season.

- He was named Giants Rookie of the Year in 1993, Defensive MVP in 1996 and Most Valuable Player in 1997.

NFL Acquisition: Chosen by the New York Giants in the eighth round (207th overall) of the 1993 NFL Draft.

How Acquired: Signed by Washington as an unrestricted free agent on March 1, 2002.

2001 Season: Armstead made his 83rd consecutive start at weak side linebacker to start the season against Denver (9/10) on Monday Night Football. He finished with five tackles (4 solo) and stopped RB Terrell Davis for a one-yard loss in the second quarter. Against St. Louis (10/14), he finished with a team-high nine tackles (7 solo) and a forced fumble, while helping hold the Rams offense to 41 yards on the ground. His third quarter tackle of RB Marshall Faulk forced a fumble that was recovered by LB Mike Barrow. He then stuffed RB Trung Canidate for no gain late in the fourth quarter. Armstead extended his consecutive games played streak to 136 and consecutive games started streak to 88 against Dallas (11/4), despite missing the entire week of practice with a strained hamstring and calf suffered a week earlier vs. Washington. Armstead finished with three tackles (2 solo) with the majority of play coming on first and second down. He started at weak side linebacker versus Minnesota (11/19) and finished with five tackles (4 solo) and one sack, while recording his second sack of the season when he dropped QB Daunte Culpepper for a six-yard loss in the second quarter. Against Arizona (12/15), Armstead started at weak side linebacker and had his best game of the season, finishing with a team-high 16 tackles (13 solo) and a forced fumble. His 16 total tackles is the second-highest single game total of his career. Armstead's career-high of 18 came vs. Dallas on October 5, 1997. He also forced RB Micheal Pittman to fumble after a one-yard loss in the second quarter, then tackled RB Thomas Jones for a five-yard loss after a reception in the fourth quarter. He started at WLB at Philadelphia (12/30), and finished second on the team in tackles with seven (5 solo) and had one pass defended. He also tackled RB Duce Staley for a two-yard loss in the first quarter. He stopped Staley for a four-yard loss after a reception in the second quarter. He ended the regular season by starting against Green Bay (1/6/02) extending his consecutive games streak to 98 and finished with seven tackles (4 solo). Armstead stopped RB Ahman Green for a one-yard loss in the third quarter, then stuffed Green again in the third for a three-yard loss.

Pro Career - 2000: Armstead was selected to start in the Pro Bowl, his fourth consecutive appearance in the game. He started every game for the fifth consecutive season and led the team in tackles with 101, including 76 solos. He also had five sacks, eight passes defended, a forced fumble and a fumble recovery. He was a mainstay of the defense that was second in the NFL against the run (72.3 yards a game). He contributed a team-high seven tackles (five solos) and one sack in the Giants 41-0 shutout of Minnesota in the NFC Championship Game. His play helped hold the Vikings to only 114 yards, tying the mark for the third-lowest yardage ever allowed in a postseason game. He finished second on the team in tackles with nine (six solos) in a 20-10 victory over Philadelphia in the NFC Divisional Playoff game. He recorded his fifth sack of the season when he tackled Dallas QB Anthony Wright for a 10-yard loss, then, on the next play, recovered a Cowboys fumble at the Dallas 21-yard line (12/17). Armstead finished with a season-high 15 tackles vs. Detroit (11/19). He had five tackles (four solos) a half-sack and two passes defended vs. Philadelphia (10/29). He knocked down Troy Aikman's pass on the game's final play to preserve a victory over Dallas (10/15). He brought down Donovan McNabb for a 13-yard loss and his first sack of the season at Philadelphia (9/10). 1999: Armstead was selected to his third straight Pro Bowl, representing the NFC as a starter after starting every game despite knee injury suffered in practice prior to Week 14 game at Buffalo. He led the team in sacks and finished second (Kevin Greene, 12) in the NFC among LBs with a career-high nine. He became the first linebacker to lead the Giants in sacks since Lawrence Taylor led the team with five sacks in 1993. Armstead also led the team in tackles for the fourth straight year and eclipsed 100 tackles for the fourth straight season, finishing with 124. He finished with a team-high 14 tackles (10 solos) and a forced fumble vs. Washington (9/19). He was named the NFC Defensive Player of the Month for October after leading the Giants to four wins and recording four sacks, two interceptions and 41 tackles, then finished with eight tackles (five solos) and two sacks vs. Philadelphia (10/3). Armstead finished with a team-high 12 tackles (eight solos) and two sacks at Arizona (10/10), then followed by collecting a team-high 10 tackles (nine solos) in a Monday Night game vs. Dallas (10/18). 1998: Armstead earned his second straight Pro Bowl berth, representing the NFC squad as a reserve linebacker. He suffered a severely sprained ankle in the fourth quarter vs. Washington (9-6) in the season-opener that effected him for much of the year, but he still eclipsed the 100-tackle mark for the third straight season with 101 total tackles (75 solos) to lead the team in that category. He then cracked the double-digit tackle mark for the first time with 10 tackles (6 solos) at Tampa Bay (10/4). He was forced to leave the game due to his sprained ankle in the fourth quarter vs. Green Bay (11/15), then had the second two-sack game of his career vs. Philadelphia (11/22). His other two-sack game was vs. Arizona (11/16/97). 1997: He was named a starter on the NFC Pro Bowl squad following a season that saw him set a personal high with 134 total tackles, eclipsing the 114 tackles he had in 1996. The 134 total tackles was one more than linebacker Lawrence Taylor's old team record of 133 set during his rookie season in 1981. Armstead set a single-game high mark with 18 total tackles (12 solos) vs. Dallas (10/5) and equaled his career-high of 12 solo tackles at St. Louis (9/21). His previous career mark was 14 total tackles (nine solos) vs. Buffalo (9/1/96). Against the Cowboys, Armstead broke free from a block to chase down tight end Eric Bjornson at the Giants 17-yard line, holding him out of the end zone and preserving the Giants 20-17 victory. He was awarded a Game Ball by the coaching staff for his efforts against Dallas. He set a career-high with his first two-sack performance vs. Arizona (11/16) and was named NFC Defensive Player of the Week for his performance at Philadelphia (12/7), when he had a team-leading 10 tackles (eight solos), one sack, two interceptions and three passes defended. He ended the Eagles first drive of the game with an interception that he returned 57 yards for a touchdown, the second such score in his career. He recorded his second interception in the third quarter when he picked off a QB Bobby Hoyer pass at the Eagles 38-yard line. It marked the first two-interception game of his career. 1996: Armstead led the team with 114 tackles (83 solos). He tied for first on the team with two fumble recoveries, tied for fourth on the team with 3.0 sacks and tied for fourth on the team with eight passes defended and also intercepted two passes. He made his first start as a regular in the lineup when he started at the weakside linebacker position in the season-opener vs. Buffalo (9/1). His two previous starts were in 1995 in special schemes to stop the West Coast offense at San Francisco (10/1) and vs. Philadelphia (10/15). Armstead established a career-high in tackles with 14 (nine solos) against the Bills. He played in 105 plays in the game (96 on defense, 9 on special teams). Armstead ended a Panthers drive at the Giants 22-yard line at Carolina (11/10) when he intercepted a screen pass by Kerry Collins to preserve the Giants 14-10 halftime lead. He led the team with 11 total tackles (six solos) vs. Dallas (11/24). The Armstead-led Giants defense limited the Cowboys to 33 yards rushing, holding Emmitt Smith to 18 yards on 11 carries for a 1.6 average. 1995: Armstead played in all 16 games with two starts, and continued to excel as the team's middle linebacker in nickel and dime situations and on special teams. He finished with 46 tackles, one-half sack, a fumble recovery, one interception, two passes defended and 6 special teams tackles. The Giants took advantage of Armstead's speed and coverage ability and started him in place of Mike Croel at San Francisco (10/1) to help contain the 49ers passing attack. It marked his first NFL start. His coverage helped limit QB Steve Young to just 202 yards passing on 26 completions. He scored the game-winning points in overtime vs. Arizona (10/8) as he returned an interception 58 yards to give the Giants a 27-21 victory, earning him a game ball for his game-winning play. 1994: Armstead played in all 16 games on special teams and in nickel and dime defensive packages. He finished third on the team with nine special teams tackles. His defensive playing time increased over the last four weeks of the season as he finished with 41 total tackles, and 3.0 sacks on the year, including one that forced a safety in season-finale vs. Dallas (12/4). He recorded his first career sack when he dropped Neil O'Donnell for a 7-yard loss vs. Pittsburgh (10/23). He finished fifth on the team with nine passes defended. He also recorded an interception vs. Arizona (11/13). He earned Special Teams MVP at Houston (11/21) when he had two solo tackles. 1993: Armstead appeared in all 16 games and led the team in special teams tackles with 13. He was named team's Special Teams MVP three times - vs. Rams (9/19), vs. Washington (11/14) and vs. Indianapolis (12/12). He was named the the Giants' overall MVP for his effort at New Orleans (12/20) that included his first career interception off Saints QB Mike Buck.

College/Personal: As a senior at Miami, Armstead started at weakside linebacker and recorded 81 tackles with 5.0 sacks and seven tackles for 22 yards in losses, added eight quarterback pressures and deflected eight passes. He finished third on the team as a junior with 99 tackles, 3.0 sacks and nine tackles for -44 yards. His sophomore season was cut short after four games by a knee injury. He played in every game as a freshman. As a senior at Carter HS in Dallas, he was Super Prep Player of the Year and a member of USA Today's Top 25 team. He led Carter to state Class 5A championship with 302 tackles, nine sacks and five interceptions. A criminal justice major at Miami as an undergraduate, he attended graduate school during his final season of eligibility in 1992. He received his undergraduate degree in three years. He formed Jessie's Giant Hoop Team, a charity basketball team that plays in the tri-state area during the offseason to help raise funds for various charities. He is married to Channon and has two daughters, Jessica and Jaya.

How Acquired: Drafted by Washington in 1st Round of 2000 (2nd overall).

2001 Season: Arrington, emerging as a physical and emotional team leader, started in all 14 games he played, missing only two. He led the team in tackles (100), seven for loss and nine passes defended. He had two fumble recoveries and returned three interceptions for 120 yards and one touchdown. He started Week 1 at outside linebacker and recorded ten tackles in San Diego (9/9). The next week at Green Bay (9/24), he made three tackles before leaving the game early with a right knee sprain. He returned after an injury the previous week in Week 4 at NYG and recorded a career-high 12 tackles, ten solo and one pass deflection (10/7). He finished Week 5 at Dallas with nine tackles and one pass deflection (10/15). He repeatedly has been credited with single-handedly turning the Redskins' season around when he returned an interception 67 yards for touchdown to rally the team to a 17-14 OT victory over Carolina (10/21). He made eight tackles the next week vs. NYG (10/28) and in Week 8 against Seattle (11/4) he recorded three tackles and a fumble recovery, before leaving the game early with a high ankle sprain. He returned from the ankle injury in Week 10 at Denver (11/18) and made six tackles. Arrington led the team in tackles with nine at Philadelphia (11/25) and recorded eight tackles in Week 12 vs. Dallas (12/2). He had an outstanding game at Arizona the next week (12/9) when he made a fourth-down stop on the goal line preventing a touchdown. He also recorded a team-high 10 tackles, one pass deflection and one interception for 43 yards, setting up a 22-yard field goal in Washington's 20-10 victory over Arizona. In Week 14 vs. Philadelphia (12/16) he put forth another stellar performance, tallying eight tackles, one interception for ten yards, a half sack and two pass deflections. The next week vs. Chicago (12/23) Arrington made seven tackles and one pass deflection before leaving the game with a right knee sprain that left him inactive the following week at New Orleans (12/30). He started in the season finale vs. Arizona (1/6) but left the game in the second quarter when he re-aggravated the knee injury.

Pro Career - 2000: After not starting the first three games, Arrington made his first NFL start Week 4 at NY Giants (9/24). He started eleven of the remaining 13 at strongside LB, and finished fifth on the team in total tackles (73) and solos (53), and third in sacks (4.0 for -7 yards). He also defended five passes. He made his first career sack and posted ten tackles in Week 5 vs. TB (10/1). The next week at the Eagles (10/8), he recorded four tackles and took a lateral from James Thrash on the opening kickoff of the second half and ran 23 yards. Arrington tallied a team- and career-high eleven tackles in Week 9 vs. Tennessee (10/30), including a sack of QB Steve McNair for 3 yards. Arrington did not start in Week 11 at St. Louis (11/20), when the defense opened in a "dime" formation, but he contributed later, making a career-high 2.0 sacks. The next week vs. the Eagles (11/26), he suffered a concussion while tackling Brian Mitchell on the opening kickoff and didn't return to the game. He made nine tackles (eight solo) the next week vs. the NYG (12/3) and in Week 14 (12/10), he knocked out Cowboys QB Troy Aikman, who suffered a concussion. Arrington also played special teams all year on the kickoff, kickoff return, punt return and FG blocking units, making a total of seven tackles.

College/Personal: Arrington established himself as one of the most dominating defensive players in college football history. In his last season at Penn State in 1999, he earned the Chuck Bednarik Award as the nation's top defensive player, and the Dick Butkus Award as college football's premier LB. He was also a finalist for the Lombardi Trophy as college football's top lineman and the Bronko Nagurski Award as the nation's best player. An All-Big Ten first-team selection, he played strongside LB and posted career-highs in tackles (72), tackles-for-loss (20 for -98 yards), sacks (9.0), blocked kicks (two) and fumble recoveries (two). He was key to the Nittany Lions 10-3 season and their 24-0 rout of Texas A&M in the Alamo Bowl, when he ended his college career making 14 tackles, including an 8-yard sack, and forcing three INTs. Arrington finished sixth in school history in tackles-for-loss and seventh in sacks. In 1998, he was a first-team All-American selection by The Sporting News, Big Ten Defensive Player of the Year, a semifinalist for the Dick Butkus Award and the Football News National Defensive Player of the Year Award. He started the last 10 games at strongside LB, making 65 tackles (49 solo) with 7.0 sacks for -27 yards and 17 stops for -52 yards. He caused two fumbles, recovered another and tied for the team lead in pass deflections (11). He also intercepted two passes, returning one 16 yards for a TD. Arrington saw significant action in every game as a true freshman playing strongside LB. He tallied 26 tackles (20 solo), two sacks for minus nine yards, one forced fumble and a pass deflection. At North Hills High School in Pittsburgh, Arrington was one of the greatest prep football players ever to emerge from the western Pennsylvania gridiron. He was the 1996 Parade National Player of the Year as a senior LB and RB. He was also selected Bobby Dodd National Offensive Player of the Year, Gatorade Player of the Year and USA Today Pennsylvania Player of the Year. He was the second player in Pennsylvania Class 4-A history to rush for more than 4,000 career yards, with 4,357 on 711 carries (6.1 avg.) and 72 TDs. Arrington attended the Penn State College of Education. His older brother, Michael, played basketball at Slippery Rock. His father, Michael, is an ordained minister and military veteran who fought in Vietnam, where he severely damaged both legs. Arrington feels a powerful emotional tie to his father and, each time he takes to the field, he runs "for my father." Last season, he Arrington got involved in the Washington Redskins Leadership Council's Fields for Tomorrow program, donating significant funds for the football field renovation of Frederick Douglas H.S. in Maryland, where his brother just graduated. Arrington has a son, Keeno Lamoni Arrington, and lives in Fairfax, VA.

How Acquired: Selected in 1st round of 1999 draft (7th overall).

2001 Season: Bailey started all 16 games this season at cornerback and was named a first alternate on the NFC Pro Bowl squad. He earned an invite to the Pro Bowl after Eagles CB Troy Vincent withdrew due to injury. He finished fifth on the team in tackles (51) and tied for second in interceptions (3). He is also credited with a team-high 18 pass deflections, one forced fumble and a fumble recovery. He opened the season with four tackles, one interception and one fumble recovery at San Diego (9/9). He made three tackles and one pass deflection at Green Bay (9/24), and recorded four tackles and two pass deflections the next week vs. Kansas City (9/30). In Week 4 at NY Giants (10/7), he made four tackles and recorded his first career forced fumble. He held receiver Joey Galloway to only four receptions the next week (10/15) in Dallas. Bailey recorded five tackles vs. Car (10/21) and the next week at NYG he made one tackle and three pass deflections. In Week 8 vs. Seattle, he picked off a Matt Hasselback pass on Seattle's 12-yard line. The interception set up Brett Conway's 43-yard field goal and gave the Redskins the early lead in their 27-14 victory over the Seahawks. Bailey held NFL then-leading receiver Rod Smith to only three catches for 25 yards at Denver (11/18). The next week at Philadelphia he made five tackles, three pass deflections and held the Eagles' leading receiver, James Thrash, to four catches for 32 yards. Bailey matched up against Thrash again in Week 14 (12/16) and held him to only two receptions for 15 yards. He had six tackles and a pass deflection the next week vs. Chicago, and recorded four tackles, an interception and three pass deflections at New Orleans (12/30). The Redskins kicked a field goal off the interception and took a lead the Saints could not overcome. In the season finale vs. Arizona (1/6) he held NFL then-leading receiver David Boston to his fewest receptions (2) all season.

Pro Career - 2000: Bailey was voted a starting CB on the NFC Pro Bowl team after becoming one of the league's most feared defensive backs. He helped anchor the NFL's second-rated pass defense. He tallied team-highs in INTs (five) and passes defended (14). He was seventh on the Redskins in tackles with 66 (52 solo), made five solo stops on special teams and recovered one fumble. Bailey was also a weapon on offense, catching three passes for 78 yards (26.0 avg.), including a long of 42, and rushing for one TD. He was named The Quarterback Club Redskins Player of the Year, beating out RB Stephen Davis and DEs Bruce Smith and Marco Coleman. In Week 1 vs. Carolina, he posted a career-high eight solo tackles. The next week at Detroit, he intercepted two passes, one of them a one-handed grab at the Redskins 6-yard line on a ball that went through the receiver's hands. Bailey had another huge game in Week 3 vs. Dallas, recovering his first career fumble and returning his first career punt 54 yards, after taking a handoff on a reverse from Deion Sanders. The return set up a 33-yard TD drive capped by Stephen Davis' 7-yard run. He also saw his first action at WR in that game. He started at CB and WR in Week 7 vs. Baltimore. In Week 10 at Arizona, he used his exceptional speed to save a TD on a kickoff return, outrunning and tackling MarTay Jenkins. Bailey made a key INT at St. Louis in Week 11, catching a Trent Green pass 9 yards deep in the end zone and returned it 48 yards with 5:38 left, ruining a Rams attempt to trim an 11-point deficit in the Redskins 33-20 win. The next week vs. Philadelphia, he recorded a pass defended for the sixth straight game and made five tackles (four solo). He caught his first career pass, a 24-yarder, in Week 14 at Dallas. He was Mr. Versatility in the season-finale vs. Arizona, catching two Brad Johnson passes for 54 yards, including a 12-yarder on 3rd-and-seven and a 42-yarder on 3rd-and-five. He also rushed once for a 7-yard TD. Plus, he intercepted a pass, made five solo tackles and posted a season-high four passes defended. Overall, he participated in 70 plays (eight offense, 53 defense, nine ST).

1999: As a rookie, Bailey showed he has the tools to be a star CB in the NFL. One of the most versatile and athletic players to enter the league in 1999, he started all 16 regular-season games at CB, finishing second on the Redskins in INTs (five), first in passes defended (17) and fifth in tackles (83), including 55 solo stops. He was named a third alternate to the NFC Pro Bowl team. He also saw consistent action on special teams, collecting 54 blocks and 14 tackles (10 solo). In the Redskins first pre-season game vs. New England, he started and intercepted a Drew Bledsoe pass, returning it 46 yards for a TD. In the season-opener vs. Dallas, he picked off a Troy Aikman pass and made seven tackles. He finished second on the team in tackles in Week 2 vs. the Giants (eight total, seven solo) and limited star WR Keyshawn Johnson to only three catches in the Redskins 27-20 win over NYJ in Week 3. Bailey made eight tackles (six solo) in Week 4 vs. Carolina, tying Derek M. Smith for second on the team. His biggest game came in the Redskins 24-10 win over Arizona in Week 5. While the Redskins defense held the Cardinals to 274 yards, Bailey intercepted three passes, becoming the youngest player in NFL history and 15th Redskin to perform such a feat. He returned one INT 59 yards for a second-quarter TD. He was named NFC Defensive Player of the Week. The next week vs. Chicago, Bailey was third on the team with eight tackles (seven solo) and had a pass defended and a forced fumble. He tallied five blocks on punt returns. The NFL again honored Bailey, naming him Rookie Defensive Player of the Month for October. In Week 9 at Philadelphia, he made his first sack and had one pass defended, two solo tackles, three blocks on punt returns and one tackle on kickoff coverage. He picked off his fifth pass vs. Arizona in Week 13 and collected a team-high two solo tackles on kickoff coverage. In the regular-season finale vs. Miami, he had a season-high 10 tackles (seven solo), two passes defended and two blocks on punt returns. He started both playoff games and made six tackles.

College/Personal: Bailey was regarded as one of college football's greatest multiple threats (offense, defense, special teams) in his three seasons at Georgia. The following numbers from his 1998 junior year tell why: 52 tackles (four for losses), three INTs, seven passes defended, 47 catches for 744 yards (15.8 avg.) five TDs, 84 yards rushing on 16 carries, 12 kickoff returns for 261 yards and four punt returns for 49 yards. He averaged 103.5 all-purpose yards per game and logged 957 plays (547 defense, 301 offense, 109 ST). Against Virginia in the Peach Bowl, he caught three passes for 73 yards, including a 14-yard TD, rushed three times for 9 yards, returned five kickoffs for 104 yards, returned a punt 12 yards and made two tackles and one pass defended at CB. He was a unanimous All-American and All-SEC First-Team selection and claimed the Bronko Nagurski Award as America's top defensive player. In college, he played in 33 games with 24 starts, posting 147 total tackles, two fumble recoveries, one forced fumble, eight INTs and 27 passes defended. He was an All-SEC First-Team selection as a sophomore, starting every game at left CB and one game at WR. Bailey set a school indoor long jump record in 1998 of 25-10 3/4 feet to finish third at the SEC Indoor Track and Field Championships. He attended Charlton County High School in Folkston, GA. He was a Class A all-state selection, earning All-USA Today honorable mention and was also a second-team all-south selection. He was voted MVP in each of his final three seasons. Bailey rushed for 1,858 yards and 28 TDs, threw for 277 yards, averaged 33.3 yards on punts and made 37 tackles and two INTs as a senior. In high school, he rushed for 3,573 yards with 58 TDs, threw for 1,211 yards with 10 scores and gained 5,855 yards with 394 points. He also made 80 tackles, eight INTs and four fumble recoveries. Bailey was an all-state honorable mention selection in basketball and the state high jump champion as a junior. He is involved in the Redskins All-Stars program, encouraging kids to get involved in community service and volunteerism. He also participates in the annual Redskins Season Kickoff Cruise to support the Darrell Green Youth Life Foundation and sponsors a child at the foundation's "Christmas with the Redskins" party each year. Bailey and his wife, Hanady, live in Sterling, VA, with their son, Kevan.

NFL Acquisition: Signed as an undrafted free agent by the Denver Broncos in May 1988.

How Acquired: Signed by the Redskins as a free agent April 12, 2001.

2001 Season: Barker played in all 16 games for Washington. For the second time in as many years, he ranked 10th in his conference with a 41.6 gross punting average. He punted a career-high 90 times, 27 of which were inside-the-20. He had at least one punt inside-the-20 in 15 games this season. He kicked a season-high eight punts at GB (9/24). Barker ended a scoring threat on special teams vs. Car (10/21) when he stopped punt returner Steve Smith, who broke free from defenders. He had his best game of the season at Den (11/18), when he again punted eight times (five inside-the-20) for 335 yards, all of which matched or beat his season highs. In Week 13 at Arizona (12/9), he punted a season-long 59 yards. He finished the season with 3,747 punting yards, the second most in his career.

Pro Career - 2000: Barker played all 16 games for Jacksonville and finished tenth in the AFC with a 42.0 gross punting average and placed 11th with a 34.4 net punt average. He placed 29 punts inside-the-20 among his 76 attempts, fifth most in the conference and second most in his career. He tied his career-low with five touchbacks and had a season-long punt of 65 yards against Pittsburgh (10/1). He amassed a total of 3,194 yards on 76 punts. 1999: Barker was named AFC Special Teams Player of the Week three times during the season (giving him five for his career). He is ranked eighth in the NFL and fifth in the AFC in net punting with a 36.9-yard average, and tied for 15th in the NFL and ninth in the AFC in gross punting with a 41.8 average. Barker is tied for fourth in the NFL with a team-record and personal-best 32 kicks downed inside the 20 (just three shy of the NFL record that was broken in 1999). He often punted from midfield and even inside the 40, as teams prided itself on field position (41 percent of his kicks were inside the 20, the highest of any NFL punter). Barker made the first run of his career for six yards on Sept. 26 vs. Tennessee but was forced out of bounds at the 2-yard line, on a fake field goal with 15 seconds left in the first half. He had an exceptional game at PIT (10/3) with six punts (of eight) downed inside the 15-yard line. He was named AFC Special Teams Player of the Week and received the special teams game ball. In the Monday night game at NYJ (10/11), he punted seven times for a 45.9-yard gross average and 37.4 net, including a career-best 83-yarder (longest in the NFL since 1992) from the endzone to earn AFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors for the second straight game (first player since Minnesota's Mitch Berger in 1998 to do so). He broke his own team mark with an NFL record-tying eight punts inside-the-20 on a team-record-tying nine punts vs. Baltimore (11/14). Barker earned AFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors (became first AFC player to be named three times in one season since Kansas City KR Tamarik Vanover in 1995 and '97) and received a special teams game ball. 1998: Barker ranked third in the NFL in net punting average (38.5) and sixth in gross punting average (45.0); figures that ranked second and fourth in the AFC, respectively. He punted 85 times for 3,824 yards, both career highs, and had 11 touchbacks, the second most of his career in one season. He had seven punts of 60 or more yards, including twice in two different games, and 25 of 50-yards plus. He punted a season-long of 65 yards (at Buffalo 10/18) to tie the then second longest of his career and marked his longest as a Jaguar. He averaged 52.4 yards on five punts in that game for second-best single-game average in team history. He had a 64-yarder on 11/22 at Pittsburgh for a then-second longest as a Jaguar. Barker had four punts inside-the-20 in two different games (vs. Miami 10/12 and at Minnesota 12/20), one shy of the then-team record. He earned AFC Special Teams Player of the Week honors for his performance vs. Pittsburgh (12/28), in which he punted seven times for a 42.4-yard gross average, 41.9 net with no touchbacks and three inside-the-20s. In two postseason games, he punted nine times for 42.2-yard average (36.6 net), with one touchback and two inside-the-20. His 60-yarder vs. New England (1/3) set a team playoff record (topping a 59-yarder at Buffalo, 12/28/96) and was a personal postseason best. 1997: Barker led the NFL in both gross and net punting most of the season before finishing third in net punting and seventh in gross punting and was named to the All-Pro teams by Associated Press, Pro Football Writers of America/Pro Football Weekly and Football Digest. He also had 27 kicks inside the 20 to rank third in the AFC, and kicked 66 times for 2,964 yards with only eight touchbacks. He had three punts of 60 yards or longer and 24 punts of 50-yards plus. The NFL Players Association named him AFC Punter of the Year. He completed the first pass attempt of his NFL career 9/22 vs. Pittsburgh for 22 yards to Dana Hall to convert a fake punt on a 4th-and-15 play to extend a 17-play drive. Barker set a team single-game record with a 53.8-yard gross average on five punts 10/19 at Dallas, when he had four punts of 50-plus. He joined placekicker Mike Hollis as just the fourth kicking tandem ever to be voted to the AFC-NFC Pro Bowl. He punted four times for a 29.5-yard average (26.0 net) in the Wild-Card playoff at Denver on 12/27/97. 1996: Barker ranked ninth in the AFC in gross punting with a 43.7-yard average and 10th in net punting with a 35.6 average and had 25 punts of 50-plus yards with 16 inside the 20 and eight touchbacks. He was named AFC Special Teams Player of the Week for the first time in his career for his 11/24 performance vs. Baltimore (50.8 average on four kicks, including two inside the 20). He had a stellar game against Carolina (9/29) with 51.7-yard gross average and 42.3-yard net on six kicks, five of which were 50-plus yards, one inside the 20 and no touchbacks. Barker booted a season-long 62-yarder 10/6 at New Orleans and made a TD-saving tackle of Baltimore's Jermaine Lewis on 11/10, suffering broken ribs but remained in the game. He had a 46.8-yard gross punting average the remainder of the regular season and punted 13 times for 42.6-yard average (37.0 net) in three playoff games. 1995: Barker had an NFL-best 38.6 net average, topping the 38.6 net of Cincinnati's Lee Johnson. He was tied for third in AFC and fourth in the NFL in gross average at 43.8 yards, posting 19 punts inside the 20 with just five touchbacks. 1994: He signed with Minnesota as a free agent May 18 and released on 8/30 when punter Mike Saxon was signed. He then signed with Philadelphia (10/11), and saw action in the last eleven games for the Eagles and led the NFC with a 36.3-yard net average while the team posted an NFL-best 4.2-yard punt return average allowed. 1993: While in Kansas City, Barker kicked 76 times for a 42.6-yard average and 35.4 net. He had 19 punts land inside the 20, with eight touchbacks. He punted six times for 40.8-yard average vs. Buffalo in AFC Championship game 1/23. 1992: Barker ranked fourth in the AFC and eighth in the NFL with a 43.3-yard gross average, best by a Chiefs punter since Jim Arnold's 44.9 in 1984. 1991: He punted 57 times for a 40.4-yard gross average while having only 27 punts returned, the third-fewest in the AFC and fourth-fewest in the league. 1990: Signed by the Kansas City Chiefs on 5/1 and competed with Kelly Goodburn in training camp. He was waived following the third preseason game. Barker was then re-signed as a free agent with Kansas City four weeks into the season (9/26) and punted in the last 13 games, averaging 38.7 on 64 kicks. Named to All-Rookie teams by UPI, The National and Football News. 1989: Signed by Seattle Seahawks and was released on 8/30 in the final cut. 1988: Signed as a rookie free agent by the Denver Broncos in May and was released on 7/19.

College/Personal: In college, Barker handled Santa Clara's punting duties for four seasons and set a school record with 248 punts, averaging 37.8 yards. He had a school-record 81-yard punt in 1984 and graduated in 1986 with a degree in economics. He attended Miramonte High in Orinda, CA, playing punter and free safety. While with Jacksonville, he was one of the most active players in the community. In 1996, he founded the Let Us Play Foundation with his wife, Leah, an organization that annually sponsors the Let Us Play Sports Camp for Girls in Jacksonville. The Barkers have been awarded a number of grants from NFL Charities for the camps, which are designed to motivate inner-city girls to recognize the lifelong benefits connected with sports and education. Barker has spearheaded efforts to organize and run Let Us Play camps in other NFL cities, that now include Dallas, Denver, Charlotte, Pittsburgh and Oakland. He created a new Let Us Play program in 1999, the Junior 2K, a running event for kids to raise funds to establish a permanent four-year scholarship endowment at the University of North Florida. He initiated day-care seminars on behalf of the Jacksonville Children's Commission in 1997 and spoke at informational meetings with other Jaguars players. He was named the Jaguars' True Value/NFL Man of the Year in 1996. Barker was the first-ever recipient of the Boy Scouts of America North Florida Council's Outstanding Community Leader Award. In 2000, he was honored with the Catholic Charities Good Samaritan Award, as well as the Robert W. Baird/Jaguars Community Award. He and his wife, Leah, have three children: sons Colin and Trevor, and daughter, Killey.

A Special Year for Special Teams in 2001

A challenging part of the game for the Redskins in past years, the 2001 Redskins special teams unit excelled and was a key component for success last season.

At the close of the regular season, the lone category in which the Redskins led the NFL was in yards allowed by kickoff coverage. The Redskins kickoff coverage unit, led by special teams coach Mike Stock, allowed only 945 yards on 54 kickoffs. The Redskins finished the season ranked second in the League in kickoff return average (or average starting field position after kicking off).

Placekicker Brett Conway kicked a 55-yard field goal in the second quarter against the Giants (10/7) that not only marked his career-long, but also was the longest field goal in the NFL in 2001 (tie with two others). Conway also set career-highs with four field goals made in one contest and totaling 16 points on the day vs. NO (12/30).

Punter Bryan Barker's 3,747 punting yards for 2001 rank as his second highest season output in his 12 year NFL career. He also finished third in the NFC with most punts (27), inside-the-20.

NFL Acquisition: Drafted by GB in third round of 1997 NFL Draft (90th overall).

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent on March 15, 2001.

2001 Season: Washington re-signed Conway after being released during the 2000 season. He had arguably the best season of his career, leading the Redskins and ranking ninth in the NFC in scoring with 100 points. In 2001, he played in all 16 games, something he accomplished only one other time in his 6-year NFL career. He converted on 26 of 33 field goal attempts and went 22 for 22 on point-after-touchdown attempts. He converted ten field goals over 40 yards. He gave the Redskins their only score against the Chargers in Week 1 with a 40-yarder. He made three field goals at NYG (10/7), including a 55-yarder that eclipsed his previous career long of 51 yards. In Week 6 vs. Carolina, he was immediately given the opportunity to redeem himself when an apparent 52-yard touchdown pass in overtime was overturned and ruled down at the 5-yard line. Conway was called on again to win the game, this time the 23-yard field goal connected and gave the Redskins the win, 17-14. He finished the last three games 8 for 8 on field goal attempts.

Pro Career - 2000: Conway was perfect in his play last season, converting all six FG attempts and all eight PATs for 26 points. He made a 21-yard FG with 5:38 to play that proved to be the difference in the Redskins season-opening, 20-17 win over Carolina. He also kicked a 24-yard FG and two PATs in that game. In Week 2, he kicked a 26-yard FG and a PAT at the Lions. Pain from a quadriceps injury he suffered in the pre-season continued to linger, and he was placed on inactive status for Week 3 vs. Dallas. He was waived the next week. He signed with Oakland on 11/12 and kicked a 19-yard FG and three PATs in Week 12 at New Orleans. He was inactive for Week 13 vs. Atlanta and was released. Conway signed with NYJ on 12/18 and played in the season-finale vs. Baltimore, making 19- and 40-yard FGs and both PAT attempts. 1999: Conway converted ten FGs past 40 yards, including a 48-yarder in the Divisional Playoff vs. Tampa Bay, and three of 50 yards or more. He was among the league's top kickers, converting 22 of 32 FGs and 49 of 50 PATs to finish with a team-high 115 points, the NFC's second-best mark. He was tied for eighth in the NFL in points with SD kicker John Carney. Conway also kicked two game-winning FGs: a 31-yarder with ten seconds left in regulation in the Skins 38-36 victory over Carolina in Week 4, and a 27-yarder in the Redskins 23-20 OT win over Philadelphia in Week 11. He opened the 1999 season blazing hot, hitting his first seven FGs and eleven of twelve. Conway received a game ball for converting three of three PATs and two of two FGs, including a 50-yarder, in Week 3 at the Jets. He tried three 50-yard FGs vs. Chicago (10/31), hitting from 50 and 51 yards; the 53-yard attempt was blocked. After a three-week period in which he connected on half of his 16 attempts, Conway hit on five of seven to close the season. In the Redskins 26-20 win over the 49ers in Week 15 that clinched the NFC East title, he ignited the Redskins comeback from a ten-point, fourth-quarter deficit by kicking a 34-yarder. Earlier in the game, he made a 47-yarder. Conway went two for two in FGs in both Redskins playoff games. 1998: Conway, a free agent, was signed to the Redskins active roster on 11/13. He saw his first NFL action in Week 11 versus Arizona, handling all kickoff duties. He handled kick-offs for the rest of the season. Before joining the Redskins in mid-season, Conway was traded by GB to NYJ in August. 1997: Conway's rookie season never really started. He injured his leg midway through the preseason and spent the entire year on injured reserve.

College/Personal: A four-year letterman at Penn State, Conway was a First-Team All-Big Ten selection as a senior and was a two-time semifinalist for the Lou Groza Award, given annually to the nation's premier placekicker. He finished his career second on the school's all-time scoring list with 276 points, connecting on 45 of 61 FGs and 141 of 142 PATs. His 45 FGs were the second-most in school history, and he set a Big Ten record by making 129 straight PATs. As a senior, Conway led the Nittany Lions with 93 points, had two game-winning FGs and made a career-long 52-yarder versus Temple. He led the team in scoring with 85 points and was a Second-Team All-Big Ten selection as a junior. In his prep career, Conway was an All-State and All-American selection in soccer and football at Parkview High School in Lilburn, GA, where he earned three letters in football and four letters in soccer. He was also a Parade All-American and Second-Team USA Today selection as a senior. He converted four FGs of more than 50 yards in his junior and senior seasons, including a 58-yarder. His soccer team won the state title and was ranked third in the nation by USA Today. Conway has always jumped at the opportunity to help with Redskins community outreach programs such as Redskins Read, and participates in charity events such as Rally Round the Redskins, benefiting Ronald McDonald House Charities, and Taste of the NFL, supporting D.C. Central Kitchen. He also hosts "Brett's Biker Bash," a motorcycle ride fundraiser benefiting the Leukemia/ Lymphoma Society. He lives in Sterling, VA.

- Posted career-high 189-yards rushing vs. Arizona (12/12/99).

How Acquired: Drafted by Washington in 4th round of 1996 (103rd overall).

2001 Season: Davis came off two consecutive Pro Bowl seasons to have arguably the best season of his career. He was named a second-alternate in the NFC Pro Bowl after starting in all 16 games in 2001. He broke his own single-season Redskins rushing record (1,405 in 2000) after finishing the season with 1,432 yards. He also caught 28 passes for 205 yards. Davis's season got off to a slow start, averaging 54.8 yards per game in the first four contests. His production picked up in Weeks 5 and 6 at Dallas (10/15) and vs. Carolina (10/21) when he rushed for 99 yards in each game. He broke the 100-yard mark vs. NYG (10/28) when he rushed 29 times for 107 yards. The next week vs. Seattle (11/4) his 142-yard rushing performance pushed him ahead of Terry Allen to third all-time on the Redskins' list with 2,402 career rushing yards. He also scored the Redskins' first rushing touchdown for the season, a one-yard scamper. In Week 10 at Denver (11/18), he ran for 97 yards, including a season-long 32-yard run in the Redskins 17-10 upset over the Broncos. The next week in Philadelphia, he ran for 79 yards before leaving the game late in the fourth quarter with a strained lower back he suffered in the first quarter. The next week he was on the cover of the December 3, 2001 issue of Sports Illustrated along with left tackle Chris Samuels after the Redskins became the first team in NFL history to win five straight after losing the first five games of the season. He became the first running back in Redskins history to rush for 1,000-plus yards in three consecutive seasons when he rushed for 110 yards in Week 13 at Arizona (12/9). He also scored his second touchdown of the season on a one-yard TD run. He rushed for 111 yards the next week vs. Philadelphia and caught three passes for a season-high 35 yards. In Week 16 at New Orleans (12/30), he rushed 21 times for 111 yards and a touchdown before leaving the game late in the third with a mild right knee sprain. Davis gave a career performance the next week in the season finale vs. Arizona (1/6) when he rushed for 148 yards on 38 carries and one touchdown. The yardage gave him a season total of 1,432 yards, a career single-season best for him, as well as a Redskin team record. His 38 carries gave him a season total of 356, also a career single-season best, and moves him to third on the Redskins all-time list with 1,176 career rushes. The 148-yard game was the second time he ended a season with six 100-yard rushing efforts and now has him third in Redskins history for most 100-yard games (17). Davis finished the season ranked third in the NFL and first in the NFC in rushing yardage.

Pro Career - 2000: Davis helped fuel the NFC's fifth-rated offense. He rushed for 1,318 yards, third-best in the NFC, on 332 carries (4.0 avg.). He also gained 313 receiving yards on 33 catches, both career-high numbers. His total yards (1,631) was seventh-best in the NFC. He also became the fifth Redskin with back-to-back 1,000-yard rushing seasons; Terry Allen last did it in 1995 and 1996. Davis also ran for 11 TDs, the second-most in the NFC, and has 33 on the ground in his career, the fourth-most ever for a Redskin. He scored 66 points, all on the ground, and has 28 TDs in his last 29 starts. He was second in the NFC with 71 rushing first downs and third in the NFC with 83 first downs overall. He converted 7-of-11 third-down situations. He posted five 100-yard games, the first one in the season-opener vs. Carolina, when he rushed 23 times for 133 yards and scored on a two-yard run to cap the season's first drive. He had a solid all-around game in Week 3 vs. Dallas, gaining 91 yards on 25 carries with TDs on seven- and one-yard runs and catching a season-high five passes for a team-high 54 yards and three first downs. Two weeks later vs. TB, he rushed for a season-high 141 yards on 28 carries, including a season-long 50-yard TD run in the second quarter. It was the longest run the Bucs defense allowed all season. It was also the first of six straight games in which he scored. Davis rushed 23 times for 84 yards and scored on a twelve-yard TD run at the Eagles in Week 6. He added three catches for 37 yards. The next week vs. Baltimore, he gained 91 yards on 21 rushes and ripped off a 33-yard TD run in the fourth quarter that broke open a 3-3 game in the Redskins 10-3 victory. In Week 8 at Jacksonville, he ran 24 times for 114 yards, scoring on a one-yard run on the game's first drive and a 16-yard run in the fourth period that sealed the 33-16 Redskins victory. He ran 30 times for 124 yards with a one-yard TD in Week 10 at Arizona and caught two passes for 62 yards, including a career-long 39-yarder. Davis carried 19 times for 85 yards and caught three passes for 21 yards in Week 11 at St. Louis but suffered a hairline fracture of his right forearm while making a block. He was third in the NFL with 1,073 yards rushing at the time. He wore a protective arm cast for the last four games and averaged only 42 yards in Weeks 13, 14 and 15. But in the season-finale, he rushed for 100 yards on 27 carries with a long of 22. It was the 11th time in his career he topped 100 yards. 1999: Davis rushed for 1,405 yards, first in the NFC and third in the NFL behind the Colts Edgerrin James (1,553) and NYJ Curtis Martin (1,464). His yardage total was a Redskins single-season record, surpassing Terry Allen's mark of 1,353 yards in 1996. Davis also led the NFL with a 4.8 average per carry and 104 points, the most by a RB. He rushed for all of his TDs (17) and ran for a two-point conversion. He also gained 111 yards receiving and finished tied for fifth in the NFC with the Cowboys' Emmitt Smith for total yards gained (1,515). He was named to the NFC Pro Bowl Team and received The Quarterback Club Redskins Player of the Year Award. After earning the starting RB position in training camp, he posted six 100-yard-plus rushing games, the first on opening day vs. Dallas, when he ran for a then career-high 109 yards. It was the first time a Redskins back ran for more than 100 yards in a game since Terry Allen in Week 9 of 1997 vs. the Bears. The next week, Davis ran for 126 yards on 23 carries and tied a Redskins single-game record with three TDs. He was the first Redskin to record consecutive 100-yard-plus rushing days since Reggie Brooks in Weeks 7 and 8 in 1993. In Week 7 vs. Chicago, he ripped off a 76-yard TD run to ignite the Skins in their 48-22 win. He ran for 143 yards and two TDs on the day. After a season-low 33 yards in Week 8 vs. Buffalo, he rushed for 122 yards on 25 carries and two TDs in Week 9 at Philadelphia. He then rushed for 183 yards in Week 10 vs. the Giants, surpassing the 1,000-yard mark. He was named NFC Offensive Player of the Week and received a game ball. He rushed for a career-high 189 yards in Week 13 vs. Arizona. It was his sixth 100-yard-plus rushing game, tying him with Redskins great Larry Brown for the second-highest total of such games in team history. (Brown did it six times in 1970 and 1972, and Bob Goode did it seven times in 1951.) At the time, Davis led the NFL with 1,335 yards and appeared headed to the league rushing title. But after gaining 70 yards in Week 14 at Indianapolis, he sprained his left ankle early in the second quarter and left the game. He was ruled inactive for the final two regular-season games. He returned with a bang in the Redskins 27-14 win over Detroit in the NFC Wild Card Playoff, rushing 15 times for 119 yards and two TDs before leaving the game with a sprained right knee midway in the second quarter. His 58-yard run tied for the longest run in Redskins post-season history with Timmy Smith, who had a 58-yarder in Super Bowl XXII in January 1988. In all, Davis sparked the Redskins to a 223-yard rushing day, the third-highest total in the team's postseason history. 1998: Davis' playing time increased dramatically. He played in all 16 games and started twelve, including eleven at FB. He began the season as the back-up to RB Terry Allen. In the first four weeks, he carried the ball eight times for 25 yards. But in Week 5 vs. Dallas, he moved to FB and proved to be versatile in the Redskins backfield. Besides adjusting to his role as the lead blocker for Allen and Skip Hicks, he became a threat to catch the ball out of the backfield with his speed and good hands. In Week 8 vs. the Giants, he led the team in receiving with five catches for 65 yards, including a twelve-yard TD catch that helped the Redskins notch their first victory. It was his first TD of the season and his first career TD catch. Perhaps his best game of the season was in Week 12, when he was integral in a victory over Oakland. He led all receivers for the second time that season, amassing seven catches for 110 yards, including a 19-yard strike for his second TD. He added a career-long catch of 30 yards. He had four catches for 62 yards in the Redskins win over Carolina in Week 14. He started at RB in Week 16 vs. Dallas due to injuries to Allen and Hicks, rushing 17 times for 70 yards. For the season, Davis recorded career-highs of 21 catches for

REDSKINS RUSHING

Stephen Davis rushed for 1,432 yards in 2001, moving up to third all-time in Redskins history for most career rushing yards gained:

	Years	Yards
1. John Riggins	1976-79, 81-85	7,472
2. Larry Brown	1969-76	5,875

4. Terry Allen	1995-98	4,086
5. Earnest Byner	1989-93	3,950

263 yards and two TDs. He also rushed 34 times for 109 yards. He made five tackles and 21 blocks on special teams. His biggest play on special teams came in Week 9 vs. the Cardinals. He recovered a Redskins on-side kick with 1:04 left in the game that led to the go-ahead FG with 00:35 left. 1997: With Terry Allen in and out of the lineup due to nagging injuries, Davis' playing time rose from his rookie season. He rushed for 567 yards and three TDs on 141 carries. He was also a receiving threat, catching 18 passes for 134 yards. He got his first NFL start in Week 2 vs. the Steelers due to an Allen thumb injury in the game before. Davis had respectable numbers in the Week 2 loss, rushing 17 times for 66 yards with two catches for 20 yards. His big moment came in a Week 6 showdown with the Cowboys on Monday night. After Allen was injured early, Davis stepped in and rushed 22 times for 94 yards and two scores, helping lead the Redskins to victory. Davis started vs. the Oilers in Week 7 (13 rushes, 45 yards) and the Ravens in Week 8 (17 rushes, 59 yards). After returning to a reserve role for a few weeks, he started in Week 14 vs. the Cardinals in a must-win game, leading the team in rushing (20 carries, 92 yards) and receiving (six catches, 27 yards). He also started in Week 15 vs. NYG (ten carries, 41 yards) and in the season-finale vs. the Eagles (twelve rushes, 65 yards, one TD). 1996: Davis showed glimpses of greatness playing behind Pro Bowler Terry Allen. He rushed 23 times for 139 yards (6.0 avg.). His 39-yard TD run vs. NYG was the team's second-longest run of the year. In the RFK Stadium finale, Davis came in late to rush eight times for 35 yards and his second career TD.

College/Personal: Davis gained 1,068 yards (5.9 avg.) and scored 14 TDs as a senior at Auburn. He was a consensus All-SEC First-Team choice. He tallied 17 TDs on the year, tying Bo Jackson's single-season school record. Davis ended his Auburn career fourth on the school's all-time rushing list with 2,811 yards, trailing Joe Cribbs, James Brooks and Jackson. An All-SEC First-Team pick by Football News and AP as a junior, Davis led the Tigers with 221 carries for 1,263 yards (5.7 avg.) and 13 TDs. He was named SEC Offensive Player of the Week after gaining a career-high 246 yards on 27 carries with TD runs of 1, 24 and 53 yards in a win over Arkansas. He saw backup action in nine games as a sophomore, gaining 480 yards on 87 carries (5.5 avg.) with three TDs. In his first college action, Davis gained 125 yards on 18 attempts with two TDs. He arrived at Auburn with fanfare. He was Football News National Player of the Year and USA Today Offensive Player of the Year as a senior at Spartanburg (S.C.) High School. He ran for a school-record 2,448 yards (9.2 avg.) and 32 TDs as a senior, leading the team to the Class 4A state title. His final prep numbers were 4,501 yards on 535 carries with 53 TDs and 5,425 all-purpose yards. In the state title game as a senior, he rushed 30 times for 230 yards and two scores. At Spartanburg, Davis won the state 100-meter dash title twice. He graduated with a degree in vocational education from Auburn. In 1999, Davis spearheaded the Redskins "Hometown Huddle" project with Habitat for Humanity when he helped build a home in Washington, D.C. He and his wife, Dee Dee, live in Herndon, Va. He has four children: Dentia, Sherrell, Stephen Jr., and Stephanie. During the off-season, the Davis family resides in Blythewood, SC.

Career Highlights:

- Played in his first NFL game at Cincinnati while with the Indianapolis Colts (12/20/96).
- Recorded 143 catches for 2,107 yards as a three-year starter with Coach Steve Spurrier at Florida.

How Acquired: Signed by Washington as an unrestricted free agent on February 21, 2002.

NFL Acquisition: Chosen in the sixth round (185th overall) by Jacksonville in the 1996 NFL Draft.

2000 Season: After spending the 2001 season out of football, Doering was excelling in Denver's 2000 Training Camp before rupturing his Achilles tendon in the preseason opener at Arizona (8/5) and spending the season on injured reserve. At the conclusion of the season, his contract was not renewed and he was without a team.

Pro Career - 1999: Doering saw action on offense and special teams for the Broncos in the first three games of the season (vs. Mia., 9/13; at K.C., 9/19 and at T.B., 9/26). He posted career highs for both receptions (3) and yards (22) in the opener vs. Miami, playing extensively in the 2nd half while starter Rod Smith was out with a strained groin. He established his spot on the roster with a strong preseason showing that saw him rank second on the club in receptions, with 15 for 188 yards (12.5 avg.) and one touchdown.

1998: Doering was waived by Indianapolis Feb. 20, 1998, then signed by Cincinnati Feb. 25, and went through camp with the Bengals before being waived Sept. 2. He then spent the remainder of the season out of football. 1997: Doering spent most of the season on the Colts' practice squad before being signed to the active roster for the final three games. He was active but did not play vs. the Jets (12/7), then saw his first action vs. Miami (12/14) and closed the season with two catches for 12 yards at Minnesota (12/21). 1996: Doering, who was originally drafted by Jacksonville in the sixth round (185th overall), finished the season with Indianapolis after being waived by the Jaguars Aug. 19. He was signed to the Colts' practice squad Aug. 27 and then elevated to the active roster Dec. 20. Doering made one catch for 10 yards at Cincinnati, Dec. 20. He spent games 1-15 on the practice squad and was inactive for the Colts' playoff game at Pittsburgh Dec. 29.

College/Personal: Doering was a four-year letterman and three-year starter at Florida, catching 149 passes for 2,107 yards and a Southeastern Conference-record 31 touchdowns. The receptions and yardage totals ranked fourth in school history. He was a second-team AP All-American and a first-team All-SEC pick as a senior, leading the team and ranking 17th in the country with 70 receptions for 1,045 yards and a conference-record 17 TDs. After redshirting in 1991, Doering played in four games as a freshman, every game as a sophomore (5 starts) and all 13 as a junior (7 starts), catching 35 passes for 496 yards and seven TDs. He holds a degree in journalism/telecommunications from Florida and was an SEC Academic Honor Roll student. Doering attended P.K. Yonge High School in Gainesville, Fla., where he lettered in football, basketball and baseball. He was an all-state player in football and as a shortstop in baseball and helped the basketball team to the state title as a senior. Christopher Paul Doering was born May 19, 1973 in Gainesville, Fla. Chris has a local cable television show in the Gainesville, Fla., area that focuses on golf throughout the Central Florida region, talking with various professional golfers. DL
Height: 6-5
Weight: 287
Birthdate: 12-19-69
Baylor
11th NFL Season

Career Highlights:

- One of pro football's best all-around interior defensive linemen, utilizes an effective combination of strong pass-rushing skills and superior run-stuffing ability to control the middle of the defensive trenches.
- A veteran of 152 games, with 129 starts, has accumulated 312 tackles (170 solo), including 49 sacks, 27 passes defended, 11 forced fumbles and six fumble recoveries.
- Appeared in seven career playoff games (all starts), making 25 tackles (14 solo), including 1.5 sacks, and two passes defended.
- Experienced his first missed game as a pro in 1999, ending a streak of 114 consecutive games played (121 including playoffs).
- Led Tampa Bay in sacks in two of his four seasons, including 1992 when he was a consensus pick as NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year.
- Posted 195 tackles (140 solo), five forced fumbles, four fumble recoveries and eight passes defended over his four seasons with the Buccaneers.
- Notched 23 career QB takedowns for Bucs, fourth on that club's all-time sacks list when he left.

NFL Acquisition: Chosen in the fifth round (132nd overall) by Tampa Bay in the 1992 NFL Draft.

How Acquired: Signed by Washington as an unrestricted free agent on June 4, 2002.

2001 Season: Dotson reclaimed his job as the Packers' starter at defensive tackle following rehabilitation of the torn quadriceps that ended his 2000 campaign in late November. He made his first start in Week 4, at Tampa Bay (10/7). Dotson played in all 16 games for the eighth time as a pro (also 1992-98), starting the last 13 contests. He had 3.5 sacks (tied for fifth on the team) among 39 total tackles, along with one forced fumble, one pass defended, nine pressures and 12 QB hits. He also started both playoff games, contributing six total tackles plus two passes defended. Dotson tallied a season-high 6 tackles against the Ravens, along with one pressure and three QB hits. He sacked the Redskins' Jeff George in a Monday night victory over Washington (9/24) and posted a decisive fourth-quarter sack of the Lions' Mike McMahon in a Thanksgiving Day win at Detroit (11/22). He shared an early sack of the Bucs' Brad Johnson with teammate Vonnie Holliday and finished with four tackles against Tampa Bay (11/4). He also recorded three stops in postseason games against San Francisco (1/13) and at St. Louis (1/20), adding two pass breakups in the Rams contest. He served as one of Green Bay's six game captains throughout the postseason and was voted by his teammates as the Packers' 2001 recipient of the Ed Block Courage Award, presented annually to a player for his "commitment to the principles of sportsmanship and courage" in returning to the field.

Pro Career - 2000: Dotson started at defensive tackle in 11 of the first 12 games before suffering a partially torn quadriceps muscle above the patella tendon in his right leg in a Monday night contest at Carolina (11/27). Subsequently, he was placed on injured reserve on Nov. 29 and underwent surgery to repair the muscle on Dec. 1. Dotson finished his year with 58 total tackles (34 solo), ranking him second among the club's defensive linemen and sixth overall, with six sacks. Dotson posted a strong performance in a win over Philadelphia (9/17), tying the team high with eight tackles, including 1.5 sacks. He also had eight stops vs. Chicago (10/1) and a sack of the Bears' Cade McNown. Against Miami (10/29), he made a season-high nine tackles. In a victory over San Francisco (10/15), Dotson harassed 49ers QB Jeff Garcia, posting one pressure and two QB hits, to go with a season-high 2 passes defended. He made 5 tackles in a Monday night win against Minnesota (11/6) and notched 5 tackles, two pressures and one QB hit vs. the N.Y. Jets in the season opener (9/3). 1999:

Dotson started 12 contests at defensive tackle. He finished his season with 35 tackles (17 solo), including 2.5 sacks, one forced fumble and three passes defended. He started the season's first two regular-season games before suffering a severe stinger in the game at Detroit (9/19). Dotson's subsequent inactive status vs. the Vikings marked the first time in his NFL career he had not played, which ended a streak of 114 consecutive games played (121 including playoffs). He returned to action against Seattle (11/1). He registered a season-high 6 tackles, including a sack of Rich Gannon, in the opening contest vs. Oakland (9/12) and equaled that total with 6 stops at Tampa Bay (12/26). He made a season-high 7 stops in a rain-soaked loss to Minnesota (10/5) after posting a key performance in a 23-15 victory over Tampa Bay (9/13), in which he registered four tackles, including a sack, 1 forced fumble and 1 pass defended. In the season-opening 38-19 win over Detroit (9/6), Dotson's initial hit on Lions quarterback Scott Mitchell on a fourth-and-one sneak, allowed for the ball to be stripped by Brian Williams and subsequently snatched up by Butler, who scampered 32 yards for a touchdown. 1998: Dotson started all 16 games at defensive tackle for the second straight season. He recorded 43 stops (28 solo), including 3 sacks, to finish second (to Reggie White) in tackles among the club's defensive linemen, ninth on the team overall. He also added 1 fumble recovery, 1 forced fumble, 5 passes defended (the second-highest total of his pro career) and posted 5-or-more tackles in four games. He made a season-high 7 stops in a rain-soaked loss to Minnesota (Oct. 5) after posting a key performance in a 23-15 victory over Tampa Bay (Sept. 13), in which he registered 4 tackles, including a sack, 1 forced fumble and 1 pass defended. 1997: Dotson started at defensive tackle in all 16 regular-season games for the second time as a pro and was the club's starter for all three playoff contests, including Super Bowl XXXII. He had the most tackles by a Green Bay defensive lineman with 67 (48 solo) and tied (with Gabe Wilkins) for second on the Packers with 5.5 sacks, matching his 1996 total. He also forced 2 fumbles, broke up 2 passes and finished tops among Green Bay linemen during the postseason with 15 tackles (8 solo). Dotson had perhaps his best game of the season at Indianapolis (11/16), when he recorded a season-high two sacks on seven tackles and a forced fumble right before halftime which led to a Green Bay touchdown. He registered eight stops (his regular-season best), and a sack, one week earlier in a win over St. Louis (11/9). Dotson made five tackles, including a shared sack with White, in Green Bay's 27-11 win at Minnesota (12/1) and recorded four tackles in a divisional playoff win over Tampa Bay (1/4). He also equaled his career best with 10 tackles against Denver in Super Bowl XXXII (12/25). 1996: Dotson started 15 of Green Bay's 16 regular-season games at defensive tackle for the league's No. 1-ranked defense, his only non-start of the season came at Dallas (11/18) when the Packers opened in a 3-4 defense. He also started all three playoff games, including Super Bowl XXXI, in the first post-season action of his pro career. He recorded 45 tackles to rank second among club defensive linemen and ninth on the team overall. Dotson finished third on the club in sacks with 5.5 sacks, the second-highest output of his career (10 in 1992), had a forced fumble, a fumble recovery and 6 passes defended. Dotson had one of his best games in a Green Bay uniform in a 28-18 win over Detroit (11/3), notching a season-high 2 sacks among five tackles, two additional quarterback pressures, a forced fumble and batted down a season-best two passes at the line of scrimmage. He posted a team-leading 1.5 sacks in a Monday night game against Philadelphia (9/9), including a shared sack with White for a safety in 39-13 win and made a season-high 6 tackles in a overtime win vs. San Francisco (10/14). Dotson had a fourth-quarter sack among 3 total tackles, plus a pass defended, in the Super Bowl triumph over New England (1/26). Dotson signed with Green Bay on March 7 as an unrestricted free agent after playing his first four NFL seasons with Tampa Bay. 1995: Appearing in all 16 games for the Buccaneers in his final season with the team, Dotson started eight contests as he alternated with '95 first-round draft choice Warren Sapp. He made eight consecutive starts at right defensive tackle beginning with the Bucs' sixth game vs. Cincinnati (Oct. 8). He led Tampa Bay with five sacks, the second time in four years he led the team in that category and posted 38 tackles, two fumbles recoveries and two pass break ups. Dotson was named the Bucs' 'Player of the Game' for excellent performance in front of hometown Houston fans 10/29, when he tallied a season-high 9 tackles plus a sack and fumble recovery vs. the Oilers. 1994: Dotson saw action in all 16 contests, including starts in nine of the team's first 10 games (seven at right defensive tackle and two at left end). He finished the season with 23 tackles (18 solo), two passes defended and tied for second on the club with three sacks. He made a season-best four tackles in consecutive games, against San Francisco and Minnesota (10/30). 1993: Dotson played in all 16 games with 13 starts (11 at right defensive tackle, two at left end). He ranked fifth on the squad with 63 tackles (41 solo), five sacks (tied for second on team), a club-leading three forced fumbles and a pass defended. He led Tampa Bay defensive linemen in tackles for the second straight season. Dotson made a season-best 8 tackles and forced a fumble vs. the 49ers (11/14), and had three other 8-tackle performances. 1992: Dotson enjoyed a sensational rookie campaign which saw him win multiple league rookie accolades. He was named NFL 'Rookie of the Year' by The Sporting News, chosen NFL 'Defensive Rookie of the Year' by both Football Digest and College & Pro Football Newsweekly and was honored as the NFC's 'Defensive Rookie of the Year' by NFLPA/USA Today. He was also a consensus all-rookie pick and had a career-best 71 tackles (57 solo), including a career-high 10 sacks, plus two forced fumbles, two fumble recoveries and three passes defended. Dotson broke the Tampa Bay rookie sack record, doubling the previous mark of 5 shared by Hall of Famer Lee Roy Selmon (1976) and Chris Washington (1984). He became just the third player in team history to record a double-digit sack total (Selmon 1977-79, '83 and Broderick Thomas 1991). He started all 16 games, 14 at right defensive tackle and the final two at left end. Dotson had nine tackles, including two sacks and a forced fumble, in his first NFL regular-season game, Sept. 6 against Phoenix. He made a career-best 10 tackles and had 2 sacks in a 31-3 victory over Green Bay (9/13) and scored his only career touchdown when he scooped up a fourth-quarter Barry Sanders fumble and returned it 42 yards for a score (9/27) at Detroit. Dotson also had a sack in the 27-23 triumph over the Lions, earning NFC 'Defensive Player of the Week' honors in the process. He recorded 2 sacks vs. Minnesota (11/8) for his third multiple sack game of season and contributed 7 tackles and a sack against San Francisco (12/19). Dotson was the second of two fifth-round selections (132nd overall) by Tampa Bay in the 1992 draft, a pick that had been obtained from Kansas City for linebacker Ervin Randle.

College/Personal: Dotson was a three-year starter and four-time letter winner (1988-91) at Baylor after redshirting in 1987. He finished his collegiate career with 193 total tackles, including 18 sacks, plus 4 forced fumbles and 1 fumble recovery. He was a three-time first-team All-Southwest Conference pick and a consensus first-team All-America selection as a senior, when he registered 60 tackles, 4 sacks and 2 blocked kicks. Dotson was also a finalist for both the Outland and Lombardi trophies and named as SWC 'Defensive Player of the Year'. He earned conference 'Newcomer of the Year' recognition from the Dallas Morning News as a freshman despite his reserve role. He holds a B.A. degree in telecommunications and his given name is Santana N. Dotson, named after Native American Chief Santana whose philosophy was "with unity comes strength." Born in New Orleans, Dotson's Nickname is 'S.D.' He is married to Monique and they share a son, Khari (born 1/12/96), and two daughters, Amani (born 3/24/97) and Sanaa (born 11/1/00). Dotson was a prep All-America selection in football at Jack Yates High School in Houston where he lettered three times, helping lead his team to a three-year record of 36-4, including the 1985 state title. He also earned one letter in track as a discus thrower and shot putter. His father, Alphonse, was a second-round draft choice of Green Bay in 1965, who instead chose to sign with the rival AFL's Kansas City Chiefs, playing five years professionally as a defensive lineman with the Chiefs (1965), Miami (1966) and Oakland (1968-70). While in GB, he was actively involved with Big Brothers/Big Sisters in NE Wisconsin and Houston and he set up a scholarship fund through his high school for kids in extracurricular activities who attain a certain GPA. He oversees operation of the Santana Dotson Foundation in Houston, which, among its many charitable endeavors, gives scholarships to inner-city kids who otherwise could not afford to go to college (an undertaking he has sponsored in some manner for the last ten years). The Santana Dotson Foundation holds an annual Scholarship Fundraising Weekend in April, an event which featured a banquet and silent auction, a celebrity pool tournament and a softball

Career Highlights:

- Recorded his first career touchdown reception at Denver (11/18)
- Made first career start at New Orleans (12/30)
- Made his first NFL reception, an eight-yard gain, on the fourth play of the 2000 season.

How Acquired: Signed by Washington as an undrafted free agent on April 23, 2000.

2001 Season: Flemister had a strong second year as a pro playing in all 16 games with one start. He compiled 17 receptions for 196 yards and two touchdowns. He finished fifth on the Redskins in special teams tackles with 13. Flemister recorded two receptions for 32 yards in a 35-21 victory vs. New York Giants (10/28). He made two catches for 33 yards, including a 23-yard reception that set up Ki-Jana Carter's five-yard touchdown in the second quarter at Philadelphia (11/25). He compiled two catches for 18 yards including the three-yard touchdown catch (first career) from Kent Graham for the game winner at Denver (11/18). Flemister recorded one reception for two yards and a touchdown (Banks, 2 yards) at Arizona (12/9). He started at tight end (first career start), hauling in three receptions for 32 yards, and a long of 14 yards at New Orleans (12/30).

Pro Career - 2000 Season: Flemister played in five games as a rookie and made his first NFL catch, an eight-yard gain, on the fourth play of Week 1 vs. Dallas. He was inactive for two games and played again at NYG in Week 4 before being inactive for the next nine contests. He saw significant action on all special teams units in the final three games at Dallas (12/10), at Pittsburgh (12/16) and vs. Arizona (12/24). He made two solo tackles on special teams.

College/Personal: Flemister started all seven games that he played for Iowa in 1999, missing four due to a pinched nerve. He played in three post-season All-Star games. Flemister caught five passes for 69 yards as a junior. He sat out the 1997 season after earning his first letter in 1996, seeing action at TE and on special teams. He redshirted in 1995. He majored in sport, health leisure and physical studies. Flemister was team captain and MVP as a senior at West High School in Sioux City, IA. He set a school and city single-game rushing record of 326 yards. He also lettered in track and field and baseball. Flemister visited with patients at the Children's National Medical Center, making ornaments and holiday cards in December of 2001. He attended Knock Out Abuse, an event that benefits the House of Ruth, a local shelter for battered and abused women and children.

- Started all 16 games as a rookie.
- Caught his first career pass in the season opener at San Diego (9/9/01).
- Caught first career TD pass vs. Kansas City (9/30/01).
- Had NFL's best single-game performance in 2001 when he made six receptions for 208 yards, including a career- and Redskin-season long 85-yard touchdown reception (10/21/01).
- Led the team in average yards per reception (minimum 20 receptions) with 16.1 in 2001.
- Led the team in receiving yardage (741) in 2001.

How Acquired: Drafted in the first round (15th overall) in the 2001 NFL Draft.

2001 Season: Gardner started all 16 games as a rookie, lining up across from veteran wide receiver Michael Westbrook. He finished second on the team with 46 receptions, including crowd pleasing 85-, 57-, 52-, and 40-yard receptions. He caught five passes in his first NFL start in Week 1 at San Diego (9/9). In Week 3 vs. Kansas City (9/30), he grabbed five passes including his first touchdown pass, a 26-yarder from quarterback Tony Banks. He beat Giants cornerback Jason Sehorn for a 52-yard reception and earned the game ball in Week 4 (10/7). Gardner's game of the season came the next week vs. Carolina when he had six receptions for 208 yards, helping the Redskins capture their first win of the season. The performance included an 85-yard touchdown reception to tie the game and a 47-yard reception in overtime to set up the game-winning field goal. The 34.7 average per reception and the 85-yarder were his best efforts all season. The game was the NFL's best single-game performance by any receiver in 2001 and earned him NFC Offensive Player of the Week honors for Week 6. Gardner kept the energy up in Week 7 vs. NYG when he caught a 12-yard touchdown pass 1:39 into the first quarter, giving the Redskins an early lead and their second victory of the season. At Philadelphia (11/25), he made a critical third-and-long conversion late in the fourth quarter. The 13-yard reception allowed the Redskins to run down the clock and also set up a game clinching field goal. The win was the fifth consecutive for the Redskins and made them the first team in NFL history to win five straight games after losing their first five of the season. His 40-yard reception in Arizona (12/9) set up running back Stephen Davis' one-yard touchdown run in Washington's 20-10 victory. Gardner had three receptions for 70 yards with a 57-yard catch on the 7-yard line and led to a field goal. The next week vs. Chicago (12/23), he matched his single-game high and six receptions. He finished the season with 46 receptions for a team high 741 yards and four touchdowns.

College/Personal: Gardner ended his collegiate career as one of the most prolific receivers in Clemson history, with 166 receptions for 2,498 yards and 13 touchdowns. In his senior season, he tallied 58 catches for 1,050 yards (18.1 avg.) and seven TDs, all team highs. He was named first-team All-America by The Sports Xchange, Gannett News Service and College & Pro Football Newsweekly. He was also first-team All-ACC and a semifinalist for the Fred Biletnikoff Award, which goes annually to the nation's top receiver. Gardner's numbers dipped from his junior season largely because the 9-3 Tigers ran the ball much more in 2000. As a junior, Gardner became an impact player in coach Tommy Bowden's pass-oriented offense. He set school single-season records of 80 catches and 1,084 yards, topping Tony Horne's 1997 marks of 70 catches and 907 yards. He also caught four TDs. He was second-team All-ACC, finishing second in the conference and 17th in the nation in total catches. He ranked third in the ACC and 23rd in the nation in reception yards per game. He was 10th in the ACC in all-purpose yards, a major feat given that he gained all but one yard through the air. He caught at least five passes in nine games, including the Peach Bowl against Mississippi State, when he posted seven catches for 75 yards. Gardner played in eleven games and started three in his sophomore season, catching 20 passes for 263 yards (13.2 avg.) and a TD. In 1997, Gardner moved from DB to WR and played in twelve games and started two, making eight catches for 101 yards (12.6 avg.) with a TD. Gardner redshirted as a freshman. He played on the scout team as a QB and split end but moved to strong safety after the season during spring drills. Gardner starred at Raines High in Jacksonville, FL. He played QB and amassed 1,200 passing yards with ten TDs and 700 rushing yards with seven TDs as a senior. He posted 2,500 all-purpose yards with 40 TDs in his last two seasons. He was All-Southeast and All-Florida and made the Jacksonville Super-24 Team. He was All-Area, All-Conference, All-Region and All-State, as well. He also started for three years in basketball and baseball and was ranked the seventh-best athlete in the Southeast by the National Recruiting Advisor. He was All-Conference in basketball and was named the basketball and football team MVP. Gardner wore No. 23 at Clemson in honor of one of his idols, Michael Jordan. He graduated with a degree in human resources. Gardner is very active in the D.C. metro community, currently the spokesman for the Washington Redskins Leadership Council's Redskins Read program. He is in the process of setting up his own foundation to make a difference in his Redskins community, as well as his hometown.

How Acquired: Drafted by Washington in first round of 1983 (28th overall).

2001 Season: "Mr. Redskin" showed no signs of slowing down at age 41. With his 19th season as a Redskin, he and Tennessee Titans center Bruce Matthews moved into a tie for second all-time with Jim Marshall for the most seasons with one team. He played in all 16 games and started four. In addition to his unparalleled talent on the field, Green is a strong leader for the team. Many teammates credit him with helping to turn the season around when he gave the team some much needed encouragement during a team meeting the night before the 10/21 Carolina game. The next day the team beat the Panthers 17-14 and went on to win their next four games and became the first team in NFL history to win five straight after losing their first five contests. He played in a reserve role for the first five weeks of the season, playing back-up to rookie cornerback Fred Smoot and coming in primarily on nickel situations. He saw significant playing time in Week 5 at Dallas (10/15), when Smoot went down with a knee injury. The next week vs. Carolina (10/21), he made his 251st start of his career, in place of the injured Smoot and led the Redskins in tackles with seven and one pass deflection. He started the next two games vs. NYG (10/28) and vs. Seattle (11/4) before returning to a reserve role to make way for a healthy Smoot. He made a key fourth-down play at Philadelphia (11/25) when he broke up quarterback Donovan McNabb's pass, giving the ball back to the Skins to run the clock down and beat the Eagles 13-3. In the next match-up against Philadelphia (12/16), Green intercepted a McNabb pass and extended his all-time NFL record to 19 consecutive seasons with at least one interception. He pressured Saints quarterback Aaron Brooks, forcing an interception by Dan Wilkinson at New Orleans (12/30) in Week 16. Green started in the season finale vs. Arizona and recorded two tackles. He finished the season with 35 tackles (32 solo), seven pass deflections and one interception.

Pro Career - 2000: Green played in his 18th season in Washington, tying him for third all-time with Jim Hart, Jeff Van Note, Pat Leahy and Bruce Matthews for most seasons with one team. He intercepted three passes, increasing his NFL record, with at least one INT in 18 straight seasons. He has 53 INTs and is tied for third with Eric Allen among active INT leaders. He holds the Redskins INT record (53) and has six more in the playoffs. He has picked off 41 different QBs. Green played in 13 games and started two, increasing his Redskins record for most regular-season games played (263) and started (250). He also made 23 tackles (20 solo), added ten passes defended and forced two fumbles. He posted three special teams tackles. Green backed up Deion Sanders most of the season at right CB. He didn't start on opening day vs. Carolina, breaking his streak of 119 straight games started, including playoffs. In Week 4 vs. TB, he intercepted a Shaun King pass in the first quarter and recovered a Keyshawn Johnson fumble in the fourth in Bucs territory, leading to a Skins TD and a 20-17 win. Green was clutch again the next week at the Eagles. With :36 left and the score tied at 14, he picked off a Donovan McNabb pass and returned it 33 yards. The play set up Michael Husted's 24-yard FG that accounted for the Skins 17-14 win. Green strained a calf muscle in the first quarter vs. Baltimore in Week 7 and didn't return. He was inactive for the next three games but returned to make his first start in Week 11 on Monday night at the Rams, who opened with four WRs. He made a season-high five tackles (four solo) and defended one pass. He made his 250th career start in Week 12 vs. Philadelphia. In the season-finale vs. Arizona, he intercepted his third pass of the season and made four solo tackles. 1999: Green played in his 17th season for the Redskins, establishing himself as the leader in franchise longevity. He surpassed 16-year Redskins Sammy Baugh and Monte Coleman. He started all 16 regular season games at right CB and intercepted three passes to set an NFL record for INTs in consecutive seasons (17). By the end of the playoffs, he'd started in 119 straight games and 265 of 267 games in his career, including 17 postseason starts. On the season, Green tallied 76 tackles (sixth on the team), 15 passes defended and one fumble recovery. He posted seven special teams tackles. He made seven tackles vs. Dallas (six solo) on opening day. Two weeks later vs. NYJ, he intercepted a pass. He also totaled five tackles and two passes defended in that game, earning a game ball. In Week 11 vs. NYG, Green caused an INT, intercepted his 49th pass and posted three solo tackles, two assists and one pass defended. He received another game ball after the Redskins beat Arizona in Week 14. He made his 50th career INT, two solo tackles and one assist. Showing no signs of slowing down, he made nine solo tackles in Week 16 at SF. He made four tackles in the Wild Card Playoff vs. Detroit and intercepted a pass in the Divisional Playoff at TB. 1998: Green was named a second alternate to the NFC Pro Bowl team after recording three INTs, 87 tackles and a team-high 22 passes defended. The speedster also saved TDs by chasing down some of the NFL's fastest men, including Jerry Rice, Napoleon Kaufman and Frank Sanders. In Week 2 vs. SF, Green made eight stops, including a TD-saving tackle from across the field on Rice. He kept dangerous Vikings rookie WR Randy Moss in check in Week 7. His first INT was in Week 12 at Oakland. He also made four solo tackles, deflected a pass that Shawn Barber intercepted and used his speed to catch Kaufman from behind. He was named NFC Defensive Player of the Week. His INT in Week 14 vs. the Panthers ended their final drive and preserved a Redskin victory. A week later, he intercepted a Trent Diller pass with 1:04 left that secured the Skins' 20-16 win over TB. 1997: Green went to the Pro Bowl for the seventh time in his 15th NFL season. He passed Monte Coleman in most games played for the Redskins (217) in Week 15 at NYG. In the season-finale vs. the Eagles, he intercepted a Bobby Hoying pass and returned it a career-high 83 yards for a TD. That play helped Green earn NFC Defensive Player of the Week honors for the fourth time in his career. In December, he received the "The USA Today 5th Annual Most Caring Athlete Award" for his community work, which includes his creation of the Darrell Green Youth Life Foundation and Learning Center. 1996: Green had one of his best seasons and earned his sixth trip to the Pro Bowl. He intercepted three passes and made 78 tackles (52 solo, three-for-loss). He started all 16 games, playing 1,141 of the team's 1,181 defensive snaps (96 percent). 1995: Green had one of the best games of his career vs. Detroit in Week 8. He intercepted three passes, returning one seven yards in OT for the game-winning TD, and made a season-high 12 tackles. 1994: Green led the Redskins with 20 passes defended. His season highlight was in Week 7 vs. the Cardinals when he had two INTs, including a 27-yarder he returned for a TD. The INTs were the 36th and 37th of his career, as he passed Brig Owens as the Redskins all-time leader. 1993: Green made 90 tackles, the most since his rookie year. He led the team with 13 passes defended and was second with four INTs. He recovered a fumble in Week 12 vs. the Colts and ran 78 yards for a TD, the longest such play in Redskins history. He was the only NFC player with two INTs in a game, picking off a pair vs. the Eagles in Week 3 and at TB in Week 12. 1992: Green broke his right forearm in Week 2 vs. Atlanta. He missed Weeks 3-10 due to the injury. He returned and crafted his top performance in Week 14 vs. Dallas: nine tackles, three passes defended and a key forced fumble on WR Michael Irvin in the fourth quarter. He missed the Skins first-round playoff win over Minnesota with a bruised heel but saw action the next week in a Divisional Playoff at SF. He didn't make the Pro Bowl for the first time since 1989. 1991: Green went to his fifth Pro Bowl and his second straight as a starter, and was a unanimous All-Pro. He tied for the team lead with five INTs, his best mark since 1986, and posted a team-high 21 passes defended. He intercepted two passes vs. both Detroit in Week 1 and Philadelphia in Week 5. His pivotal INT in OT vs. Houston in Week 9 led to the Skins game-winning FG. He was again superb in the playoffs with two INTs. He made a season-high ten tackles vs. Dallas in Week 12. 1990: Green earned his fourth Pro Bowl appearance. He was a First-Teamer on the All-NFC team for UPI, Football News and Pro Football Weekly; and a Second-Team All-NFL choice by AP. He began the year with INTs in the first three games, a career first. In Week 3 vs. Dallas, he had seven tackles and two passes defended and capped the Skins win with an 18-yard INT return for a TD. He made a season-best ten tackles and intercepted a pass vs. SF. He also had INTs vs. Phoenix and New Orleans to finish with four. He had an INT in the Skins playoff win over Philadelphia. 1989: Green had two first-quarter INTs vs. the Cardinals in Week 5. But he fractured a wrist in Week 7 vs. TB and was lost for the season. Despite missing the final nine games, he was third on the team with five passes defended. 1988: Green led the Redskins in passes defended (14) and made some timely punt returns. His 13- and 18-yard returns vs. the Steelers in Week 2 helped set up a FG and TD in the Skins 30-29 victory. He also made a 32-yard return vs. NYG. He broke a hand in the first quarter of Week 15 vs. Dallas and left the game, after which the Cowboys threw three TD passes to beat the Redskins, 24-17. 1987: Green made one of the most memorable plays in Redskins history in the NFC Championship game. He applied a last-second hit at the goal line on Vikings RB Darrin Nelson on a fourth-down play, jarring the ball loose and securing the Redskins 17-10 victory. Green played despite tearing rib cartilage the week before in a first-round playoff game. The injury occurred when he was returning a punt 52 yards for a TD in the Redskins 21-17 win over the Bears. His regular-season highlight was a career-high three INTs in Week 10 vs. Detroit. The last one was on the Lions final possession and preserved a 20-13 Skins victory. Green went to the Pro Bowl for the third time. 1986: Green earned his second Pro Bowl trip. In Week 2, his end zone INT with :30 left sealed a 10-6 win vs. the Raiders. A bruised shoulder in Week 12 vs. Dallas forced him from the starting lineup for the first time in his career. In the playoffs, he intercepted a pass to set up a go-ahead TD in a 27-13 second-round upset of the Bears. He intercepted five passes and forced two fumbles overall. 1985: Green posted a 13.4 average on 16 punt returns, the highest such figure by a Redskins player since Eddie Brown's 13.5 in 1976. He achieved that average though his punt returns of 99 and 73 yards were nullified. He also intercepted two passes. 1984: Green intercepted a career-high five passes and earned a starting Pro Bowl spot. He had 87 tackles and a team-high 14 deflections. He also had a dramatic performance that cemented his all-star selection. With the Skins trailing Dallas 21-6 at halftime in Week 15, he returned an INT 32 yards for a TD. He later stopped a Cowboys drive with an end zone INT, and the Skins rallied for a 30-28 victory. 1983: Green set the tone for his NFL career the first time he touched the football with a 61-yard punt return in a preseason game vs. Atlanta. A contract dispute with Jeris White thrust him into the starting lineup on opening day vs. the Cowboys, and Green showed his speed by chasing down Tony Dorsett on a long run. He finished No. 4 on the team in overall tackles (109) and first in solo stops (79). He earned a runner-up spot as AP NFL Defensive Rookie of the Year and was named to the Football Digest and AP All-Rookie teams. He returned an INT 72 yards for a TD in the Redskins 51-7 NFC playoff win over the Rams.

College/Personal: Green is legendary at Texas A&I, where he was named to the Football Coaches All-American Division II team with 56 tackles and four INTs in 1982. He was the Lone Star Conference Defensive Player of the Year. He had 76- and 96-yard punt returns for TDs as a senior. Also a legend on the track, his 10.08, 100-meter time was second behind Carl Lewis as a senior. Green was all-state in track and all-city in football at Jones High School in Houston. He has won the "NFL Fastest Man" competition four times over such notable track stars as Willie Gault, Ron Brown and Herschel Walker. Green earned the title of World's Fastest Athlete in 1991. On the personal side, Green has dedicated his life to serving youth, and has demonstrated his commitment to the D.C. metro area by founding the Darrell Green Youth Life Foundation in 1988. The mission of the foundation is to open doors of opportunity for boys and girls whose circumstances limit their chances to lead educated, moral, well adjusted lives. The centerpiece of the foundation is the Youth Life Learning Center. The Center is a community based values-driven program intended to train this generation to be educationally, technically and morally excellent. Since the original center began in Northeast D.C. eight years ago, three additional centers have started in various cities around the country. The DGYLF annually hosts "Christmas with the Redskins" in conjunction with the McLean Hilton Hotel. During this special season, players from the Redskins and individuals from the community provide essential items for kids who live in Washington, D.C. area. Green has devoted his time working with the Big Brothers of America in the D.C. area, on anti-drug campaigns and other projects. Green has testified about drug prevention before a Senate Judiciary Panel and has been the Redskins representative in the NFL-sponsored United Way outreach program.

He completed his bachelor of science degree in general studies and social science on May 10, 1998, from St. Paul's College in Lawrenceville, VA. Darrell also holds an honorary doctorate from Marymount University in Arlington, VA. He's a native of Houston. He and his wife, Jewell, have three children: Jerrell, Jared and Joi. They live in Ashburn, VA.

Great Years with Green

With Darrell Green on the roster, the Redskins have compiled a win/loss record of 170-132-1, a 56.3 winning percentage. Since 1983, Green's rookie season, the Redskins have made the playoffs eight times, appeared in three Super Bowls and were twice Super Bowl Champions.

In the 1983 NFL Draft, there were six defensive backs selected in the first round. Darrell Green has outlasted all of them, and clearly stands above his class.

Career Highlights:

- Green owns 157 career receptions for 2,217 yards (14.1 avg.) with seven touchdowns during his four-year career.
- He was the first Tampa Bay player to have back-to-back 50-plus catch seasons since Lawrence Dawsey in 1991-1992.
- Has posted at least 30 receptions in three consecutive seasons (1999-2001).
- First player taken by Tampa Bay in the 1998 draft (second round, 34th overall).
- Can also return punts and kickoffs and led the Buccaneers in 1998 and 1999 in punt returns.
- Holds the Bucs record for longest punt return, a 95-yard score at Green Bay (9/13/98).
- Has played in 56 career games with 37 starts.

NFL Acquisition: Chosen in the second round (34th overall) by Tampa Bay in the 1998 NFL Draft.

How Acquired: Signed by Washington as an unrestricted free agent on March 8, 2002.

2001 Season: Green played in 12 games, hauling in 36 receptions for 402 yards on the year, totals that both ranked third on the Buccaneers. He had a standout game at Dallas (9/9), leading the team with eight receptions for 75 yards (9.4 avg.). Green had three receptions at Minnesota (9/30) for 54 yards (18.0 avg.), including a catch-and-run for a team-high 35-yard reception to set up a K Martin Gramatica FG just before the half. He then went on to post six receptions for 72 yards (12.0 avg.) at Tennessee (10/14), including a six-yard touchdown catch in the fourth quarter. Green had four receptions for 44 yards against Pittsburgh (10/21), but sat out the next three contests (Minnesota (10/28), at Green Bay (11/4) and at Detroit (11/11) due to left groin strain. He would also miss the Chicago (11/18) contest due to a left abdominal strain. He returned to action at St. Louis (11/26) with one reception for 13 yards, and broke out the following week tying teammate wide receiver Keyshawn Johnson with a game-high seven receptions for 67 yards (9.6 avg.) at Cincinnati (12/2). Green finished the year with two catches for 15 yards in the playoff game at Philadelphia (1/12).

Pro Career - 2000: Green started all 16 games and one playoff contest, finishing second on the team with 51 receptions and 773 receiving yards (15.2 avg.) with one touchdown. He had an impressive first half of the season with 31 receptions for 556 yards (18.0 avg.), including two 100-yard games (Chicago 9/10, Minnesota 10/9). He grabbed two catches for 67 yards (33.5 avg.) at New England (9/3), and had a game-high five receptions for 104 yards against Chicago (9/10), including a game-breaking 58-yard touchdown reception. Green would hook up with quarterback Shaun King on a 75-yard bomb against the N.Y. Jets (9/24), registering the longest play from scrimmage for the Bucs offense in 2000. He had one reception for seven yards at Washington (10/1), then posted career-high 11 receptions for 131 yards on Monday Night at Minnesota (10/9). His 11-reception performance was the most-ever by a Buccaneer wide receiver and just two shy of the club's single-game mark. Against Atlanta (11/5), Green had two receptions for 44 yards, recording the 100th reception of his career. Green had a crucial 11-yard reception on fourth-and-nine to set up a Martin Gramatica FG at Green Bay (12/24) and finished the game with four catches for 50 yards (12.5 avg.). 1999: Green played in all 16 games, starting nine and finishing second on the club and first among WRs with 56 catches for 791 yards and three TDs. He averaged a team-best 14.1 yards per catch and his 791 yards led all Bucs receivers. He also finished seventh in the NFC with an 8.9-yard average on punt returns. Green caught three passes for 27 yards in the season-opening loss to the Giants (9/12) and made his second career start in place of an injured Reidel Anthony (ribs) at Philadelphia (9/19), making one catch for 17 yards. He assumed the starting role at Detroit (10/31) and snagged seven passes for 96 yards. He continued his hot streak by pacing the team with four catches for 89 yards and one TD in a 31-16 win at New Orleans (11/7). Green posted seven catches for a career-high 164 yards and one TD in a 17-10 win over Kansas City (11/14), tying Mark Carrier (at Chicago, 11/19/89) for the sixth-best single-game yardage total in club history. On Monday Night against the Vikings (12/6), he led the team with five catches for 70 yards and one score. Green recorded a career-high, 10 receptions for 113 yards in the division-clinching win at Chicago (1/2). 1998: Green played in 12 games and started one, missing four of the first six games due to toe, thumb and shoulder injuries. He finished the season ranked sixth on team with 14 receptions for 251 yards and tied for third with a pair of TD receptions. He also finished the season averaging 15.1 yards on 30 punt returns, a mark that ranked second in the NFL to Dallas' Deion Sanders (15.6) and was the best in franchise history among players with at least 15 runbacks. Green averaged 22.9 yards on 10 kickoff returns and ran three end-arounds for a total of 12 yards. In his first regular-season NFL game, at Green Bay (9/13), he scored the Bucs' first points in a loss by returning a fourth-quarter punt 95 yards for a 23-15 score. His runback was just the fourth punt or kickoff return for a TD in franchise history, which ranks as the longest scoring play of any kind in Buc annals. Green scored his first receiving touchdown against the Lions on a 44-yard post pattern. He helped Bucs to their first Monday Night Football win since 1982 by turning a quick slant into a 64-yard TD reception against Green Bay (12/7).

College/Personal: Green finished his Florida career fifth on the Gators' all-time list with 2,181 receiving yards on 113 career catches despite starting just 19 games as a collegian. He scored a total of 30 TDs, 23 receiving, three rushing and four on punt returns. His four-career punt return TDs established a new Florida record. He averaged 12.6 yards on punt returns (61-776) and 20.3 yards on kickoff returns (26-528) to help him earn first-team All-America status from AP and most publications as a junior. Green was a finalist for the Fred Biletnikoff Award, given to the nation's top receiver, a semi-finalist for Football News' Offensive Player of the Year award and also placed on the SEC's all-conference first team. His senior season, he started all 12 games (including bowl) and led the Gators with 61 receptions for 1,024 yards and nine TDs. Green was Florida's primary punt returner, running back 27 punts for 392 yards (14.5 avg.) and tallying two TDs. Amazingly, he accounted for all three TDs in a 24-10 win over Auburn in three different ways: a 12-yard TD pass to Jamie Richardson, a 10-yard scoring reception and a five-yard scoring run. He totaled 33 receptions for 626 yards and nine scores during his sophomore season. He also returned 25 punts for 324 yards (13.0 avg.), two TDs and 10 kickoffs for 216 yards (21.6 avg.). In the national-championship-deciding rematch against Florida State in the Sugar Bowl, he posted five catches for 79 yards. Green also blocked three punts on special teams to tie a school single-season record. His rookie year, he caught 19 passes for 531 yards and five TDs, averaging an astounding 28 yards per grab. He returned nine punts for 50 yards (5.6 avg.), 16 kickoffs for 312 yards (19.5 avg.) and ran seven times for 93 yards and a TD. In his first career start against Northern Illinois, he turned in a career-long 96-yard TD catch, the second-longest reception in school history. Green majored in public recreation while at Florida. As a prep at Peach County High School in Fort Valley, Georgia, he earned honors as All-America choice by USA Today despite serving as school's veer option quarterback as a senior. He was also a First-team all-state selection, racking up 1,767 all-purpose yards as a senior and responsible for 23 touchdowns. The versatile Green also rushed for 948 yards and 16 TDs. He was selected for both the Georgia/Florida football all-star game and the North/South basketball contest, one of only two players (also Dallas' Peppi Zellner) ever to do so. His full name is D'Tanyan Jacquez Green, born in Fort Valley, Georgia.

4th NFL Season

Career Highlights:

- Voted by his teammates as one of the 2001 season team captains.
- Has started all 50 games at right tackle, including two playoff games, during his two-year career.
- Played every snap on offense during the 2000 season.
- Earned game ball, along with the rest of the offensive line, for making way for the offense to rush for a season-high 226 yards in Redskins 27-14 win over Seattle (11/4).
- Earned game ball, along with the rest of the offensive line, for allowing no sacks in the Redskins 50-21 win over NYG (9/19/99).

How Acquired: Drafted by Washington in 2nd round of 1999 (37th overall).

2001 Season: Jansen started all 16 games for the third straight season. He has started every game in his career (50, including two playoff games). He earned the game ball, along with the rest of the offensive line, for making way for the offense to rush for a season-high 226 yards in Redskins 27-14 win over Seattle (11/4). He and the unit earned another game ball for their outstanding play in Week 16 after the Redskins beat the Saints 40-10. Jansen's blocking helped running back Stephen Davis eclipse the team record with 1,432 yards rushing, third in the NFL and first in the NFC.

Pro Career - 2000: Jansen was Mr. Durability and lived up to his nickname: "Rock." On an offensive line decimated with injuries, he didn't miss a snap. He was one of four players on offense to start each game and has now started every game in his career (34), including two playoff contests. His blocking helped Stephen Davis rush for 1,318 yards. 1999: Jansen was a valuable addition to a Skins offensive line that allowed 31 sacks compared with a franchise record 61 in 1998. He started all 16 regular-season games and both playoff games. He made a huge impact in mini-camp, training camp and the preseason, impressing coaches with his ability to grasp the Redskins system. He was part of an offensive line that earned game balls for allowing no sacks in a 50-21 win over the Giants in Week 2.

College/Personal: Jansen was a two-time First-Team All-Big Ten selection at Michigan. He set a school record with 50 straight starts, all at RT, earning the nickname "Rock." As a senior in 1998, he was named a First-Team All-American by the Burger King American Football Coaches Association. He paced Michigan's down lineman with 106 knockdowns on an offense that gained 4,955 yards. He helped Michigan to a 45-31 victory over Arkansas in the Citrus Bowl. He was Michigan's co-captain as a senior and junior and fortified an offense that posted 4,652 yards en route to the National Championship. As a redshirt freshman, he helped propel an offense that amassed 5,140 yards. Jansen earned Prep Football Report All-Midwest and Detroit News Blue Chip honors as a TE at Clawson High (MI). As a senior, he made a school-record 31 catches for 420 yards. He posted 68 career catches and made 202 tackles, four sacks and four INTs at LB to earn Oakland County Defensive MVP honors. He lettered in basketball, track and baseball. He and his wife, Martha, live in Purcellville, VA with their dogs Rocket and Roscoe.

NFL Acquisition: Drafted by KC in 2nd round of 1997 (47th overall).

How Acquired: Signed as an unrestricted free agent on April 9, 2001.

2001 Season: Lockett played in all 16 games in 2001, finishing the season with an average of 13.3 yards per catch on 22 receptions for 293 yards. He handled punt return duties for a short time, totaling 14 yards on five returns. He caught his first pass of the season in Week 2 at Green Bay (9/24) when he had three receptions for 36 yards and caught two passes for 33 yards the next week vs. Kansas City (9/30). Lockett returned his first punt of the season 11 yards at NYG (10/7). He engineered one of the most exciting offensive plays of the season in Week 7 vs. NYG when he received a lateral from quarterback Tony Banks and fired it 31 yards to wide receiver Derrius Thompson for his first ever touchdown pass. In addition to his perfect quarterback rating for the game, Lockett finished with three receptions for 46 yards including a 21-yarder. The next week vs. Seattle (11/4), he made his first special teams tackle of the season and caught two passes for 16 yards. He played in a reserve role in Week 10 at Denver (11/18) before leaving the game in the second quarter with a rib injury. He made four catches for 66 yards, including a season-high long of 34 yards vs. Dallas (12/2). Lockett finished the season third on the team with 22 receptions, one touchdown pass and three special teams tackles.

Pro Career - 2000: Lockett played in 16 games for KC with two starts, catching 33 passes for 422 yards (12.8 avg.) and two TDs. He was ranked tenth in the AFC with 26 punt returns for 208 yards (8.0 avg.) and returned one kickoff for 25 yards. He set a career-high with 77 receiving yards on four receptions at Seattle (10/29), when he started in place of injured WR Sylvester Morris. He posted a career-high seven catches at Oakland (11/5). He caught only two passes for 16 yards at Denver (9/24), but both were in a game-winning, fourth-quarter drive. He returned a career-high six punts vs. Buffalo (11/19) and at SD (11/26). His returns against the Chargers, including a career-high 26-yard return, produced a personal-best 65-yard total. 1999: Lockett played in 16 games at WR with one start, posting career highs in catches (34) and receiving yards (426), plus two TDs. He tied his career-high with four catches for 36 yards vs. Detroit (9/26) and matched that output with four catches for 33 yards the next week at SD (10/3). He caught four balls for the third straight week vs. NE (10/10) with 40 yards receiving. He had two catches for 31 yards at Baltimore (10/21) and recovered a Ravens onside kick attempt with 4:05 left in the game. He made his lone start vs. SD (10/31), posting two catches for 40 yards. He caught three balls for 54 yards at Indianapolis (11/7), including his first career TD catch, an 18-yard pass from Elvis Grbac. He also caught Warren Moon's only completion for KC, a 20-yard grab. He caught three balls for 69 yards vs. Oakland (1/2/00), including a career-long 39-yard TD catch in the fourth quarter. He also returned a punt 10 yards. 1998: Lockett played in 13 games with three starts, finishing fifth on the Chiefs with 19 catches for 281 yards (14.8 avg.). He also had seven punt returns for 36 yards and four special teams tackles. He caught two passes for 27 yards in his first pro start at WR in place of an injured Derrick Alexander vs. Oakland (9/6). He started for injured Andre Rison at Philadelphia (9/27) and caught four passes for a career-high 74 yards, including a season-long 38-yard grab from Rich Gannon. He returned the first two punts of his pro career for 17 yards subbing for an injured Tamarick Vanover vs. NYJ (11/1). 1997: Lockett saw limited duty as a rookie, playing in nine games on special teams and five on offense. He caught one pass for 35 yards and had six special teams stops. His first NFL duty came as the team's third WR at Denver (8/31). He made a leaping grab of a 35-yard bomb from punter Louie Aguiar on a fake punt at Seattle (11/23) for his first pro reception, coming down at the one-yard line to set up a one-yard Marcus Allen TD run. He also played WR vs. SD (10/16), at Jacksonville (11/9) and vs. SF (11/30). He was inactive for the Chiefs playoff game vs. Denver (1/4/98).

College/Personal: Lockett established himself as the most prolific pass catcher in Kansas State history. He caught 217 passes, the 11th-best total in NCAA history by the end of his senior year in 1997. He had 3,032 receiving yards, topped only by Oklahoma State's Hart Lee Dykes on the all-time Big 12 chart. Lockett set other all-time Kansas State receiving marks, including TD catches (26) and consecutive games with a catch (43). He's the only player in Big 8 and Big 12 history to gain more than 550 yards receiving in four straight seasons. As a senior, he set a Wildcats single-season record with 72 catches. His 882 receiving yards were the second-best total in Kansas State history. He caught six TDs and averaged 12.3 yards per catch. He was a third-team AP All-America pick and a unanimous first team All-Big 12 selection. He earned First Team GTE/CoSIDA Academic All-America honors for the second straight year. He led the Big 8 with 56 catches for 797 yards (14.2 avg.) and 13 TDs as junior. He earned UPI Honorable Mention All-America honors and was a unanimous first-team All-Big 8 selection. He was second-team AP All-Big 8 as a sophomore after finishing fifth in the conference with 39 catches for 583 yards and three TDs. He posted 50 catches for 770 yards (15.4 avg.) with four TDs as a freshman. He graduated from Kansas State in May 1996 with an accounting degree. Lockett caught 45 passes for 459 yards as a senior and 73 passes for 421 yards as a junior at Washington High School in Tulsa, OK. Lockett made a $25,000 contribution to the academic learning center at Kansas State's Hale Library in January 2000, and is building his Lockett Up Foundation, focusing on education and community service for at-risk youth.

NFL Acquisition: Drafted by NY Jets in 6th round of 1995 (178th overall).

How Acquired: Signed with Washington as a free agent on Sept. 21, 1999.

2001 Season: Mason was waived when the roster was cut down to 53 players after training camp, only to be resigned after Week 1 (9/10). Mason resumed his strong special teams play. He finished the season third on squad with 19 special teams tackles. As the season progressed, Mason saw more time on the field at linebacker, starting at outside linebacker against New Orleans for the injured LaVar Arrington and posted four tackles and a sack for -7 yards. He finished the season with 13 tackles (11 solo).

Pro Career - 2000: Mason had his best season and was one of the Redskins special teams stars. He played on every special teams unit in all 16 games, leading the team in total special teams tackles (28) and solo special teams tackles (20). He also started at LB for the first time in his career. In two starts at LB, he had 20 tackles (18 solo), two sacks and one forced fumble. They were his first career sacks. When weak-side LB Shawn Barber injured a knee in the second quarter at Jacksonville in Week 8, Mason replaced him and made an immediate impact. He sacked QB Mark Brunell twice in a three-play span as part of the Skins six-sack performance. Mason also forced a fumble and made a season-high five tackles on special teams. With Barber out in Week 9 vs. Tennessee, Mason started at LB for the first time ever and set career-highs in total tackles (eight) and solo stops (six). He started again the next week at Arizona and matched his career-best with six solo tackles.

1999: Mason was a welcome addition for the Redskins after they signed him with the season two games old. He played in the last 14 regular-season games on special teams, recording 89 blocks, the team's No. 2 mark. He also saw limited time at LB, tallying three tackles and one pass defended. He made three tackles and one assist in the playoffs. His best performances were in Week 3 at NYJ (six blocks on punt returns and a team-high four blocks on kickoff returns); Week 9 at Philadelphia (one assisted tackle on kickoff coverage, team-high seven blocks on kickoff returns); and Week 12 at Detroit (two assisted tackles on kickoff coverage, six blocks on kickoff returns). 1998: Carolina waived Mason on 8/25, and Jacksonville signed him as a free agent on 12/2. He played in the Jaguars last four regular-season games and both playoff games. He made nine tackles (five solo) in limited time at LB and five special teams stops. He made four tackles on defense and two on special teams in the playoffs. He saw his first action in three years at Minnesota (12/6), competing in 13 plays with two tackles on defense and one on special teams. He played LB for 20 plays in the regular-season finale, making six tackles on defense and two tackles on special teams. He saw action in seven plays in an AFC Wild Card Playoff vs. NE and in 23 plays in the Divisional Playoff at NYJ, making four tackles on defense. He had a special teams tackle in each game. 1997: TB signed Mason on 4/22 but waived him on 8/19 in the roster cut to 60 players. He sat out the season. 1996: Mason entered

Jets training camp as their backup RLB but suffered a season-ending knee injury in a preseason game vs. NYG on 8/17. He spent the rest of the year on IR. 1995: Mason led the Jets with 25 special teams tackles and was named the Jets special teams MVP. He was inactive for the season-opener at Miami but played in the other 15 games. He made three special teams tackles vs. Jacksonville (9/17) and at Seattle (11/26).

College/Personal: Mason was a four-year letterman at North Carolina and made 184 tackles. As a senior in 1994, he started every game at OLB and was second on the team with 76 tackles. He posted eight tackles, one INT and two passes defended in the Sun Bowl vs. Texas. He didn't start as a junior but had 76 tackles, 2.5 sacks and one INT. As a sophomore, he mainly saw action on special teams. He played in eleven games as a redshirt freshman with nine tackles. He redshirted in 1990. Mason graduated in 1995 with a degree in sociology. He attended Jordan Matthews High School in Siler City, NC, where he played OLB and TB. He received All-Conference and All-

East North Carolina honors as a senior and was named his conference's linebacker of the year. He and his wife, Sonya Renee, have a daughter, Sydney, and a son, Tyler. They live in Herndon, VA. He enjoys ministering to the homeless. Mason participates in the "Redskins Read" literacy program, as well as other Leadership Council projects. Mason and his wife have founded their own foundation, the Faith Foundation, to help improve the welfare and enhance the spiritual well-being of children and families who are in economically deprived circumstances. With his foundation and the help of 20 teammates, Mason assembled and distributed 100 Thanksgiving baskets to area families in need. He was nominated for the 2001 "Walter Payton Man of the Year Award", an NFL award that honors a players commitment on and off the field. Mason and his wife also visited the Children's National Medical Center to make holiday cards and ornaments with the children at the hospital.

Career Highlights:

- Ranks among Chicago's all-time leaders in lifetime quarterback rating (third), lifetime completion percentage (first) and lowest lifetime INT percentage (first).
- Established team record with 15 consecutive completed passes in win over New England (12/10/00).
- Approached 1,000-yard mark for the second time in his career despite playing in just six games in 2000.
- Led Chicago and established career-highs in attempts, completions, passing yards and TDs after starting seven of eight games in 1999.

NFL Acquisition: Signed as an undrafted free agent by Chicago on April 29, 1993.

How Acquired: Signed by Washington as an unrestricted free agent on April 29, 2002.

2001 Season: Matthews led the Bears in completion percentage (65.1%) and was 2nd in QB rating (72.3). He started the season opener at Balt (9/9), connecting on 24-of-39 pass attempts for 138 yards and 2 INTs. He was forced out of the game against Min (9/23) in the 2nd quarter due to a left intercostal muscle strain (ribs) after starting 5-of-9 for 33 yards. Matthews was inactive as the 3rd QB for Games 3 and 5; and was the backup QB for Games 8-16 but did not play. He was released on 10/13 to free up a roster space, but re-signed just three days later. Matthews was named NFC Offensive Player of the Week after leading the Bears to a comeback win vs SF (10/28) with three TD passes (25-of-31 for 166 yards) in relief of injured Jim Miller. He followed up the next week throwing for a career-high 357 yards on 30-of-50 passing vs Cleveland (11/4), overcoming three INTs with two TD passes in the final :28 seconds of regulation, including a last-second Hail Mary to James Allen, to force OT.

Pro Career - 2000: Matthews placed his name alongside the top QB in Chicago Bears history with strong performances in limited duty, pushing his career numbers among the team's all-time top three in QB rating (75.9), completion percentage (60.0%) and INT percentage (2.55). He played in six games, leading Chicago to a 3-2 record in five starts and threw for 964 yards on 102-of-178 passing. He compiled a QB rating of 115.0 while completing 80 percent of his passes in his final two starts, both Bears victories. Matthews was inactive as the team's 3rd QB for the first eight games of the season, but elevated to backup vs Indy (11/5) after an injury to Cade McNown. He saw his first action of the season at But (11/12), entering the game for an injured Jim Miller. The next week he led the Bears to a win vs TB (11/19) on 20-of-34 passing for 165 yards. He had a record-setting performance in his start vs NE (12/10) with 15 consecutive completions en route to 22-of-27 passing for season-high 239 yards, two TDs and a 128.2 QB rating. 1999: Matthews produced the best season of his NFL career while starting seven of eight games. He led the Bears with career-highs of 275 attempts, 167 completions, 1,645 passing yards and 10 passing TDs. He finished ranked ninth in the NFC with a passer rating of 80.6. Matthews opened the season as starting QB, compiling a 3-2 record before suffering an injury. In his first career start, he led Chicago to scores in each of his first three possessions vs KC (9/12) and finished the contest with 245 yards while completing a career-best 25-of-38 passes for two TDs. He established another career-high with 42 attempts vs Sea (9/19) and rallied the Bears from a 10-0 deficit by tossing two TD passes in the final two minutes for a 14-10 win vs NO (10/3), completing 25-of-39 for 224 yards and two TDs. Matthews guided the Bears to its first NFC road win in 11 tries by completing 19-of-28 passes for 184 yards and two TDs at Min (10/10). Matthews earned the starting nod vs GB (12/5), hitting 20-of-37 passes for 223 yards. He established a NFL Acquisition: Drafted by 49ers in second round of 1994 (53rd overall).

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent on Feb. 29, 2000.

2001 Season: Mitchell had the best season of his career, entering the season as the chosen starter at middle linebacker after beating out fellow linebacker Robert Jones for the spot. He started in all 13 games he played, before his season was ended by a high ankle sprain. He got off to a solid start, recording 10 tackles (8 solo) and his first career forced fumble in Week 1 at San Diego (9/9). He made 25 tackles over the next three games, at GB (9/24), vs. KC (9/30) and at NYG (10/7). In Week 5 at Dallas, he again made ten tackles with nine solos. The next week at Carolina he made his first sack of the season when he sacked quarterback Chris Weinke for an eight-yard loss. He picked up another sack in Week 10 at Denver (11/18) and led the team with nine tackles, all solo. In Philadelphia (11/25), he led a defensive charge that stopped running back Correll Buckhalter on a key fourth-down conversion attempt in the Skins' 13-3 victory over the Eagles. He went down with an ankle injury in Week 14 vs. Philadelphia and never returned to the lineup. He was inactive the next week vs. Chicago and was placed on injured reserve (12/26/01). Mitchell finished the season third on the team in tackles with a career-high 82 (69 solo), despite his season ending early.

Pro Career - 2000: Mitchell was key for the Skins on special teams. He played in 16 games and participated on all special teams units, finishing second on the team in total special teams tackles (23) and solo special teams stops (16). He also saw time at LB, recording five tackles (three solo), one sack, one INT and one pass defended. He made two huge plays on defense; an important goal line tackle that prevented a TD in Week 2 at Detroit and an interception vs. Baltimore in Week 7 that was pivotal in the Skins' 10-3 victory. The Ravens had second-and-goal on the one with :10 left in the first half, when Mitchell picked off QB Tony Banks' pass seven yards into the end zone. He took a knee for a touchback, marking his first career INT. He also sacked Carolina QB Steve Beuerlein for a seven-yard loss in the season-opener. 1999: Mitchell played in 16 games for the Saints with one start at MLB. He made 14 tackles with one assist and one pass defended. He was second on the team with twelve special teams tackles. He tied his career-high with nine solo tackles vs. TB (11/7). He made three solo stops in his only start at Jacksonville (11/21). He made four special teams tackles at the Ravens (12/19). 1998: Mitchell played in only eight games but started each one for a career-high. He was inactive for the other eight games. He posted a career-high 56 tackles (31 solo) overall, including 2.5 sacks for 9.5 yards lost. He forced two fumbles and defended one pass. He recorded double-digit tackles three times, including a career-best eleven (six solo) vs. SF (10/11). He had a career-best seven solo tackles as part of ten total tackles vs. TB (10/25). He also posted 10 tackles (five solo) at Indianapolis (9/27). He missed games 4, 9-12 and 14-16. 1997: Mitchell played in 16 games for SF, registering 40 tackles. He made 29 special teams tackles (20 solo) and forced a fumble at the Rams (9/7). He posted a season-high six tackles vs. Atlanta (9/21), including two on special teams. He had two special teams tackles in an NFC Divisional Playoff game vs. the Vikings (1/3/98) and one vs. GB (1/11/98).

1996: Mitchell played in twelve games and started three. He posted 31 tackles, one sack and one pass defended, plus eight special teams tackles. He missed four games with a right hip injury. He made his first career start vs. the Saints (9/1) and had four tackles and a pass defended. He posted a career-high nine tackles (six solo) and his first career sack vs. the Ravens (11/17). In his second career start, he made five tackles and recovered a fumble vs. the Rams (9/8). He set up a first-quarter TD with a forced fumble at the Steelers (12/15). He played in both NFC playoff games. 1995: Mitchell played in 15 games and was second on the team with 12 special teams tackles. He added 15 stops on defense. He made three special teams tackles in the home opener vs. Atlanta (9/10). He logged a season-high 24 plays from scrimmage at MLB and recorded two solo tackles and a pass defended at the Rams (10/22). Playing LB, he made two solo tackles at Miami (11/20). He had a special teams tackle in an NFC Divisional Playoff game vs. GB (1/6/96). 1994: Mitchell played in 16 games and posted 22 total tackles. He made a team-high 16 special teams stops and three special teams hits at the Skins (11/6). He made two tackles and defended a pass vs. Atlanta (12/4). He contributed three solo tackles and one special teams stop in Divisional Playoff vs. Chicago (1/7). He made a special teams stop against SD in Super Bowl XXIX (1/29/95).

College/Personal: Mitchell started every game of his career at Syracuse (48), earning Honorable Mention All-America and First-Team All-Big East honors as a junior and senior. He received Second-Team honors his first two years. He finished his career ranked third in school history with 21 sacks. He played NG and MLB and earned a sociology degree. Mitchell attended Harrisburg High (PA) and was an all-state offensive guard and second-team LB. He also lettered in basketball. Mitchell and his wife, Denise, split their time between Harrisburg, PA and Ashburn, VA.

Height: 6-1
Weight: 237
Birthdate: 10-26-78
Arizona
2nd NFL Season

Career Highlights:

- Made his first career start vs. KC (9/30/01) and made a single-game high eight tackles.
- Made his first career sack at New Orleans (12/30/01).
- Picked off quarterback Jake Plummer for his first career interception vs. Arizona (1/6/02).

How Acquired: Signed as undrafted free agent on April 22, 2001.

2001 Season: Pierce was signed as an undrafted free agent and made an immediate impression on coaches. He played in all 16 games and started eight. He played in a reserve role in the first two games of the season and recorded five tackles at Green Bay (9/24). He made his first career start at strong side linebacker in Week 3 vs. Kansas City (9/30) while LaVar Arrington was out nursing a knee injury. He finished the game second on the team in tackles with eight (seven solo). The next week, he started at outside linebacker for Shawn Barber, whose season was ended by a knee ligament injury. He recorded five tackles and fumble recovery. He made seven stops at Dallas (10/15). In Week 8, Pierce returned to a reserve role and remained there for the next six games. He was promoted back into the starting lineup at outside linebacker in Week 15 vs. Chicago (12/23), when Kevin Mitchell's season was cut short by a high ankle sprain. On his first day back, he recorded three tackles, one pass deflection and his first career forced fumble. The next week at New Orleans (12/30), he sacked quarterback Aaron Brooks and made six tackles and another pass deflection. In the season finale vs. Arizona (1/6), he picked off Jake Plummer for his first career interception. The pick set up the score that sealed the Redskins 20-17 win over the Cardinals. He finished his rookie season with 49 tackles (43 solo), one sack, one interception, one forced fumble and a fumble recovery.

College/Personal: At Arizona, played all eleven games at linebacker, recording 77 tackles (10 for a loss of 22 yards), three sacks, one interception, two forced fumbles and one blocked kick as a senior. Played at Mount San Antonio College in Walnut, CA before being recruited by Arizona. A native of Ontario, CA, he attended Paramount High School. Pierce majored in communications at Arizona. He and his wife, Genevieve, have three children: Anthony, De'Andre and Jay'la.

Career Highlights:

- Played in his first NFL game vs. Baltimore on September 9, 2001.
- Posted a career-high four tackles vs. Detroit on December 12, 2001.

NFL Acquisition: Fifth-round draft selection (156th overall) by the Indianapolis Colts in the 1997 NFL Draft.

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent by the Redskins in 2002.

2001 Season: Powell played in all 16 games in the 2001 season for the Chicago Bears as a reserve defensive tackle, racking up 15 tackles. He made his NFL debut at Baltimore (9/9), playing defensive end and special teams. He compiled three tackles and one for a loss vs. Minnesota (9/23). Powell posted a career-high four tackles vs. Detroit (12/12) and recorded a tackle for a loss against Tampa Bay (12/16). He made two tackles in a 20-15 victory over Washington (12/23).

Pro Career - 2000: He spent time on the Baltimore Ravens active roster playing under current Redskins assistant head coach/defensive coordinator Marvin Lewis, but Powell did not appear in any games. 1999: Powell sat out the entire season as a free agent. 1998: Spent time on the Indianapolis Colts active roster but did not play, and eventually was released (10/13). 1997: Again he was on the Colts active roster but did not appear in any of the regular season games.

College/Personal: Powell was named first team All-Conference USA as a senior defensive end compiling 85 tackles, including a team high 11 sacks while starting in all 11 games at defensive end for Louisville. He started 10 games as a junior, making 44 tackles and six sacks which ranked second on the team. Powell transferred from Grand Rapids (MI) Community College where he totaled 111 tackles, three interceptions and seven sacks as sophomore. He is a native of Detroit, MI where he played in the Michigan High School All-Star game as a junior.

 Birthdate: 9-7-72
 Wake Forest
 9th NFL Season

Career Highlights:

- Caught ten passes for a career-high 128 yards and two touchdowns in 2001.
- Posted three receptions for a career-high 45 yards and a career-long, 27-yard reception vs. Arizona (1/6/02).
- Made career-high 15 receptions for 119 yards with Detroit in 1998.

NFL Acquisition: Signed by Pittsburgh as a free agent on April 29, 1994.

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent on April 10, 2001.

2001 Season: Rasby was a big contributor for the Redskins last season, blocking and receiving. He started in 11 of 16 games played. He began the season playing in a reserve role, but was promoted to the starting lineup in Week 6 vs. Carolina after starting tight end Stephen Alexander went down with a high ankle sprain the week before in Dallas. Rasby made key blocks and recorded his first catch as a Redskin in that game (10/21). He earned the game ball after he posted two receptions for 22 yards and scored his first touchdown of the season in Washington's 27-14 win over Seattle (11/4). He made two receptions for 32 yards, with a long of 22 yards and a season-high average of 16.0 yards in Week 14 vs. Philadelphia (12/16). Rasby played his best game in the season finale vs. Arizona (1/6) and earned his second game ball of the season. He posted three receptions for a career-high 45 yards, with a career-long 27 yards and a touchdown. He finished the season with ten catches for a career-high 128 yards and two touchdowns. His average of 12.8 yards per catch was also a personal season best.

Pro Career - 2000: Rasby excelled as a blocker and started eight games in 2000, mostly in two TE sets. He caught ten passes for 78 yards with one TD. He had his best performance at the NYG (11/23), when he started for the second straight game and scored the Lions first TD on Charlie Batch's five-yard toss. Rasby totaled two catches for 17 yards in the game. He started at Atlanta (11/12) for regular starter David Sloan, who was inactive with a hamstring injury, and made a season-long 17-yard catch, which matched his career-long. 1999: Rasby returned to the backup role the Lions originally signed him to fill. He started six games as part of two TE sets and was used mostly as a reserve in short yardage and goal line situations. He caught three passes for 19 yards and a TD overall. He caught his first pass at KC (9/26), a three-yard TD reception, and made a season-high two catches for 16 yards vs. Chicago (11/25). 1998: After signing with the Lions as an unrestricted free agent on 4/13, Rasby started all 16 games, posting career-highs of 15 catches and 119 receiving yards with a TD after catching only six passes in his first four seasons. He remained the starter in the second half of the season despite projected starter David Sloan's return from the "physically-unable-to-perform" list in midseason. Once Sloan returned, he was used more as a blocker than receiver. Rasby posted a team- and career-high five catches for 39 yards at Chicago (10/4) and team-high four catches for 34 yards vs. Atlanta (12/20). He caught his first career TD pass at TB (11/22) on a 3-yard, play-action toss.

1997: In his last season with Carolina, Rasby backed up Pro Bowl TE Wesley Walls, and also played on special teams. He played in the first 14 games and started two when the Panthers opened in a two TE set. He made his only catch of the season for one yard at Dallas (12/8) and then left the game with a sprained knee. He went on IR two days later. 1996: Rasby played in all 16 regular-season games with one start. He also played in both playoff games. He was a big part of the Panthers improved ground game in which backs topped the 100-yard mark in 10 of 16 regular-season games. His only start was at Jacksonville (9/29). 1995: Rasby signed with Carolina as a free agent on Oct. 17 after the Steelers released him in training camp. He played in nine games with two starts, catching five passes for 47 yards plus a two-point conversion. He made his first NFL start at New Orleans (11/26), catching one pass for nine yards and the first two-point conversion in Panthers history. He also started vs. Indianapolis (12/3), making one catch for eleven yards. 1994: After signing with Pittsburgh as an undrafted free agent, Rasby made the team in training camp. He played on special teams in two games and was inactive for the other 14 games. He made a special teams tackle vs. Miami (11/20) in his first pro action. He also played in the regular-season finale at SD (12/24).

College/Personal: Rasby led Wake Forest in catches as a senior with 32 for 247 yards. He totaled only six catches for 90 yards in his previous three years as a reserve. As a senior in 1993, he received the team's annual Bill George Award as the Demon Deacons top lineman. He majored in speech communications. A two-sport athlete at Washington (N.C.) High, he was named to the Charlotte Observer's Top 25 list as a prep senior. He also played forward on the basketball team. Rasby participated in the Redskins Pentagon relief efforts, after the September 11th attacks, visiting rescue workers at the Pentagon, the burn victims at Washington hospital Center and fundraising throughout the season for the Redskins Relief Fund, benefitting the families of victims. He also participates in the Redskins' United Way activities. His wife's name is Courtney.

SAGE ROSENFELS

QB
Height: 6-4
Weight: 216
Birthdate: 3-6-78
Iowa State
2nd NFL Season

Career Highlights:

- Led the team during the 2001 pre-season with 25 completions for 230 yards.
- Back-up quarterback for two games in 2001, but did not play.

How Acquired: Drafted by the Redskins in the 4th Round (109th overall) in 2001.

2001 Season: Did not see any game action in 2001. He spent most of the season listed as 3rd quarterback. He was promoted to back-up quarterback in Weeks 3 and 4 vs. Kansas City (9/30) and at NYG (10/7) but did not play.

College/Personal: In 2000, Rosenfels had his most prolific season as a senior at ISU, completing 172 of 333 passes for 2,298 yards, all career-highs, with a 51.7 completion percentage, eight TDs and twelve INTs. His yardage total is third on the all-time ISU single-season list behind Todd Bandhauer (2,524 in 1997) and David Archer (2,639 in 1983). He also rushed for 10 TDs, the most by a Cyclones QB since Dave Hoppmann's eleven in 1962, and a career-high 381 yards on 78 carries (4.9 avg.). He led ISU to its first Bowl appearance, the Insight.com Bowl, since 1978, and its first-ever post-season win.

Rosenfels inherited ISU's full-time QB duties his junior year and completed 127 of 235 passes (54% completion percentage) for 1,781 yards and a career-high ten TDs. He also rushed 80 times for 225 yards and four TDs (2.8 avg.). His sophomore year, Rosenfels played three games at QB. He completed his first pass of the season against Ball State, a 42-yard TD. It was his first career TD throw. Rosenfels saw limited action as a redshirt freshman, completing four of 10 passes for 40 yards with two INTs. Rosenfels redshirted as a freshman but was named the Cyclones Outstanding Offensive Scout Team Player of the Year. Rosenfels excelled in academics at ISU, where he majored in marketing. He was named to the Big 12 Commissioner's Academic Honor Roll four semesters. He earned 2000 first-team academic All-Big 12 and 1999 second-team academic All-Big 12 honors, and was honorable mention academic All-Big 12 in 1997. He served as vice president of the Future Business Leaders of America. At Maquoketa (Iowa) High School, he completed 76 of 148 passes for 1,122 yards and ten TDs as a senior. As a kicker, he converted 20 of 23 PATs and averaged 36 yards punting. He finished with 2,126 passing yards and 20 TDs overall. He earned three letters in basketball, three in baseball and four in tennis. He was seeded No. 1 in tennis and compiled a 40-6 record. On the basketball court, Rosenfels averaged 20 points, twelve rebounds and seven assists and posted eight triple-doubles. In track, he qualified for the 4x200m and 4x400m state relays as a senior. He was in the National Honor Society in high school, and was on the honor roll eight semesters. Rosenfels and his wife, Maria, have a son, Peyton. He is one of the team's most active community leaders. He participates in the Washington Redskins Leadership Council's signature programs, including Redskins Read and Redskins All-Stars. He assists teammate Eddie Mason in his annual Thanksgiving outreach program, and has attended numerous charity fundraisers and events, including Rally Round the Redskins for Ronald McDonald Charities and MS Sports Night, benefiting that National Multiple Sclerosis Society.

CHRIS SAMUELS

OT
Height: 6-5
Weight: 303
Birthdate: 7-28-77
Alabama
3rd NFL Season

Career Highlights:

- Named a starter on the 2002 NFC Pro Bowl team.
- Earned game balls, along with the rest of the offensive line, in Weeks 8 and 16, vs. Seattle (11/4/01) and at New Orleans (12/30/01).
- Started all 32 games for the Redskins in 2000 and 2001, one of only two players on offense to do so.
- Named Co-Offensive Rookie of the Month for October along with Miami tackle Todd Wade (2000).

How Acquired: Drafted by Washington in 1st Round of 2000 (3rd overall).

2001 Season: Samuels was voted to the NFC Pro Bowl after an outstanding sophomore season. He started all 16 games in 2001 and showed great leadership on and off the playing field. He earned the game ball, along with the rest of the offensive line, for making way for the offense to rush for a season-high 226 yards in Redskins 27-14 win over Seattle (11/4). He was featured in the December 3, 2001 issue of Sports Illustrated along with running back Stephen Davis after becoming the first team in NFL history to lose its first five games, then go on to win its next five games. Samuels had gone 13 weeks without allowing a sack, until Philadelphia DE Hugh Douglas beat him for a sack in Week 14 (12/16). He and the unit earned another game ball for their outstanding play in Week 16 after the Redskins beat the Saints 40-10. Samuels' blocking helped running back Stephen Davis eclipse the team record with 1,432 yards rushing, third in the NFL and first in the NFC.

Pro Career - 2000: Samuels earned the starting LT spot in training camp and never relinquished it. He was one of only four players on offense to start every game, joining RT Jon Jansen, C Mark Fischer and TE Stephen Alexander. Samuels was a solid contributor from the start and improved as the season progressed.

He went the first five games without allowing a sack before Eagles Pro Bowl DE Hugh Douglas overpowered him for a sack in Week 6. Samuels shut Douglas out in the rematch in Week 12. Samuels won co-Offensive Rookie of the Month for October with Dolphins tackle Todd Wade. He missed the last three quarters in the season-finale vs. Arizona with a neck injury. Samuels also showed some speed as he and guard Tre Johnson chased down Lions DT Kelvin Pritchett after an INT and tackled him at the goal line to prevent a TD in Week 2.

College/Personal: Samuels ended his celebrated career at Alabama by winning the Outland Trophy as college football's top lineman after his 1999 senior season. He was also a semifinalist for the Lombardi Award and a First-Team All-American. He was named First-Team All-SEC by coaches, AP, the Birmingham News and the Mobile Press Register. He won the Jacobs Award as the SEC's most outstanding blocker. Samuels started 42 straight games, from early in his 1996 freshman season until his last regular-season game as a senior, without yielding a sack. (He had arthroscopic surgery on his right knee as a senior and missed the Orange Bowl, Senior Bowl and NFL Scouting Combine.) He didn't allow a QB pressure in 1999 and had 91 knockdown blocks. He played nearly every offensive snap during the regular season and opened many holes for Shaun Alexander, who gained 1,383 yards rushing. As a junior, Samuels was Birmingham News First-Team All-SEC and an SEC Second-Teamer. He started all eleven games and played in every offensive snap except one. The coaches named him Second-Team All-SEC, an honor he also got as a sophomore. He made steady progress as a true freshman and started the last seven games in 1996. He played in 532 snaps, fourth on the team behind offensive linemen Pete DiMario (809), John Causey (771) and Laron White (641). He was a freshman All-SEC selection by the Knoxville News. He sat out the 1995 season as a redshirt freshman. Samuels majored in human performance at Alabama. He played offense and defense at John Shaw High School in Mobile, AL. He injured his neck late in his senior season and saw limited playing time. He still graded 90 percent or better in every game. He helped Shaw to an 8-3 record and a spot in the state playoffs. Samuels enjoys fishing, swimming and playing basketball. His brother, Lawrence, plays arena football for the New Jersey Red Dogs. Samuels was particularly active last season in the Redskins relief efforts after the September 11th attack at the Pentagon, visiting the victims at Washington Hospital Center and fundraising throughout the season on behalf of the Redskins Relief Fund, benefitting victims and their families. He was also the Redskins United Way spokesman in 2001, as well as participating in numerous charity programs and events. Samuels lives in Ashburn, VA.

KATO SERWANGA

CB
Height: 6-0
Weight: 201
Birthdate: 7-23-76
California
4th NFL Season

Career Highlights:

- Significant contributor on special teams for the Redskins in 2001, specifically defending against punts and kickoffs.
- Recorded a New England team-high 16 tackles, including his first career sack, vs. Buffalo (12/26/99).
- Seeing only limited playing time in a nickel-back role for most of the 1999 season, Serwanga still finished tied for second on the NE squad with three interceptions and second with 15 passes defended.

NFL Acquisition: Signed as a rookie free agent by the New England Patriots on April 24, 1998.

How Acquired: Signed by Washington as an unrestricted free agent on October 16, 2001.

2001 Season: Serwanga had his two best games of the season against the Arizona

Cardinals. At Arizona (12/9) he made significant contributions on special teams, recording three tackles and downing a punt at the one-yard line. In the second game against the Cardinals (1/6/02), he recorded two tackles on special teams, including an authoritative punt return stop of safety Kwamie Lassiter on the Arizona 5-yard line.

Pro Career - 2000: Serwanga played in 15 games as a reserve on defense and saw extensive playing time on special teams for New England. He finished the season with 23 defensive tackles (20 solos), including 2 sacks, 2 fumble recoveries, 1 forced fumble and 2 passes defended. He also recorded 9 tackles on special teams. Against Tampa Bay (9/3) he recovered a fumble on the opening kickoff, forced by Larry Whigham, which resulted in a Patriots field goal. Serwanga also contributed 1 special teams tackle when he dropped Karl Williams for no gain on a punt return as the Patriots limited him to 13 yards on 3 returns. He notched his second career sack against Denver when he dropped Brian Griese for a 4-yard loss in the Patriots 28-19 win against the Broncos. Sacked Charlie Batch against Detroit (11/23) for a 10-yard loss and forced and recovered a fumble which resulted in a Patriots field goal. Also recorded a season-high two special teams tackles. 1999: Serwanga played in every game, starting the final three games of the regular season at left cornerback, after Ty Law was placed on injured reserve with a broken bone in his right hand. He was used primarily as a special teams player early in the season, but saw his role grow into a nickel back and eventually into a defensive starter. Serwanga finished the season with 49 tackles, including 41 solo stops and was tied for second on the team with three interceptions. His 15 passes defended were second only to Law's 19. He was also credited with two forced fumbles, and a fumble recovery and added five special teams tackles. Serwanga recovered his first career fumble against Cleveland (10/3), in a 19-7 victory over the Browns. He intercepted the first pass of his NFL career against Arizona (10/31) when he picked off a Dave Brown pass, one of two passes defended in the game. He finished with four tackles, including three assists. He concluded a spectacular month against Baltimore (1/2/00) with eight tackles against the Ravens and a third quarter interception of Tony Banks in the end zone to end a scoring threat and preserve a 20-3 victory. It was his third interception of the year, only Lawyer Milloy (4) had more interceptions for the Patriots in 1999.

College/Personal: Serwanga was a two-year starter at the University of California, after transferring from Pacific in 1996. He recorded 75 tackles in two seasons at Cal and was credited with five interceptions and five forced fumbles. Combining his four-year collegiate totals, Serwanga played in 41 games, totaled 161 tackles, two sacks, 13 interceptions, 26 passes defended, seven forced fumbles and four fumble recovering. Serwanga was born in Kampala, Uganda. He moved to Sacramento, Calif. with his family when he was 4 years old. His identical twin, Wasswa, played with Kato at every level through their sophomore seasons in college. Wasswa also plays in the NFL, most recently with the Minnesota Vikings in 2001.

NFL Acquisition: Drafted by Cincinnati in 4th round of 1995 (102nd overall).

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent on Feb. 18, 1999.

2001 Season: Shade started 15 of 16 games played, playing a key role in the Redskins defensive success in 2001. He did not start in the season finale because the team started with three cornerbacks. He finished second on the team in tackles with 94 (69 solo). He posted eight tackles in Week 1 at San Diego (9/9) and nine tackles and one forced fumble the next week at Green Bay (9/24). He made his first interception of the season when he picked off NYG quarterback Kerry Collins (10/7). He also recorded six tackles and a pass deflection in that game. The next week at Dallas (10/15), he led the team with ten solo tackles. He made a key interception and returned it nine yards late in the fourth quarter vs. Seattle (11/4), ending the Seahawks hopes of a come back. The Redskins went on to win the game 27-14. In Week 11 at Philadelphia (11/25), he saw action on special teams and recorded a special teams tackle, as well as adding four additional tackles and one pass deflection. He led the team in tackles (7) in Week 16 at New Orleans (12/30) and made his first fumble recovery of the season.

Pro Career - 2000: Shade was instrumental in the Redskins defense placing 4th in the NFL and 1st in the NFC. The hard-hitting strong safety led the team in tackles (143) and solo stops (92) for the second straight year, and placed first in assisted tackles (51). He was the Skins No. 1 tackler in seven games and tied for first twice. He posted a team-high three fumble recoveries, two INTs, seven passes defended and one sack for (-5) yards. He played on kickoff and punt coverage as well, recording six special teams tackles (three solo). He played in all 16 games and started 14. Shade led the Skins with eight tackles in Week 2 at Detroit. The next week vs. Dallas, he intercepted a third-quarter pass to help set up a one-yard TD run by Stephen Davis. He crafted big back-to-back games in Week 5 vs. TB and Week 6 at the Eagles. As the Skins defense held the Bucs to 255 yards, Shade led the team with a season-high 15 tackles. He also recovered a fourth-quarter fumble that led to Brad Johnson's eight-yard scoring pass to Larry Centers, giving the Skins a 17-7 lead in their 20-17 win. Shade made a team-high nine stops against the Eagles to accompany an INT and fumble recovery just before halftime. He tied with FS Mark Carrier for a team-high nine tackles at the Jaguars in Week 8, when he made his only sack of the season and recovered a fourth-quarter fumble. Shade didn't start when the Skins opened in a dime package on defense in Week 11 at St. Louis but still made a team-high eleven tackles. He again led the team in Week 12 vs. the Eagles with ten tackles despite not starting. He tied his season-high with 15 tackles in Week 13 vs. NYG, another team-high. Shade collected a team-high twelve tackles in Week 15 at the Steelers and tied with LB Shawn Barber with a team-high six tackles in the season-finale vs. Arizona. 1999: Shade led the Redskins with 166 tackles and 123 solo stops, both career-highs. He tied with FS Leomont Evans for second on the team with 43 assisted tackles. He had ten games of at least ten tackles and tallied ten passes defended (third on the team), two INTs, one fumble recovery and 1.5 sacks. He had seven tackles (three solo) on special teams. He made at least ten tackles in three of the first four games. In Week 2 at NYG, he had 10 tackles and made a jarring hit on Giants TE Howard Cross. The next week vs. NYJ, he collected a career-high 17 tackles (14 solo). He made at least ten tackles in Weeks 6-9. In Week 7 vs. Chicago, he also threw three blocks on kickoff returns and two on punt returns. He earned a game ball for his effort in Week 10 vs. NYG, making seven tackles, one sack, one INT, one assisted tackle on kickoff coverage and one kickoff return block. He had 15 tackles (eleven solo) the next week at Philadelphia and 14 tackles (eight solo, two-for-loss) in Week 14 at Indianapolis, when he also recovered a fumble and caused an INT. Shade had a great all-around game on special teams against the Colts, tallying one solo tackle on kickoff coverage, one solo stop on punt coverage, two kickoff return blocks and one punt return block. He finished the regular season with a team-high 15 tackles (nine solo) vs. Miami. He then had seven tackles and sacked QB Gus Frerotte twice for losses of 17 yards in the Wild Card Playoff vs. Detroit and made four tackles in the Divisional Playoff at TB. 1998: Shade started 15 games for Cincinnati and tied for second on the team in tackles (78 overall, 60 solo). He missed his only start in Game 5 vs. the Steelers, as Bengals coaches decided to start Myron Bell against his former team. On the year, Shade tallied six passes defended, three INTs and two fumble recoveries. Against GB on 9/20, Shade intercepted a Brett Favre pass. He also recovered a fumble to help keep the Bengals close in a 13-6 loss. He made six tackles vs. the Steelers on 10/11 and earned a special teams game ball. He made a season-high ten tackles and added a sack vs. the Titans on 10/18. He intercepted QB John Elway in a 11/1 loss to Denver, as the Bengals nearly upset the eventual Super Bowl champs. He intercepted Vikings QB

Jay Fiedler and returned it 32 yards for his third INT. His season highlight came vs. the Steelers on 12/20, when he returned a Kordell Stewart fumble 55 yards for a TD, the first of his career.

1997: In 12 games as the Bengals starting strong safety, Shade led the defense in tackles seven times. He won the game ball after making six solo tackles and sacking QB Steve McNair for a six-yard loss in a 12/4 game vs. the Titans. He won another game ball after posting three special teams tackles and a forced fumble on a kickoff return in a win over the Jaguars (11/23). He made a season-high eleven tackles (seven solo) vs. the Eagles (11/30). He also returned an INT 21 yards and had a season-high five special teams tackles. He led the team in tackles with ten in a 11/9 victory over the Colts and set up the game's first TD when he forced a Marshall Faulk fumble. He also added a sack. He played on all special teams coverage and return units despite assuming a starting role in the secondary. For the season, he had 96 tackles, seven passes defended, one forced fumble, one fumble recovery and one INT. He added 19 tackles and one forced fumble on special teams. 1996:

Shade played in twelve games mainly in goal line and multiple TE formations. He preserved a 21-14 Bengals victory on 12/8 vs. Baltimore, tackling Carwell Gardner for no gain on a fourth-and-goal from the one in the last minute. He made five tackles on defense and ten special teams stops overall. 1995: Shade played in all 16 games and started at strong safety in Weeks 7 and 16, making 16 tackles on defense and five special teams stops. He made nine tackles in his first start in a Bengals win at Pittsburgh.

College/Personal: Shade played in every game in four years at Alabama, where he majored in business. As a senior, he finished third on the Crimson Tide with 57 tackles. He also had four tackles-for-loss, three fumble recoveries and a 28-yard INT return. As a junior, he finished second on the team in tackles (73) and had five tackles-for-loss. A native of Birmingham, AL, Shade attended Wenonah HS, where he played football with former Redskins guard Joe Patton. In 2001, Shade participated in a number of Redskins events supporting the Pentagon relief efforts after the September 11th terrorist attacks, including visiting schools to talk to kids and helping fundraise throughout the season. He and his wife, Jacquetta, have two children, Justin and Jaiia and live in Great Falls, VA.

18th NFL Season

Career Highlights:

- One of the most dominant defensive players in NFL history.
- Increased his career sack total to 186.0 with five sacks during the 2001 season; currently second all-time to Reggie White (198). All-time NFL playoff sack leader with 14.5.
- He has sacked 69 different quarterbacks in his career; adding Seahawks quarterbacks Matt Hasselback and Trent Dilfer, New Orleans QB Aaron Brooks and Dallas quarterback Quincy Carter to the list in 2001.
- Perennial All-Pro with trips to the Pro Bowl 11 of his 17 seasons and each year from 1992-98.
- Posted 10 sacks in 2000, setting NFL record for most double-digit sack seasons (13).
- Holds a second-place tie with Lawrence Taylor for most consecutive seasons with double-digit sacks (seven). Reggie White has nine and John Randle has eight.
- Has started 243 of a possible 247 games overall during his career.
- Sacked Carolina QB Steve Beuerlein for a 21-yard loss (9/3/00), a career-long for Smith.
- Won ninth Player of the Week Award, the most among active players, after 3.0-sack, one safety, five-tackle performance at St. Louis (11/20/00).
- Finalist for the 2000 Quarterback Club Redskins Player of the Year Award.
- Has recorded a sack against every NFL team except San Diego, Baltimore and Buffalo.
- Named NFL Defensive Player of the Year in 1990 and 1996.
- Collected career-highs of 120 tackles (1996), 54 QB pressures (1996), 19.0 sacks (1990) and four fumble recoveries (1985).

NFL Acquisition: Drafted by Buffalo in 1st Round of 1985 (first overall).

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent on Feb. 12, 2000.

2001 Season: Smith returned for his second season with the Redskins, leading the team with five sacks for 21.5 yards. He started all 14 of the games he played, missing two games due to injury. He started the season strong, recording five tackles in the season opener at San Diego (9/9) and four more the next week at Green Bay (9/24). He got his first sack of the season vs. Kansas City (9/30), when he and Dan Wilkinson brought down quarterback Trent Green for a one yard loss. Smith went down with a shoulder injury in the first quarter the next week at NYG (10/7) and was inactive for two games. He returned to action in Week 7 vs. NYG and recorded three tackles, a sack on quarterback Kerry Collins and one forced fumble in Washington's 35-21 win over NYG. In Week 8 vs. Seattle (11/4), he sacked the 66th and 67th quarterbacks of his career for one and a half sacks when he sacked Matt Hasselback and Trent Dilfer for a total loss of 12 yards. He also made three tackles and forced his second fumble of the season. Smith posted five tackles and sacked his 68th quarterback vs. Dallas (12/2), when he brought down Quincy Carter for a loss of seven yards. He made two tackles, another forced fumble, a fumble recovery and a pass deflection vs. Philadelphia (12/16) and recorded a season-high six tackles the next week vs. Chicago (12/23). He sacked Aaron Brooks for two yards in Week 16 at New Orleans (12/30) and made two tackles in the season finale vs. Arizona (1/6). Smith finished the season with 51 tackles (33 solo), five sacks, two pass deflections, two forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries.

Pro Career - 2000: Smith was an impact player in his first season in Washington and 16th overall. The pass rushing specialist tallied ten sacks, setting the league's all-time mark for most double-digit sack seasons (13). His sacks totaled 57 yards in losses for a defense rated No. 1 in the NFC and No. 4 in the NFL. He was a finalist for

The Quarterback Club Redskins Player of the Year Award along with Marco Coleman, Stephen Davis and Champ Bailey. Smith was sixth on the team with 68 tackles (43 solo) and recovered a team-high four forced fumbles. He started all 16 games, compiling 229 career starts in a possible 233 games. The DE recorded a sack on his first play for the Redskins in a pre-season contest vs. NE on 8/11. He then dominated in his regular-season debut vs. Carolina, tying Bailey for the team-high in tackles (eight). He also had 1.5 sacks, including one where he dumped QB Steve Beuerlein for a 21-yard loss, a career-long for Smith. He was involved in one of the Skins most bizarre plays of the season in Week 5 vs. TB. He stripped QB Shaun King of the ball around midfield, appearing to end the Bucs final drive with about three minutes to play and the Skins up, 17-7. But King picked up the ball and threw a 46-yard TD to WR Reidel Anthony. Smith forced another fumble when he sacked Eagles QB Donovan McNabb in Week 7. The next week, he tied his season-high for tackles with eight vs. Baltimore, propelling a Skins defense that held the Ravens to a season-low 199 yards. He saved perhaps his best performance for a Monday night game at defending Super Bowl-champion St. Louis in Week 11. He sacked Rams QB Trent Green three times, including one for a fourth-quarter safety that accounted for the final score in Washington's 33-20 win. He was named NFL Player of the Week for the ninth time, the most among active players. Smith had no sacks in Weeks 13-15, but he made the game's only sack in the season-finale vs. Arizona to reach ten and set the NFL record for most double-digit sack seasons. 1999: Smith kept on track as Buffalo's defensive leader in his 15th season. He started all 16 games, posting 80 tackles, seven sacks, and 25 QB pressures. He and WR Andre Reed established a new Bills record by playing in their 15th seasons. Smith dominated the line of scrimmage vs. the Eagles (9/26), picking up his first sack of the season, forcing a fumble and ending an Eagles drive into Bills territory. He finished with six tackles, two QB pressures, one sack and one forced fumble. He had another impressive effort vs. Miami (10/10) with nine tackles, one sack, one forced fumble and one QB pressure. He made five tackles vs. Pittsburgh (10/10), which the Bills defense held to just 48 yards rushing. He again made nine tackles vs. Oakland (10/17) and had two QB pressures. He helped shut down the Ravens offense and recorded two tackles, two QB pressures, three knockdowns and one tipped ball. He recovered a fumble at Washington (11/7), and his two sacks vs. Miami (11/14) marked his 48th career multi-sack performance and the first one since NE (11/13/98). He also tallied five tackles, two QB pressures and one forced fumble. He showed his All-Pro form in NE (12/26) with eight tackles (six solo) and one sack. In the Bills playoff loss to Tennessee he finished with nine tackles (seven solo) and 2.5 sacks to become the NFL's all-time playoff sack leader with 14.5. 1998: Smith was named to the Pro Bowl for the eleventh time and seventh straight time. He had ten sacks for his twelfth double-digit sack season. It was also his seventh straight ten-plus sack season, putting him in a current second-place tie with Lawrence Taylor. He started 15 games, missing the season-opener at SD (9/6) with a knee injury. RB Thurman Thomas also missed the game, marking the first time neither player was in the Bills lineup since 10/18/87, a span of 170 regular-season games. Smith appeared in Week 2 at Miami (9/13), tying for the team lead with a season-high ten tackles. He earned AFC Defensive Player of the Week honors for the eighth time in his career due to a terrific Week 4 game vs. the 49ers: six tackles, six QB pressures, one sack and one forced fumble. He had a season-high two sacks in Week 10 vs. NE (11/15). He played in his 200th regular-season game in Week 15 vs. NYJ (12/19) and joined Andre Reed and Jim Ritcher as the only Bills to play in more than 200 career games. He ended the regular season with a sack and fumble recovery in the season-finale at the Saints (12/16) and made his 19th career playoff appearance in a Wild Card game at Miami (1/2). 1997: Smith started all 16 games and finished with an AFC-high 14.0 sacks that tied him for third in the NFL behind Minnesota's John Randle and the Giants Michael Strahan. Smith's sack total tied for the third-highest in his career. He earned his sixth straight Pro Bowl trip and 10th selection overall. He had four multiple-sack games to raise his career total to 45. He opened the season with two sacks vs. Minnesota (8/31), then had 1.5 at NYJ. He had a season-high ten tackles vs. Detroit (10/5) and combined with Phil Hansen on the game's pivotal play. They tackled RB Barry Sanders in the end zone for the game-winning safety with just over 2:00 left. He had a season-high 2.5 sacks at Indianapolis (10/20) and was named AFC Player of the Week for the seventh time. He garnered AFC Player of the Month honors for October after notching 5.5 sacks, 33 tackles (28 solo) and nine QB pressures in four games. He received that honor for the sixth time. He made at least one sack in eight of the season's first nine games and had at least one sack in six straight games (Weeks 3-9). He sacked QB Dan Marino twice at Miami (11/17). 1996: Smith had perhaps his best season, posting career-highs in tackles (120) and QB pressures (54). He was selected to a ninth Pro Bowl and was named NFL Defensive Player of the Year by AP, UPI, Pro Football Weekly, Football Digest, and College and Pro Football Newsweekly. He won the Mackey Award as the NFL's Defensive Lineman of the Year for the third straight season. He was named AFC Player of the Month for September and November and AFC Player of the Week for Week 11. He led the NFL with three blocked FGs (no other player had more than one) and led the AFC with 13.5 sacks. He made a key play when he hit Giants QB Dave Brown in OT and forced a fumble that Buffalo's Chris Spielman recovered to set up the game-winning FG (9/1). He had three sacks vs. NE (9/8), giving him 5.5 in the season's first two games. He blocked a FG in the fourth quarter at the Steelers (9/16) and blocked a 36-yard FG try late vs. Dallas (9/22). He moved into sole possession of second place on the NFL's all-time sack list with a sack in the fourth-quarter vs. Miami (10/13). At the Eagles (11/10), he sacked QB Ty Detmer on a fourth-and-goal from the three with 0:30 to play to help preserve the Bills win. He blocked his third FG at Indianapolis (12/1). He had his streak of consecutive games with a sack snapped at four at Seattle (12/8). He made a critical play in the third quarter of the Bills playoff-clinching victory over KC (12/22) when he sacked QB Steve Bono, forcing a fumble the Bills recovered. He had four solo tackles and one QB pressure in an AFC Wild Card Playoff vs. Jacksonville (12/28). 1995: Smith was named to his eighth Pro Bowl and was NFLPA Defensive Lineman of the Year. He led the Bills with 36 QB pressures and had his third 100-plus tackle season. He blocked his first career FG vs. Indianapolis (9/17). He made his first sack of the season at the Browns (10/2) and added a sack vs. Atlanta (11/12). He was the Miller Lite Player of the Game for his three-sack performance at SF (12/3). He had two sacks at the Rams (12/10), moving into third place on the NFL's all-time sack list. He had a team-high five QB pressures in the Wild Card Playoff vs. Miami (12/30). He was inactive for the Divisional Playoff (1/6) vs. the Steelers because of the flu and subsequent 104-degree temperature. 1994: Smith was a unanimous First-Team All-Pro and was named to his seventh Pro Bowl. Perhaps his most distinguished honor was being named a finalist for Miller Lite "Player of the Year." He was AFC Defensive Player of the Month for September and AFC Defensive Player of the Week when he had four solo tackles, two sacks, six QB pressures, one forced fumble and one fumble recovery vs. the Chiefs (10/30). He led the Bills in forced fumbles (five) and finished third on the team with 92 tackles. He intercepted his second career pass at NE (9/11) and was credited with a half sack of QB Drew Bledsoe in the end zone that caused a fumble. The Bills recovered it for a score. He tied his personal best of four sacks at Houston (9/18). He was inactive for GB (11/20) due to a shoulder injury, marking his first absence from the lineup since 12/20/92. 1993: Smith was again the NFL's best defensive player. He had 14 sacks, the league's second-best mark and No. 1 for the Bills. He won the George Halas Trophy as the Newspaper Enterprise Association's Defensive Player of the Year. He was named Defensive Player of the Year by Pro Football Weekly. He was voted to his sixth Pro Bowl but missed the game due to the birth of his first child. Smith led the Bills in QB Pressures (24) and was third in tackles (108). He was AFC Defensive Player of the Week in Week 8 at NYJ and AFC Defensive Player of the Month for October. He recorded his first career INT at NYJ (10/24) on a diving grab that sealed the victory. He made his 100th career sack vs. Washington's Mark Rypien (11/1). His six-game consecutive sack streak ended at Pittsburgh (11/15), a streak that matched his own mark in 1986 and Phil Hansen's in 1992. He made two sacks vs. the Raiders (1/15) to become the NFL's all-time playoff sack leader with eleven, overtaking Richard Dent (10.5) and Charles Mann (10). He added another sack in the AFC Championship game vs. KC (1/23). He was the NFL's Postseason Defensive Player of the Week after the Raiders game. 1992: Smith made his fifth trip to the Pro Bowl. He was the NFL Defensive Player of the Week for the AFC Championship game at Miami (1/17). He was nominated as the Bills recipient of the 1992 Ed Block Courage Award. He had eleven tackles (nine solo), three sacks and two QB pressures vs. Indianapolis (9/20). 1991: In the most frustrating season of his career, Smith appeared in only five regular-season games. He was sidelined after the first week of training camp when his knee was scoped. He returned in Week 5 vs. Chicago (9/29). He was inactive the next week at KC (10/7) and went on IR (10/12). He was activated on 11/30 and appeared in only his second game vs. NYJ (12/1). He played in all three playoff games at less than 100 percent but was still effective. 1990: Smith was arguably the NFL's most dominant defensive player. He was voted to his fourth Pro Bowl and was named Defensive Player of the Year by AP, UPI, Football News and Pro Football Weekly. He was Touchdown Magazine's Player of the Year, the NFL Alumni's Defensive Lineman of the Year and AFC Player of the Month (December). He was second in the NFL in sacks with a career-high 19.0, just one behind KC's Derrick Thomas. His 19.0 sacks set a Bills single-season record, breaking his own mark of 15 in 1986. He equaled Bills LB Cornelius Bennett's feat of being named AFC Defensive Player of the Week in consecutive games. Smith did it vs. the Colts (12/9) and NYG (12/15). He was second on the Bills tackle list (101). He completely dominated some games, such as at the Colts (12/9) when he sacked QB Jeff George four times. He made one of the biggest plays in Super Bowl XXV, sacking NYG QB Jeff Hostetler in the end zone for a second-quarter safety that gave the Bills a 12-3 lead. 1989: Smith became the Bills all-time sack leader upon his 52nd sack.

He finished the season with 13.0. He broke the record vs. NYJ (10/22), when he made three sacks. He was a Pro Bowl starter for the third straight year. He finished fourth in team tackles (88, 66 solo) and made a half sack in the playoff game at Cleveland (1/6). 1988: Smith had a fantastic season that ended with Pro Bowl honors for the second time. He was the UPI AFC Co-Defensive Player-of-the-Year. He tied for second in sacks in the AFC with San Diego's Lee Williams (eleven). He played in only twelve games because he missed the first four games after an NFL suspension. He was ninth on the team in tackles with 56 but first in sacks. He made two sacks vs. the Bengals (1/8) in the AFC title game, though he missed some of the game with an injury. 1987: Smith earned his first trip to the Pro Bowl, where he was named MVP. He received multiple prestigious postseason distinctions, including the NFLPA Defensive Lineman of the Year. He led Buffalo with 78 tackles. His twelve sacks were the most by an AFC defensive lineman. He also had 17 QB pressures. He won AFC Defensive Player of the Week for his six-tackle, three-sack effort vs. the Colts (12/13), when he sacked QB Sean Salisbury in the end zone, causing a fumble which Smith recovered for his first NFL TD. He partially blocked a FG vs. the Raiders (12/6). He started the season with 13 tackles vs. NYJ (9/13). 1986: Smith had 15 sacks, tying with SD's Lee Williams for second-most sacks in the AFC. His 63 tackles ranked seventh on the club. He was an AFC Pro Bowl alternate. He had at least one sack in all but three games. 1985: The NFLPA voted Smith AFC Defensive Rookie of the Year. He was also named to the Football Digest All-Rookie team. He started 13 games and led the Bills in sacks (6.5). He also led the team in QB pressures (25).

College/Personal: Smith was the 1985 Outland Trophy winner and a consensus First-Team All-American as a senior at Virginia Tech. He became the No. 1 NFL prospect. He made 46 career sacks for the Hokies and 25 tackles behind the line. His overall tackle total was 180.

FRED

CB
Height: 5-11
Weight: 168
Birthdate: 4-17-79
Mississippi State
2nd NFL Season

Career Highlights:

- Started at right cornerback as a rookie in 2001.
- Finished first on the team in interceptions with five.
- Finished second on the team with 12 pass deflections, behind Pro Bowl corner Champ Bailey.
- Registered a single-game high six tackles at NYG (10/7/01).

How Acquired: Drafted in the second round (45th Round).

2001 Season: Smoot quickly showed the Redskins coaching staff he was ready for the NFL with a strong pre-season in 2001, earning a starting position at right cornerback, across from Pro Bowl cornerback Champ Bailey. He started 13 of 14 games he played and finished the season first on the team with five interceptions and second in pass deflections (12). He made his first career start, interception and fumble recovery in the season opener at San Diego (9/9). He also made four tackles and one pass deflection. The next week at GB (9/24), he made his second interception and recorded another pass deflection. Smoot made a single-game high six tackles in Week 4 at NYG (10/7). He returned an interception 36 yards, made four tackles and recorded two pass deflections the next week at Dallas (10/15) before leaving the game early with a knee injury. Smoot made several key plays in Week 11 at Philadelphia (11/25) including stopping Eagles receiver Todd Pinkston on a third down conversion. Washington held Philadelphia to three of 13 on third down conversions in their 13-3 victory over the Eagles. He grabbed his fourth interception of the season the next week vs. Dallas. Smoot recorded his fifth interception of the season in the Redskins 40-10 win at New Orleans (12/30) in Week 16 and made one tackle and a pass deflection in the season finale vs. Arizona (1/6). He finished the season with 33 tackles (29 solo), five interceptions, 12 pass deflections and one fumble recovery.

College/Personal: As a senior at Mississippi State, Smoot was one of the nation's most dominant defensive backs. He played right CB, and QBs didn't throw much in his direction. He earned multiple honors after finishing with a team-high five INTs, 55 tackles (42 solo), including two for losses (-3 yards), and a school single-season-record 19 pass-breakups. His five INTs tied him for sixth-most ever at MSU in a single season. (He also had five in 1999). He was one of three finalists for the Jim Thorpe Award, which goes annually to the nation's best DB. He earned first-team All-American honors from the AP, Football News, The Sporting News, College Football News and the Walter Camp Foundation.

He was one of five finalists for the Football News Defensive Player of the Year Award. He was named first team All-SEC by the AP, The Sporting News and Football News. He was also one of three finalists for the Conerly Trophy, an annual award given to the state of Mississippi's top college football player. In 1999, Smoot was All-SEC in his first season with the Bulldogs. He started all twelve games, including the Peach Bowl, and recorded 57 tackles and a team-high five INTs. He intercepted a pass for the third straight game and made two tackles in the Bulldogs 17-7 win over Clemson in the Peach Bowl. His INT at the MSU 13 halted Clemson's initial scoring drive. Smoot posted 89 tackles, seven INTs and 15 pass deflections as a sophomore right CB at Hinds (Miss.) Community College in 1998. He also recovered a fumble and had three stops behind the line of scrimmage. He was named a first-team All-American by the National Junior College Athletic Association and All-Region 23. He was also one of the nation's top-50 junior college players on Blue Chip Illustrated's post-season ranking, one of only six CBs so honored. He was listed 53rd on Super Prep's ranking of the country's top junior college prospects. In 1997, Smoot made 68 tackles and six INTs, returning one for a TD, as a freshman at Hinds. He also deflected 18 passes and recovered two fumbles. He tied for second among the state's junior colleges in INTs and posted 86 yards in INT returns. Smoot played in the Mississippi/Alabama High School All-Star game after a standout senior season at Provine High in Jackson, MS. He majored in educational psychology at MSU. Known as a vocal, charismatic player, Smoot has earned the nickname "show time." Smoot partnered with teammate Rod Gardner as spokesmen for Redskins All-Stars, a team program geared at encouraging kids to get involved in community service. He was also active in the team's relief efforts after the September 11th terrorist attacks, visiting with rescue workers at the Pentagon immediately after, and helping fundraise throughout the season for the Redskins Relief Fund, benefitting Pentagon victims and their families.

Career Highlights:

- Started all 16 games during the 2001 season.
- Recorded his first career interception against Carolina (10/21).
- Had career single-game high 12 tackles vs. NY Giants (10/28).
- Finished third on the Skins in 2000 with 17 special teams tackles.
- Forced a fumble on kickoff coverage at St. Louis (11/20/00), leading to three Skins points in their 33-20 Monday night win.

NFL Acquisition: Selected by Washington in the seventh round of the 1998 draft.

How Acquired: Signed as a free agent on Jan. 17, 2000.

2001 Season: Terrell started in all 16 games for the Redskins, recording 93 tackles (55 solo) and two interceptions. He opened the season with eight tackles against San Diego (9/9), then tallied seven tackles against the Packers on Monday Night Football. He then made six tackles vs. Kansas City (9/30), followed by two more six-tackle games against the NY Giants (10/7), and Dallas (10/15). Terrell had his best game of the season against Carolina (10/21), compiling 10 tackles, his first career interception and two pass deflections. Against the NY Giants (10/28), he recorded his career single-game high 12 tackles and also forced a fumble. Terrell made his first career sack against Philadelphia (12/16), while recording eight tackles. He finished the year with four tackles against Chicago (12/23), six tackles in a win at New Orleans (12/30) and three tackles in a win vs. Arizona (1/6).

Pro Career - 2000: Terrell starred on special teams in his first full NFL season. He played on all Skins special teams units over the entire year and finished third on the team with 17 special teams tackles (nine solo). He posted one forced fumble and a fumble recovery. Terrell also saw limited time at CB in five games: at Detroit (9/3), at Philadelphia (10/6), vs. Baltimore (10/15), at Pittsburgh (12/16) and vs. Arizona (12/24). He made three tackles on defense, all solo, and two alone vs. the Ravens. He also defended a pass in that game. He forced a fumble on a fourth-quarter kickoff at St. Louis on Monday night in Week 11, which teammate Sam Shade recovered, and Eddie Murray kicked a 39-yard FG to put the Redskins up by eleven in their 33-20 win. 1999: The Skins re-signed Terrell on Sept. 14, and he spent the entire season on the practice squad. 1998: Terrell was selected by Washington in the seventh round of the 1998 draft. He was waived at the end of training camp and didn't play that season.

College/Personal: Terrell was academically ineligible to play as a senior in 1997 at UTEP. As a junior, he was named All-WAC Mountain Division Second-Team. He was third on the team with 76 tackles (51 solo). He made 108 tackles as a sophomore, second-best on the team, and nabbed a team-high three INTs. He started at FS in 1994 and made 104 tackles. He redshirted in 1993. He was an All-State FS, All-District WR and All-Area basketball player at Sweetwater High. Majored in computer information. After the September 11th attacks, Terrell visited the Pentagon to show his support for the Red Cross volunteers, firefighters and military personnel involved in the rescue efforts. Terrell and his wife, Kiana, have two children: Dejanee and Destiny. The Terrells live in Dallas, TX, during the off-season.

Stephen F. Austin

5th NFL Season

Career Highlights:

- Pro Bowl selection in 2000 and 2001.
- Led the Eagles in tackles for three consecutive seasons (1999, 2000, and 2001).
- Returned an interception 50 yards for his second career touchdown against Dallas on 11/18/01 (Leaf).
- Has started 48 consecutive games at linebacker over the past three seasons, recording a total of 377 tackles.

NFL Acquisition: Selected in the third round (72nd overall) by Philadelphia in 1998.

How Acquired: Signed by Washington as an unrestricted free agent on April 22, 2002.

2001 Season: Trotter continued to be a dominant force on the Eagles' defense. Helped hold Rams RB Marshall Faulk to only 72 yards rushing, more than 20 yards below his season average of a year ago. Led the team over Seattle (9/23) with 11 tackles on the day, including 9 solo and also recorded a sack of QB Matt Hasselbeck. In addition to his 10 tackles against Arizona (10/30), also had a clutch, fourth quarter INT in the endzone, killing a drive deep in Eagles territory. Had 15 tackles against the New York Giants (10/22), and sacked Kerry Collins on what proved to be the Giants last possession of the game, stripping Collins and forcing the fumble that allowed the Eagles to run out the clock and seal a victory. Returned home to Texas against Dallas (11/18) and returned to the end zone. The Hooks native returned an interception 50 yards for a TD to make the score 20-0 just before halftime. In the Wild Card Playoff vs TB, Trotter finished with 5 tackles in the game and played a key role in holding TB to only 2.6 yards per carry. The Divisional Playoff at Chicago, the highly touted match-up with Bears MLB Brian Urlacher saw Trotter finish with 11 tackles and a pass deflection.

Pro Career - 2000: Led the Eagles in tackles (171) for the second straight season en route to earning a spot on the NFC Pro Bowl squad and subsequently started the game as Lions' LB Stephen Boyd was sidelined by injury. He recorded double-digit tackles in 12 of 16 games, despite playing in only three games was named NFC Defensive Player of the Month for December registering 45 tackles and holding Pro Bowl RB's Corey Dillon (24. yds. per carry) and Eddie George (3.1 yds. per carry) in check. Recorded his first career TD at Dallas (9/3), with a 27-yard return of a Troy Aikman interception and recorded a career-high 2.0 sacks vs. Arz. (11/19). Against Cleveland (12/10), Trotter made a season-high 18 tackles and recorded one sack. 1999: In his first season as a starter, led the team with 202 tackles (107 solo), including 2.5 sacks (of Rob Johnson at Buffalo, of Cade McNown at Chicago, and a half-sack of Steve Beuerlein at Carolina). Registered double-digits in tackles in 14 of 16 games. Recorded his first NFL interception at NY Giants (10/3), off of Kent Graham, while registering 16 tackles. Posted a career-high 21 tackles, including 12 solo stops, at Dallas (12/12) and a week later vs. New England, he notched an INT off of Drew Bledsoe in addition to 17 tackles. In the preseason, he beat out rookie LB Barry Gardner, the club's 2nd round draft pick, to earn the starting role at MLB. 1998: After being deactivated for 7 of the first 8 contests, he saw special teams action and reserve duty at linebacker during the latter part of the season.

Due to injuries along the defensive line, also saw action at DE at Dallas.

College/Personal: A three-year starter as a strong side linebacker at Stephen F. Austin, he finished his collegiate career with 265 tackles, including 25 behind the line of scrimmage, 7.5 sacks, 3 interceptions, 3 forced fumbles and 4 fumble recoveries. Trotter was a consensus first team All-America and All-Southland Conference selection as a senior after leading the Lumberjacks with 85 stops, including 4 sacks. He majored in business management at Stephen F. Austin before leaving after his junior year for the NFL. He is currently working towards completing his degree. During the off-season, Trotter and his wife, Tammi, reside in Mt. Laurel, NJ, with their daughter, TreMil.

Career Highlights:

- Played in his first NFL game vs. Dallas (12/2)
- Contributed on special teams

2001 Season: Tucker saw action on special teams and in a reserve role along the offensive line. Against Dallas (12/2), he appeared in his first NFL game and contributed on special teams. He played a reserve role and came in as the tackle eligible in short yardage situations at Arizona (12/9) and on special teams vs. Philadelphia (12/16).

College/Personal: A staple in the Princeton starting lineup, Tucker started in all games during the 2000 season. In 1999, he started the first nine games before tearing a knee ligament. As a sophomore, he made the switch from defense to offense and started all ten games at right guard.

As a freshman, Tucker played on the defensive line, recording eight tackles, one for a loss, and recovered one fumble. He was a GTE/CoSIDA District II Academic All-America in 1999. The Wyomissing, PA, native majored in politics. Last season, Tucker visited a local high school to talk to senior football players about life on and off the field. He shared his personal experiences in the NFL and college football, as well as relating how his education has played a role in reaching his goals. He was active in the Redskins fundraising efforts after the September 11th attacks on the Pentagon, guest-bartending at a number of Morton's events. He participated in the Redskins Read literacy program, as well as charity events throughout the season, including Taste of the NFL, benefiting D.C. Central Kitchen, an organization that re-uses restaurant food and then donates it to area homeless shelters.

Career Highlights:

- Played in all 16 regular season games for Baltimore, starting in 14 of the contests. Also started in both of the Ravens postseason games.
- Stepped in at LG in 27-0 win over Dallas (11/19), as the Ravens set a team record with 250 rushing yards and had a season-high 479 total yards.
- In 1999, Vickers entered the Redskins' NFC Wild Card playoff victory over the Lions at left tackle after a hamstring injury to starter Andy Heck, then started for Heck the following week in the NFC Divisional Playoff game vs. Tampa Bay.
- He played in nine games in 1995, and then started his first career game in a divisional playoff win at Kansas City (1/7/96).

NFL Acquisition: Signed as a free agent with the Indianapolis Colts in 1993.

How Acquired: Signed with Washington as a free agent on June 4, 2001.

2001 Season: Vickers played in all 16 regular season games for the Baltimore Ravens, starting in 14 of the 16 contests. He also started in both Ravens' playoff games. In a 27-10 Divisional loss at Pittsburgh (1/20/02) Vickers started at right tackle. He also started at right tackle in a 20-3 Wild Card win at Miami (1/13/02), as the Ravens offensive line paved the way for 226 rushing yards, the most in team-postseason history. At Minnesota (1/7/02), Vickers started at right tackle helping the team to a 19-3 win, and a Ravens 2001 regular season-high 212 rushing yards. He started at right tackle in a 39-27 win vs. Ind. as the offensive line did not allow a sack. He alternated at right guard with OL Bennie Anderson vs. Tennessee (10/7), as the offensive line paved the way for 207 rushing yards.

Pro Career - 2000: Vickers was a valuable backup playing in 11 games with two starts in the regular season, plus three playoff games. He saw action in the Ravens' 34-7 Super Bowl XXXV win over the NY Giants (1/28/01), as well as in the AFC Championship Game (1/14/01), as the Ravens defeated Oakland 16-3 on the road. Vickers did not play in the playoff game at Tennessee (1/7/01), but he did enter the game at right tackle late in the fourth quarter of Baltimore's 21-3 Wild Card victory over Denver (12/31). In the season finale vs. Jets (12/24) Vickers did not play. He replaced Harry Swayne at RT in the second half of the Ravens' 13-7 win at Arizona (12/17) and he played on special teams in his 50th NFL game, in the Ravens' playoff-clinching 24-3 win vs. San Diego (12/10). Vickers played on special teams and in the second half in Baltimore's 44-7 win vs. Cleveland (11/26), as the Ravens rushed for 247 yards and did not allow a QB sack. In the 27-0 win over Dallas (11/19), Vickers replaced Edwin Mulitalo at LG as the Ravens set a team record with 250 yards rushing and had a season-high 479 total yards. He played on special teams in the Ravens' dramatic 24-23 win at Tennessee (11/12), which was the Titans' first-ever loss in Adelphia Coliseum. Vickers started at RG vs. Washington (10/15) after replacing Mike Flynn, who started at center for Jeff Mitchell (ankle). Stepping in for the injured RT Harry Swayne in the Ravens' 12-0 win at Cleveland, Vickers helped pave the way for 188 yards rushing. He saw his first action of the season late in the Ravens' 37-0 route of Cincinnati (9/24), as the line did not permit a QB sack, and Vickers helped block for 176 rushing yards, convert 12 of 17 third down conversions and score all seven times inside the redzone.

1999: Vickers played in 11 games for the Redskins as a reserve tackle and on special teams. He entered the Redskins' NFC Wild Card playoff victory over the Lions at left tackle after a hamstring injury to starter Andy Heck, then started for Heck the following week in the NFC Divisional Playoff game vs. Tampa Bay. 1998: Vickers was signed by the Redskins on Nov. 24 after being waived in the Colts' training camp. He was inactive for the 'Skins final five regular season games. 1997: Vickers saw action as a reserve in nine games for the Colts. He did not play in four games, and was inactive for three contests. He saw action at LT in a 41-38 win over Green Bay (11/16), as the Colts rushed for 147 yards on 34 carries and a TD. 1996: Vickers started six games at left tackle. He suffered a knee injury in week two vs. the Jets (9/8) and was on the inactive list the following three weeks and did not play in three games. He helped the Colts rush for 152 yards vs. the Jets (11/17) and saw action at left tackle in the playoff loss to Pittsburgh. 1995: Vickers saw reserve action in nine games, and did not play in seven contests. He played for Frankfurt of the WLAF in the spring. Vickers played in all three playoff games and started at LG at Kansas City on 1/7/96. 1994: Vickers spent games one through nine and 11-15 on the Colts' practice squad. He was activated to the 53-man roster for the finale vs. Buffalo (12/24), but did not play. 1993: Vickers spent the first 14 games on the Colts' practice squad and was activated to the 53-man roster for the final two games, but was inactive for both. Vickers was signed by the Indianapolis Colts as an undrafted free agent out of Miami.

College/Personal: As a four-year letterman at Miami, Vickers won second-team All-Big East honors as a senior in 1992. He played on two national title teams and lost only five games in his collegiate career. He is a converted defensive lineman who played on defense his first three seasons as a Hurricane. Vickers switched to offensive tackle after the departure of former-Ravens' teammate Leon Searcy. Kipp played in 11 games with one start at defensive tackle as a sophomore in 1990. He made 18 tackles, five solo and six QB pressures. Vickers had two stops in the Hurricanes' Mobil Cotton Bowl win over Texas. As a freshman in 1989, he had six stops in a reserve role. Vickers was a criminal justice major at Miami and graduated from Tarpon Springs High School in Holiday, FL. Off the field, Vickers volunteers his services to local hospitals, working with children on a regular basis, and is an active member of weekly bible studies. Vickers visited kids at St. Vincent's Center in Timonium (Ravens' Courage House) during the holidays. Kipp and his wife, Tracy, have three children: Treme (11), Trinity (10) and Tajay (7).

Birthdate: 3-13-73
Ohio State
9th NFL Season

Career Highlights:

- Started all 16 games in 2001 for the fourth straight season, and fifth time in six years; has started 123 of a possible 125 games in his career.
- He made a career-high two interceptions in 2001.
- Earned the game ball in the Redskins 17-10 victory over the Broncos (11/18/01) after recording three tackles, one sack and one pass deflection.
- Led the Redskins with eight sacks in 1999, matching his career-high, and was second with 43 QB pressures.
- Returned an INT 88 yards for a score vs. Chicago (10/31/99). It was the longest return ever by a Redskins defensive lineman.
- Played in more snaps (1,037) than any DT in the NFL in 1998.
- Made a career-high 60 tackles in 1998.

- Led AFC interior linemen in 1995 with eight sacks for Cincinnati.
- Volunteered to yield his starting spot vs. the Eagles (12/24/94) so Bengals great Tim Krumrie could start his last home game.

NFL Acquisition: Drafted by Cincinnati in 1st round of 1994 draft (1st overall).

How Acquired: Traded from CIN (2/26/98) for '98 1st- and 3rd-round draft picks.

2001 Season: Wilkinson had another solid season, making significant contributions in 2001. Throughout the year, he made key blocks, allowing other defensive players to make big plays. He started in all 16 games and finished the season with 33 tackles, four sacks for 26.5 yards, four pass deflection and two interceptions. He picked up a half sack and three tackles in Week 2 at GB (9/24), then recorded another tackle and half a sack the next week vs. KC (9/30). He made a season-high four tackles in Week 4 at NYG (10/7). Wilkinson's Week 6 pass deflection on second and goal led to an interception by Otis Leverette on the 1-yard line and ended a critical scoring threat by Carolina. The Redskins went on to beat the Panthers 17-14 in overtime. He had back-to-back games with three tackles and a sack in Weeks 8 and 10 vs. Seattle (11/4) and at Denver (11/18). Although he posted no stats, Wilkinson had perhaps his best game of the season at Philadelphia (11/25). His pressure helped hold Philadelphia's offense to only 186 total yards. He made his first interception of the season vs. Philadelphia (12/16) and also recorded a pass deflection. He made another interception and a pass deflection at New Orleans (12/30) and recorded a tackle and one sack for seven yards in the season finale vs. Arizona (1/6).

Pro Career - 2000: Wilkinson started all 16 games for the third straight season and fourth time in five years. The DT posted 33 tackles (20 solo), 3.5 sacks for (-17.5) yards, two passes defended and one forced fumble. He made a season-high four tackles at both Dallas in Week 14 and at Pittsburgh in Week 15. He also notched a six-yard sack at the Cowboys. He had three tackles in each of three other games: at Detroit in Week 2, at the Eagles in Week 6 and at St. Louis in Week 11. He also tallied a seven-yard sack against the Lions and a three-yard sack at the Eagles. He posted a season-long nine-yard sack at Jacksonville in Week 8. 1999: Wilkinson started all 16 regular-season games and both playoff contests, leading the Redskins with eight sacks to match his career-high from 1995. He finished second in QB pressures (43) and posted 43 tackles (32 solo) and a fumble recovery. He also intercepted his third career pass and scored his first career TD. In Week 7, DE Marco Coleman hit Bears QB Shane Matthews, and the ball fluttered to Wilkinson, who rumbled 88 yards for a TD. The play gave the Redskins a 14-0 lead in their 48-22 win. It was the fourth-longest INT return for a score in Skins history, the longest such return ever by a Skins player at home and the longest return ever by a Skins defensive lineman. "Big Daddy" had five tackles (three solo), two sacks, five pressures and a pass defended at NYG in Week 2, when he was awarded a game ball along with the rest of the starting DL. He had a team-high nine pressures, a sack, two solos and one tackle-for-loss vs. Arizona, and four solos, two assists and two pressures vs. Philadelphia. Against Detroit, he had six pressures and two assists. He made eight tackles in postseason play, five in the Divisional Playoff at TB. 1998: The Redskins acquired Wilkinson in an off-season trade with Cincinnati. He led the team in sacks (7.5), QB pressures (50) and tackles-for-loss (six). His 50 QB pressures were 30 more than the team's No. 2 man in that category, DE Kenard Lang. Wilkinson set career highs in total tackles (60) and solo stops (51). He had two passes defended, a fumble recovery and an INT. When DT Dana Stubblefield was lost for the season with a knee injury after Week 7, Wilkinson became the Redskins main playmaker on the defensive line. Over the last eight games, he had 35 tackles, five sacks, five tackles-for-loss, one INT and one fumble recovery. In the Redskins 28-25 win over Carolina in Week 14, he sacked Panthers QB Steve Beuerlein for a seven-yard loss on the last drive and finished with five tackles, one tackle-for-loss, three QB pressures and the crucial sack. The next week vs. TB, he posted similar numbers: five tackles, one tackle-for-loss, four QB hurries and a sack. Wilkinson intercepted his second career pass in Week 10 vs. Philadelphia. He picked off the deflected pass deep in Eagles territory and ran four yards before being tackled. The turnover set up the Skins first TD. He also performed well vs. NYG with 14 QB

Formula for QB Rating

"Quarterback Rating" is the most complicated of the NFL's official statistics. The formula uses five factors: attempts, completions, gross yardage, touchdowns and interceptions. It was designed so that a score of 100 would mean "great", with 90 as "very good", 80 as "good" – similar to an A-B-C grading scale. It is possible to score over 100, a feat accomplished in 2000 by Redskins QB Jeff George (11/20 111.0, 12/3 100.0).

Here's the formula which works when entered into Microsoft Excel. Be careful, there are 196 characters which must be typed perfectly, without any spaces, in order to calculate correctly:

yards and two scores, including a 50-yarder to Roydell Williams and added another touchdown on a 1-yard run against Cincinnati while throwing for 253 yards and 2 touchdowns on 24 of 45 passes. He completed 21 of 31 attempts for 355 yards and 4 touchdowns, including 11- and 44-yards to Terrell Harris against TCU. He threw for 177 yards and a score on 22 of 39 attempts against UAB. Against Louisville, Ramsey completed 15 of 30 tosses for 172 yards. Against Navy, he threw for 442 yards with touchdowns of 35, 10 & 62 yards to Williams on 36 of 49 passes and his 442 yards rank second on the school's game-record chart behind his own 447 yards vs. Army in 1999 (now owns the top five passing performances in school history). 2000: Ramsey was selected to the All-Louisiana first-team and All-Conference USA second-team. He led the third-ranked passing offense (seventh overall) in the country and earned Conference USA Player of the Week honors three times. He completed 229 of 389 passes (58.9%) for 2,833 yards and 24 touchdowns and his 283.3 yards per game passing led the conference and his average of 288.6 yards per game in total offense ranked eighth in the nation. He passed for 347 yards and 3 touchdowns on 34 of 50 attempts against Southern Methodist. Against Louisiana-Lafayette, he amassed 403 yards on 31 of 46 passes with two touchdowns, including a 40-yarder to Adrian Burnette and ran for a pair of 1-yard scores. His 403 yards rank fourth on the school's game-record list. Ramsey completed 34 of 54 passes for 301 yards and 2 touchdowns against Louisville. He threw for 300 yards and four touchdowns on 19 of 33 attempts against Houston. Against Navy he tied a school game-record with five touchdown passes, completing 26 of 40 passes for 380 yards and finished the season against Memphis, completing 29 of 56 passes for 360 yards. 1999: He set 20 Tulane passing marks, including the single-season records for yards (3,410), yards per game (310.0), attempts (513) and completions (310). His 25 touchdowns rank second on the school's season-record list and he averaged 304.5 yards per game in total offense. Against Southern Methodist, Ramsey became the first player in school history to throw for over 400 yards in a game, as he completed on 32 of 49 attempts for 404 yards. He broke his school game-record he set the previous week as he gained 447 yards on 34 of 49 attempts with four touchdowns. He completed 26 of 53 passes for 342 yards and an 80-yard touchdown to Kerwin Cook against Syracuse. He had his fourth-straight 300+-yard game as he completed 35 of 59 attempts for 339 yards and a 24-yard touchdown to Dawson against Ole Miss. He posted 396 yards on 37 of 52 passes with a school, game-record tying five touchdowns against Louisiana-Lafayette. 1998: Ramsey saw action in three games, completing 3 of 5 passes for 27 yards, one touchdown and no interceptions. He threw his first career touchdown pass vs. Southwestern Louisiana.

Personal: Ramsey graduated from Ruston (La.) High. He was a two-year starter for the football team, completing 90 of 201 passes for 1,073 yards and 12 touchdowns as a senior. An accomplished javelin thrower, he won the state Class 5A championship and prestigious Golden West Invitational in the javelin throw as a senior.

He was also the No. 1 prep javelin thrower nationally in 1997. He also won a bronze medal at the Pan American Games in Havana, Cuba. He competed for the Tulane track team and posted a Conference USA-best throw of 218 feet in the javelin during the 1998 outdoor season. He was a perennial Honor Roll student. A five-time selection to the Conference USA Commissioner's Honor, he graduated from Tulane in December 2001, with a double degree in Accounting and Finance. He and his wife, Virginia, were married just prior to the 2002 NFL Draft.

RB
Height: 5-10
Weight: 221
Birthdate: 8-27-79
Iowa
Rookie

How Acquired: Selected by the Redskins in the second-round of the 2002 Draft (56th overall).

Career Highlights:

- Impact runner who despite playing behind mediocre offensive lines during his career, still managed to gain 3,686 yards on 831 carries (4.4 avg), topped only by Sedrick Shaw (837 attempts for 4,156 yards, 1993-96) on the school's all-time record list.
- His 25 rushing touchdowns are surpassed only by Shaw (33) and Tavian Banks (33, 1994-97) in Iowa annals.
- Ranks tenth on the school's career-record scoring chart with 162 points.
- Joined Shaw as the only players in school history to rush for over 1,000 yards in a season twice in a career.
- Became the first player in Hawkeye history to lead the team in rushing four straight years
- Started 43 of 46 games during his career.

2001 Season: Betts was named second-team All-Big Ten Conference by the league's coaches. He started every game, extending his consecutive string to 42 contests. He was one of five seniors selected to team Leadership Group for the 2001 season. He carried 222 times for 1,060 yards (4.8 avg) with 10 touchdowns and his 1,060 yards rank eighth on the school's season-record list. He also added 15 receptions for 137 yards (9.1 avg), a score and 9 yards on a kickoff return. Betts gained a season-high 172 yards on 22 carries, including a 5-yard score and caught two passes for 14 yards against Indiana. He rushed 15 times for 121 yards and a 38-yard touchdown against Wisconsin, then against Northwestern he gained 86 yards on 22 carries with scores of 4 & 9 yards. He ran for 171 yards on 28 rushes with a 5-yard touchdown against Minnesota. Against Iowa State, he rushed for 150 yards on 25 attempts with a 42-yard touchdown and caught 3 passes for 22 yards, including a 14-yard score. In the Alamo Bowl against Texas Tech, he had a 10-yard reception and two carries for four yards.

2000: Betts was an All-Big Ten Conference honorable mention. He was a recipient of the team's Coaches Appreciation Award. He started every game, rushing for a career-high 1,090 yards (seventh-best season total in school history) on 232 carries (4.7 avg) with five touchdowns. Betts tied Sedrick Shaw (1994-96), Jon Lazar (1976-78) and Silas McKinnie (1965-67) for the school record as he led the team in rushing for the third-straight year. Against Kansas State, he caught 17 passes for 111 yards (6.5 avg). He was then named Big Ten Conference Offensive Player of the Week as he rushed for 50 yards and Iowa's only score, adding 30 yards on two receptions. He rushed 23 times for 115 yards against Illinois. He gained a season-high 154 yards on 18 carries and had touchdowns of 65 & five yards against Minnesota. Betts finished the season with 25 carries for 101 yards against Penn State. 1999: Betts was a second-team All-Big Ten-Conference selection and team co-Most Valuable Player. He started all year, carrying the ball 189 times for 857 yards (4.5 avg) and five touchdowns, becoming the 15th player in school history to lead the team in rushing in consecutive seasons. He caught 20 passes for 195 yards (9.8 avg) and a score. He gained a career-high 174 yards on 33 rushes, including a 10-yard touchdown and had two catches for 18 yards against Northern Illinois. His 174 yards were the most by a Hawkeye running back since Tavian Banks totaled 204 yards vs. Northern Iowa in 1997. He caught three passes for 44 yards and rushed for 103 yards on 16 carries with a career-long 74-yard touchdown against Northwestern. 1998: Betts played in every game as a redshirt freshman, starting vs. Iowa State, Arizona and in the final six contests. He led the team with 188 carries for 679 yards (3.6 avg), five touchdowns, finishing third on the squad with 20 receptions for 259 yards (12.9 avg) and he also completed a pass for a 23-yard gain.

Against Iowa State, Betts scored the team's only touchdown on a 4-yard run in his first collegiate start. He gained 56 yards on 17 carries against Arizona. Against Illinois, he ran for a 4-yard touchdown, finishing with 56 yards on 13 rushes. He rushed for 60 yards on 16 carries against Michigan. Betts rushed for 112 yards on 30 carries, including a 2-yard score and caught 9 passes for 96 yards, finishing the day with 208 all-purpose yards vs. Northwestern. Betts had a breakout game against Indiana, amassing 151 yards on 31 carries.

Personal: Betts was named USA Today Missouri Player of the Year after earning first team All-State and All-Metro honors at Blue Springs (Mo.) High. He was also named Parade and SuperPrep All-American choice and selected to Blue Chip Illustrated's Dream Team. He was also a Prep Football Report All-American and PrepStar All-Big Twelve Region pick. Prep Football Report named Betts the third-best recruit in the Midlands region and 57th best recruit in the nation. He was rated the sixth-best tailback prospect in the nation by SuperPrep and was named SuperPrep's Midlands Offensive Player of the Year. He earned All-Midland honors and was Midland Player of the Year as a senior, adding the Thomas Simone Award, which goes to the best high school player in the Kansas City area. Betts carried 238 times for 2183 yards (9.2 avg) and 32 touchdowns as a senior, helping the team post a 10-1 record, despite playing the majority of the season with a broken right hand. He averaged 40.3 yards on 11 kickoff returns and gained 1813 yards with 34 touchdowns rushing as a junior. Betts also excelled in track, competing as a sprinter. He was a recreation major at Iowa. He lives in Blue Springs, MO.

CB
Height: 5-8
Weight: 181
Birthdate: 5-07-79
Oregon
Rookie

How Acquired: Selected in the third round (79th overall) in the 2002 NFL Draft.

Career Highlights:

- Anchor of the Ducks' secondary, starting 47 games during his career.
- Owns the Oregon career-record with three interception returns for touchdowns.
- Tied for sixth in Oregon annals with twelve interceptions.
- Only Jake Lecht (298 yards, 1945-47) has gained more yardage on interception returns in school history than Rashad's 293 yards.
- His 22 pass deflections in 2000 tied a school season-record.

2001 Season: Bauman was a third team All-American selection by The NFL Draft Report, as well as an All-Pac 10 Conference second-team choice. He started all year at left cornerback and recorded 56 tackles, deflecting 16 passes and intercepting two others for 39 yards in returns. In Oregon's first game of the season, Bauman held Wisconsin's standout receiver Nick Davis to only 37 yards as he totaled eight tackles and a pass deflection. During a four-game stretch versus Southern California, California, Stanford and Washington State, Bauman recorded 23 tackles, while forcing and recovering one fumble. 2000: Rashad was a first-team All-American selection by The Sports Xchange and FansOnly.com, while earning third-team honors from the Associated Press and Football News. He was also a All-Pac 10 Conference first-team choice. He started every game at left cornerback, registering 32 tackles, causing two fumbles to lead the team. Bauman also ranked eleventh in the nation with five interceptions. Against Nevada, Rashad batted away three passes inside the red zone, including one inside the end zone and returned an interception 17 yards to set up a scoring drive. He set a school career-record versus Washington State with his third interception return for a touchdown as he returned an interception 42 yards into the end zone in the first quarter, while also making three pass deflections and four tackles. Bauman earned Player of the Game honors in the Holiday Bowl against Texas, delivering six tackles, batting away a pass and intercepting another, while holding receiver Roy Williams to two catches. His performance earned him a berth on Sports Illustrated's All-Bowl team.

1999: Bauman was a medical redshirt the entire season due to a right knee injury. 1998:

Bauman was an All-American selection by SportsPage.com and All-Pac 10 Conference honorable mention. He led the team as he deflected 11 passes and had three interceptions for 115 yards in returns and a touchdown. 1997: Bauman replaced Brandon McLemore at the free safety position in the season's second game, earning eleven consecutive starts and a second-team freshman All-American selection by the Sporting News. He recorded a career high 56 tackles, along with six pass deflections and two interceptions for 61 yards and a touchdown. Against Southern California Bauman became the first freshman in school history to return an interception for a touchdown, returning the ball 61 yards for a score.

Personal: One of the most decorated gridiron stars in South Mountain (Phoenix, Az.) annals. He was named Arizona Class 5A Player of the Year by the Phoenix Metro Magazine and selected the state's premier defensive back, receiving the Tyrone Byrd Award during his senior season. He also gained 977 yards (8.8 avg.) and 18 touchdowns as a running back as the state's 5A scoring champion (172 points). Rashad, whose nickname is "Bo", was a sociology major at Oregon.

CLIFF RUSSELL

82

WR
Height: 5-11
Weight: 186
Birthdate: 2-08-79
Utah
Rookie

How Acquired: Selected in the third round (87th overall) of the 2002 NFL Draft.

Career Highlights:

- Russell was the fastest player to ever perform for the Utes, recording a 4.27 time in the 40-yard dash.
- He started the last three years at flanker, catching 124 passes for 1862 yards (15.0 avg) and 10 touchdowns.
- His 124 receptions and 1862 yards rank sixth on the school's career-record lists.

2001 Season: As a senior Russell's speed and catching ability earned him an All-Mountain West Conference second-team selection by the league's coaches and media. Russell started every game at the flanker position, leading the team with a career-high 53 receptions for 744 yards (14.0 avg) and four touchdowns, while rushing five times for 26 yards (5.2 avg). Active in the Utes offense, Russell averaged 70.0 all-purpose yards per game. Against Oregon, Russell recorded 100 yards on seven receptions while facing one of the Pac-10 Conference's top cornerbacks and fellow Redskins draftee, Rashad Bauman. The best game of the 2001 season for Russell was versus Wyoming where he hauled in seven receptions for a season-high 157 yards and a 44-yard touchdown. In his next four games against Colorado State, UNLV, San Diego State, and BYU Russell tallied 20 receptions for 213 yards. Finishing the regular season with five catches for 59 yards including a 19-yard touchdown, Russell and the Utah Utes headed to the Las Vegas Bowl and faced Southern California. In the Bowl game, Russell wrapped up his college career with two catches for 19 yards.

2000: Russell appeared in eight contests, starting six at the flanker slot, and despite missing three games, he still managed to lead the team with 37 receptions for 517 yards (14.0 avg) and three touchdowns. His play earned him All-Mountain West Conference honorable mention. Russell averaged 65.2 all-purpose yards per game his junior year. Against Arizona he caught 10 passes for 141 yards, and versus Washington State he gained 131 yards on eight receptions, including touchdowns of 24 & 47 yards. 1999: Russell started eight of the nine games he played, finishing second on the team with 34 receptions for 601 yards (17.7 avg) and three touchdowns. He became an offensive weapon averaging 67.4 all-purpose yards per game. In the Boise State game, he returned to catch three passes for 67 yards and a 52-yard score. Against Air Force he caught four passes for 77 yards, followed by a six catch, 63-yard effort versus San Diego State. Russell continued to get better, gaining 83 yards on six catches versus Colorado State. In his best game as a sophomore he caught six passes for 155 yards and an 80-yard touchdown against Wyoming. His 80-yarder was the ninth-longest reception in school history and the longest since Henry Lusk's 87-yard grab vs. San Diego State in 1973. Against Brigham Young he caught four passes for 95 yards and a 70-yard score, and finished with a strong bowl game performance by recording five catches for 96 yards facing Fresno State in the Las Vegas Bowl.

1998: Russell also saw action versus Louisville and Texas-El Paso.

Personal: Russell was All-State as well as the 1996 OIA Offensive Player of the Year at Campbell High (Ewa Beach, Hi.) High. He was offensive captain and earned the league's Most Outstanding Player. He also set school records for most yards in a game and longest touchdown run (91 yards). As an Athlete of the Month, Russell led Campbell to the 1996 OIA championship game. He also lettered in track. He was born in North Carolina and now resides in Ewa Beach, Hawaii.

Birthdate: 11-4-78
Tennessee
Rookie

How Acquired: Selected by the Redskins in the sixth round (192nd overall) on the 2002 Draft.

Career Highlights:

- Two-year starter at left offensive tackle. Started 22 of his final 24 games.
- Coleman was rated the best offensive line prospect in Arkansas by Super Prep as a senior at Jonesboro (Ark.) High.

2001 Season: Coleman started ten contests at left offensive tackle, collecting 65 key blocks/knockdowns for an offense that averaged 402.4 yards per game. Against Louisiana State he made six knockdowns, effectively blocked linebacker Trev Faulk and also opened a hole used for a 3-yard scoring run as the team totaled 448 yards. Coleman knocked down defensive end Dennis Johnson with a block to setup Tennessee's 59-yard touchdown pass to Donte' Stallworth against Kentucky. He made a key block on linebacker Andra Davis to spring tailback Travis Stephens for a 35-yard scoring run as the Vols amassed 242 yards on the ground against Florida. In the Citrus Bowl, versus Michigan, Coleman paved the way for Stephens' 3-yard touchdown run as the offense finished with 503 yards. 2000: Coleman started every game at left offensive tackle, grading 82.2% for blocking consistency while posting 73 knockdowns for an offense that averaged 406.4 yards per game. Against Louisiana State he finished with six knockdowns, including one that cleared the way for a 13-yard gain by tailback Travis Henry that set up a Vol 36-yard field goal. He graded a season-high 88%, recording ten knockdowns and blocking a pair of defenders on a 2-yard scoring pass against Arkansas, as the offense amassed 502 yards. 1999: Coleman appeared in ten games, starting the Georgia contest at left offensive tackle. In his start against Georgia, he helped the pass protection with four knockdowns as QB Tee Martin passed for 283 yards and rushed for three touchdowns.

Personal: Coleman was a three-year starter playing both ways at offensive tackle and defensive end at Jonesboro (Ark.) High. As a senior, Super Prep rated him the best offensive line prospect in Arkansas. He was a two-time All-State pick and also earned All-Region and All-District honors. As a senior he had 72 tackles with 12 for losses and three sacks. In addition to football, Coleman was the starting center on the state championship basketball team as a freshman and also threw shot put for track team. He was a sociology major at Tennessee.

43

LS
Height: 6-3
Weight: 257
Birthdate: 12-16-79
UCLA
Rookie

How Acquired: Selected in the seventh-round of the 2002 Draft (230th overall).

Career Highlights:

- Performed long snapping duties throughout entire four-year career at UCLA.
- One of just five true freshmen to play for the varsity 2001 Season: Grau served as UCLA's snapper on all punts and placements. He was perfect on every snap and recorded two special teams tackles. Coming into the draft, he was considered the top collegiate long snapper. 2000: Grau was one of the unsung players on the team, but he again played an important role with his snaps on punts and place kicks. His role was especially important on PAT and FG attempts due to a new holder. As a leader on special teams, he was usually one of the first players down the field on punt coverage. 1999: Grau's efforts as the long snapper played an important role in the success of two new kickers. Punter Nate Fikse and place kicker Chris Griffith filled the new kicking duties. Considered very athletic, Grau also made three tackles on punt coverage. 1998: He earned the long snapping job for place kicks during fall camp and eventually took over duties for the punting unit, where he excelled. He was one of just five true freshmen to play for the varsity.

Personal: Grau earned two letters in football under coach Steve Grady at Loyola High School. He played tight end and defensive end as a senior, and quarterback and defensive line as a junior. As the captain of the squad his senior year, he earned first-team All-League acclaim and led Loyola as CIF Division I runner-up. He recorded 64 tackles, including six sacks, and made eight receptions for 68 yards. He was also selected first-team All-League three times and team MVP twice as a first baseman and pitcher. He was a sociology major at UCLA and was born in Inglewood, CA.

Redskins Memory Lane

'Redskin' Through the Years...

Red Cloud. Red Thunder. Red Eagle. Redlands. Red mud.

"The term redskin, applied by Europeans to Algonquians in general and the Delawares in particular," says the Reader's Digest in its book America's Fascinating Indian Heritage, "was inspired not by their natural complexion but by their fondness for vermillion makeup, concocted from fat mixed with berry juice and minerals that provided the desired color." The men "would streak their faces and bodies with bright red ocher and bloodroot," adds the Reader's Digest.

Indians painted their skin for decorative and ceremonial purposes. "Red is generally accepted as being one of the colors most easily available to and most used by Indians," as Ronald P. Koch states in his book Dress Clothing of the Plains Indians.

The Start

July 9, 1933

George P. Marshall heads syndicate (Vincent Bendix, Jay O'Brien, Dorland Doyle) that buys NFL franchise for Boston, MA. They contract to play in Braves-Field, home of National League Baseball team, and are called "The Braves."

The Name

July 8, 1933

The Boston Gridders move to Fenway Park, home of the American League Red Sox, and "The Braves" become "The Redskins."

The Franchise

Feb. 13, 1937

The Washington Redskins are officially born! The National Football League approves transfer of Boston Redskins franchise to Washington, DC, and a new history begins.

The Band

Aug. 9, 1937

The famed Redskins Band founded. First of its kind.

First Victory

Sept. 16, 1937

The First Game! Thursday night opener draws 19,941 fans to flood-lighted Griffith Stadium. Riley Smith scores on 60-yard run with interception, two field goals and an extra point. Redskins 13, Giants 3.

First Title

Dec. 5, 1937

Ten thousand fans stomp up Broadway behind brass band. Sammy Baugh completes 11 of 15, Cliff Battles runs 75 and 76 yards for TDs, Giants routed 49-14, for Eastern Championship.

World Champs!

Dec. 12, 1937

Freezing weather, frozen field, icy-nerved Bears can't stop Baugh. Completes 17 of 33 for 335 yards and 3 TDs. Wayne Millner, the all-time Notre Dame great, escapes with nine catches for 160 yards, including 77 and 55-yd. TD spring.

Westward Ho!

Aug. 2, 1939

Redskins set forth on first coast-to-coast football training trip. Training site: Eastern State Normal School in Cheney, Washington.

Zero Hour

Oct. 1, 1939

Only scoreless tie in Redskin history as Giants are battled in mud and rain.

Record Pass

Oct. 15, 1939

From kick formation, standing deep in end zone, Frank Filchok flips pass to Andy Farkas who goes all the way for the touchdown. Longest pass play in National Football League history, 99 yards.

East. Champs

Dec. 1, 1940

Miniature-sized Davy O'Brien of Eagles completes 33 passes in 60 attempts, but Redskins win 13-6 to clinch Eastern Championship.

73-to-Ohhhh!

Dec. 8, 1940

Redskins get more first downs than Bears in World Championship Game at Griffith Stadium, but lose 73-0.

California

Aug. 18, 1941

Redskins bring pro football on large scale for first time to California. Establish training quarters in San Diego at Brown Military Academy.

Title Escapes

Nov. 23, 1941

Fifty seconds to go in the Eastern Championship Game, Redskins hold 13-10 lead. But Giants get field goal and touchdown to win, 20-13.

Only Loss

Sept. 27, 1942

Giants don't make first down, gain only ONE yard rushing, complete just ONE pass...but it's good for TD; then they capture another TD on interception...and Redskins suffer their only 1942 defeat, 14-7.

World Champs!

Dec. 13, 1942

Bears take early lead on errant pass from center. But Sam Baugh's 85-yd. quick kick sets them back on their heels. Wilbur Moore then makes a vital interception and follows with a sensational catch for 38-yd TD. Andy Farkas caps victory by carrying ball 10 of 12 times on 80-yd TD tour. Score: 14-6.

A New Beginning

Sept. 12, 1982

With the 0-5 start of a year ago, the 0-4 preseason fresh on everyone's mind, Mark Moseley lifts the burden with 26-yard overtime field goal to give the Redskins a victory over Philadelphia. Moseley had only minutes earlier sent the game into overtime with a 48-yarder.

Strike!

Sept. 21, 1982

The NFL players walk out in a strike that would last until Nov. 17. In all, eight games were missed, seven cancelled.

Holy Moseley!

Dec. 19, 1982

With time running out, the game on the line, with an NFL record at stake, Mark Moseley beats the Giants by booting his 21st straight field goal in a snowy RFK Stadium. The kick breaks Garo Yepremian's record of 20 and gives the Redskins a 15-14 win. Also in the game, John Riggins becomes only the fifth back in NFL history to exceed 2,000 carries (Payton, Simpson, Brown, and Harris are the others).

A Whitewash

Jan. 2, 1983

For first time since 1980, the Redskins post a shutout with beating Cardinals 28-0. Their 8-1 record is the best in the NFC, giving them home-field advantage throughout the playoffs. The 128 points given up by the Redskin defense is the fewest in the NFL.

Hogs Take Their Bows

Jan. 15, 1982

The celebrated Hogs create enough holes in the Viking defense for John Riggins to plow for a Redskin playoff record of 185 yards, leading Washington to a 21-7 win and a spot in the NFC Championship. Before leaving the game, Riggins gallantly bows to the 54,000-plus Redskins faithful who roar in approval.

Sweet revenge

Jan. 22, 1983

The Redskins avenge their only loss of the season, setting back the Cowboys, 31-17, to reach their second Super Bowl, and first in ten years.

Super Bowl Win!

Jan. 30, 1983

The Redskins win Super Bowl XVII downing the Dolphins 27-17. Their win streak reaches eight, and 15 of 16 and 20 of 24 over two seasons. Jack Kent Cooke accepts the Super Bowl Trophy from Pete Rozelle in the locker room as MVP Riggins boasts, "Ron may be President, but for tonight I'm King." The Redskins' 12-1 record is the fifth best NFL mark in the last 50 years, and their best ever.

Hails from the Chief

Jan. 31, 1983

President and Mrs. Reagan are at Dulles Airport to greet the World Champion Redskins as they arrive back from California.

Parade of Stars

Feb. 3, 1983

Mark Moseley is named NFL MVP by Associated Press, Joe Theismann Miller Man of the Year, and five Redskins (the most since 1972) are named to the Pro Bowl: Moseley, Theismann, Tony Peters, Charlie Brown, and Mike Nelms. Later, Bobby Beathard is named Executive of the Year. And Riggins, who had four straight 100-yard rushing playoff games, the first ever to do so, wins a car as Super Bowl MVP.

Jurgy to Mitch

July 30, 1983

Former Redskin greats quarterback Sonny Jurgensen and receiver Bobby Mitchell are inducted into Pro Football's Hall of Fame.

Monday Night Fever

Oct. 1, 1983

The Redskins lose 48-47, in the highest scoring game in Monday night football history. The Redskins and the Packers combine for over 1,000 yards total offense.

The Diesel Keeps Trucking On

Nov. 2, 1983

John Riggins sets NFL record. His consecutive games with rushing touchdowns reaches 12 while notching his 19th touchdown of the year to tie that NFL mark. John's streak ends at 13 consecutive games while he goes on to establish an NFL record 24 touchdowns.

Doomsday Showdown in Dallas

Dec. 11, 1983

Dressed in army fatigues, the Redskins marched into Dallas to do battle. The result was a convincing 31-10 victory and sole possession of first place in the NFC East. It was a game that saw Tony Dorsett held to 34 yards on 14 carries (one yard of five carries in the second half) and scores from four different Redskins.

Perfect

Oct. 19, 1987

For the second year in a row the Redskins finished with the best record in the NFL. Their 31-22 victory over the Giants capped a remarkable 14-2 regular season. It is the first time in the history of the League that an NFC team has compiled so many victories.

Mark Moseley's NFL kick scoring record of 161 points, and Riggins' total of 144 points, top entire NFL. It is the first time since 1951 that the number one and two scorers played on the same team. Their total of 305 points surpasses the totals of eight other clubs.

The Redskins ring in the New Year by drubbing the L.A. Rams 51-7 in the most lopsided playoff in 26 years. Team sets or ties 13 club playoff marks with the 44-point margin of victory, the greatest in the 47-year history of the Redskins.

The 10 victories marks a third consecutive season the Redskins won 10 or more games, equalling a club-best streak set from 1972-74. The 35 wins in those three seasons were a club record for the successes for a three-year period. Three were also meaningful for offensive linemen Joe Jacoby and Russ Grimm, who each earned a third consecutive trip to the Pro Bowl. Receiver Art Monk (91 catches) was sent for second straight time.

The Washington Redskins entered their 50th season in the Nation's Capital, celebrating the franchise's move from Boston to Washington.

Headed by Coach Ray Flaherty of the 1937 World Champions, former players and coaches gathered to kickoff the 1986 season.

WR Gary Clark accounted for 241 receiving yards (on 11 catches) to break teammate Art Monk's club record on Monday Night TV.

Eager to avenge their first loss of 1986, the Redskins came out smokin' against Dallas. The 34-0 first half lead marked the most points the Cowboys had ever allowed in a single half of play. The Redskins 41-14 win was their most points ever against the Cowboys.

Head Coach Joe Gibbs became the winningest coach in Redskin history gaining his 70th win as the team defeated the Bears 27-13 in a divisional playoff.

With 15 new faces on the roster, the Washington Redskins played in their third NFC Championship game in five years.

Hogs Russ Grimm and Joe Jacoby returned to the Islands of Hawaii for the fourth consecutive season. Joined by Art Monk, Darrell Green, Gary Clark, Dexter Manley, and Jay Schroeder, the Redskins equalled a club record seven participants in the annual classic.

NFL players walk out following the second week of the regular season.

Redskin "replacement" players close out their season with a perfect 3-0 mark. Team holds on to defeat Dallas, Quarterback Doug Williams connects on 11 of 22 for 217 yards and two TDs in Minnesota. The 27-24 overtime victory is highlighted by a Ricky Sanders 51-yard catch-and-run to force sudden death. Haji-Sheikh kicks the game winner.

For the second time in two years, 'Skins travel to Chicago for Divisional Playoff. After trailing 14-0 in the second quarter, team rallies to win 21-17. Darrell Green provides the game-winning points on an electrifying 52-yard punt return, as Redskins advance to the NFC Championship Game for the fourth time in six seasons.

Redskins are 17-10 victors over the Minnesota Vikings as Doug Williams connects with Gary Clark to break a 10-10 fourth quarter deadlock. Washington becomes the first team to advance to the Super Bowl three times in the 1980s.

Twenty Super Bowl records are broken en route to 42-10 decision over the Denver Broncos. Quarterback Doug Williams is named the game's MVP as he connects on 18 of 29 for a record 340 yards. His four touchdown passes tie another record as team scores five times in five possessions in the second quarter alone.

Joe Gibbs registered his 100th career win as head coach of the Redskins as the team defeated San Diego, 26-21. Only six other coaches reached 100 wins faster than Gibbs.

Art Monk moved into third place on the all-time NFL receiving list, ahead of friend and receivers coach Charley Taylor, in Washington's 26-21 win vs. SD.

The Redskins equaled the greatest comeback in club history with a 41-38 overtime win at Detroit. Down by 21 points in the third quarter and 17 points entering the fourth, Jeff Rutledge rallied the Skins by passing for 363 second-half yards (30-42). The game winning points came on a Chip Lohmiller 34-yard field goal in overtime.

Art Monk became only the third player in NFL history to catch 700 passes when he hauled in four receptions against the Saints in RFK.

The Redskins pushed their playoff record to 12-3 under Joe Gibbs with a solid team effort 20-6 win over the Eagles at Veterans Stadium.

For the first time in franchise history the Redskins opened the year with 11 straight victories.

The Redskins became only the sixth team in NFL history to record 17-or-more wins in a single season by posting a 17-2 overall mark (best in team history).

In 16 games, the "Hogs" allowed a league low and club record nine sacks. It was the third lowest total in NFL history.

Art Monk becomes only the second player in NFL history to catch 800 passes when he caught five passes in the season finale at Philadelphia.

For the fourth time under Joe Gibbs, and the fifth time in franchise history, the Redskins return to the Super Bowl with a 41-10 win over Detroit in the NFC title game.

The Redskins claim their third Super Bowl win under Gibbs. The Skins knocked out Buffalo 37-24 and Mark Rypien was named Super Bowl MVP completing 18 passes and throwing two TDs. Gary Clark and Art Monk both caught seven passes, with Clark gaining 114 yards and one TD, and Monk adding 113 yards. Brad Edwards had two interceptions and the defense sacked Bills QB Jim Kelly five times.

The Redskins set a club record with eight players earning selection to the Pro Bowl. Jim Lachey and Darrell Green are named starters while Gary Clark, Chip Lohmiller, Charles Mann, Earnest Byner and Mark Schlereth also were named to the NFC squad.

The Redskins move into their new training complex set on a picturesque 160 acres in Loudoun County, Virginia. The building is over 70,000 square feet to compliment four practice fields.

Art Monk becomes the NFL's all-time leading pass receiver against the Broncos on Monday Night in Week 5. His 820th career catch was a 10-yarder with 3:12 remaining in the 4th quarter.

After 12 seasons guiding the Redskins to four Super Bowls, three Super Bowl championships, a 16-5 playoff mark and a 140-65 career record, Joe Gibbs steps down as head coach and is replaced by long-time defensive coordinator Richie Petitbon.

Norv Turner, offensive coordinator of the Dallas Cowboys, becomes the 22nd coach in Skins history.

Linebacker Monte Coleman plays in his 206th career game as a Redskin breaking Art Monk's team record for games played. Monte, tied with Sammy Baugh for most seasons as a Redskin with 16, ended his career with 216 games played. (Darrell Green would take over the record in 1998).

Linebacker Ken Harvey and punter Reggie Roby earned selection to the NFC squad. Harvey led the NFC in sacks with 13.5 and Roby became the first Redskins punter selected to the Pro Bowl since Sam Baker in 1958.

Washington's 27-23 win over 13-point favorite Dallas was the Redskins' biggest upset win since defeating the Cowboys, 34-31, on December 11, 1966. The Redskins were 17-point underdogs in the rematch at Texas Stadium but came up with a 24-17 win. It was the biggest upset win in the NFL since 1980.

Linebacker Ken Harvey earned his second straight starting assignment in the Pro Bowl, while kick/punt returner Brian Mitchell was honored with his first Pro Bowl selection. Mitchell led the NFC in kickoff returns with a 25.6-yard average and was second in the NFL in punt returns with a 12.6 avg.

Mark Moseley kicks the game winner.

Overtime Games

In 1974, the NFL established overtime to decide regular season games. Since then, the Redskins have compiled an 15-8-1 record in overtime games.

November 2, 1975 - RFK Stadium Washington 30, Dallas 24

Ken Houston returned a Roger Staubach interception 14 yards, and Billy Kilmer scored the winning touchdown after 6:34 of overtime action.

November 16, 1975 - Busch Stadium St. Louis 20, Washington 17

Cards scored with 20 seconds remaining on "Mel Gray catch" to force overtime. St. Louis won coin toss and marched to 37-yard Jim Bakken field goal to win after seven minutes of play.

November 23, 1975 - RFK Stadium Oakland 26, Washington 23

George Blanda's 27-yard field goal decided contest after 7:13.

September 27, 1976 - Veterans Stadium Washington 20, Philadelphia 17

Mark Moseley's 29-yard field goal won the Monday night game with 12:49 elapsed in overtime.

November 12, 1978 - RFK Stadium Washington 16, New York Giants 13

Redskins won on Moseley's 45-yard field goal after 3:32 elapsed.

November 15, 1981 - Giants Stadium Washington 30, New York Giants 27

Moseley kicked a 49-yard field goal on game's final play to force overtime and a 48-yard field goal to win with 3:44 elapsed.

September 12, 1982 - Veterans Stadium Washington 37, Philadelphia 34

Redskins sent the game into overtime on a 48-yard field goal by Moseley with :01 to play. Moseley won the game with a 26-yarder with 4:47 elapsed.

November 2, 1986 - RFK Stadium Washington 44, Minnesota 38

Jay Schroeder engineered a four play 63-yard drive ending with a Gary Clark 38-yard TD pass.

December 26, 1987 - Metrodome Washington 27, Minnesota 24

Ricky Sanders' 51-yard touchdown reception from Doug Williams with less than two minutes remaining tied score at 24. Haji-Sheikh kicks 26-yard game-winning field goal after Sanders' 36-yard kickoff return in overtime.

December 17, 1988 - Riverfront Stadium Cincinnati 20, Washington 17

Jim Breech connected from 20 yards out seven minutes into sudden death.

November 4, 1990 - Pontiac Silverdome Washington 41, Detroit 38

Chip Lohmiller's 34-yard field goal 9:10 into overtime capped the Redskins comeback that equalled the team's greatest in history. Down by 21 points in the third quarter and 17 points entering the fourth, Jeff Rutledge's 12-yard run tied the game with :18 seconds remaining.

November 3, 1991 - RFK Stadium Washington 16, Houston 13

Darrell Green intercepted a Warren Moon pass which set-up Lohmiller's 41-yard field goal 5:01 into overtime moving the Redskins to a 9-0 record. The Oilers tied the game with less than two minutes in regulation and had a chance to win after Brian Mitchell fumbled the kickoff, but Ian Howfield's 33-yard attempt sailed wide left.

October 16, 1994 - RFK Stadium Arizona 19, Washington 16

Arizona scored the tying TD with :19 in regulation and scored the winning points with 4:56 in overtime. Arizona's game-winner was set up by Terry Hoage who intercepted a Heath Shuler pass and returned it 12 yards to the 23. Peterson kicked the game-winning 29-yard field goal.

October 8, 1995 - Veterans Stadium Philadelphia 37, Washington 34

Down 10 points in the 4th quarter, Gus Frerotte guided the Redskins back with a touchdown pass to Henry Ellard and Eddie Murray's 46-yard field goal tied it up with :52 left. In OT, Washington stalled on its opening drive and the Eagles' Gary Anderson won the game with a 35-yard field goal.

October 22, 1995 - RFK Stadium Washington 36, Detroit 30

Trailing 30-27, Eddie Murray's 39-yard field goal tied it with :04 to play. Darrell Green's seven-yard interception return of a Scott Mitchell pass for a touchdown 3:41 into overtime ended the game.

November 10, 1996 - RFK Stadium Arizona 37, Washington 34

In one of the most bizarre games in Redskin history, the Skins led by 14 points in the fourth quarter only to squander the lead. The Cardinals won the coin toss, and drove to the Redskins 15, only to have Kevin Butler miss. The Skins' Scott Blanton booted the apparent 38-yard game-winner, but a holding penalty forced a retry from 48 that went wide left. Arizona then tried a 29-yarder that missed, only the Redskins were offside. Butler's third attempt was good from 32-yards.

November 24, 1996 - RFK Stadium
San Francisco 19, Washington 16

San Francisco's William Floyd's 1-yard touchdown run tied the game in regulation. After winning the coin toss in overtime, the 49ers Jeff Wilkins hit a 38-yard field goal to win.

September 14, 1997- Jack Kent Cooke Stadium
Washington 19, Arizona 13

In the inaugural game at Jack Kent Cooke Stadium, the Redskins win with 13:24 left in OT when Gus Frerotte, sidestepping a heavy rush, throws a 40-yard strike to a leaping Michael Westbrook in the end zone. The winning points were set up two plays earlier when rookie defensive end Kenard Lang forces a fumble and rookie linebacker recovers on the Redskins 35-yard line.

November 23, 1997
Washington 7, NY Giants 7

In overtime the Redskins turn the ball over three times, but the defense forces two punts and the Giants miss a 54-yard field goal. With under two minutes remaining, the Redskins drive to the Giants 36-yard line but a 54-yard field goal attempt falls short with :11 seconds left in overtime.

September 12, 1999 - FedExField
Dallas 41, Washington 35

Dallas stopped the Skins' first overtime drive and then scored on a 76-yard bomb from Troy Aikman to Rocket Ismail.

November 28, 1999 - FedExField
Washington 20, Philadelphia 17

Brett Conway's game-winning 27-yard FG was set up by a 48-yard kickoff return by James Thrash, which opened the overtime period. The Eagles never had the ball.

December 26, 1999 - 3Com Park
Washington 26, San Francisco 20

The Redskins overcame a 10-point fourth quarter deficit to win their ninth game of the year and clinch the NFC East. Brad Johnson's QB sneak from the 1-yard line with 3:28 in regulation sent the game into the extra period. On the opening drive, Johnson connected with Larry Centers for a 33-yard TD.

October 1, 2000 - FedExField
Washington 20, Tampa Bay 17

Tampa Bay forced the overtime when Martin Gramatica connected a 42-yard field goal as the regulation clock fell to 0:00. 10:51 into the extra period, Deion Sanders ignited the crowd with a 57-yard punt return, setting up the game winning 20-yard field goal by Michael Husted.

October 21, 2001 - FedExField
Washington 17, Carolina 14

Placekicker Brett Conway kicked a 23-yard field goal in overtime to seal the Redskins' first victory of the season and the first under Marty Schottenheimer, 17-14. The Redskins set up the win in the fourth quarter as they ignited on both sides of the ball to overcome a 14-point deficit.

The Hogs - Jeff Bostic, George Starke, Mark May, Russ Grimm and Joe Jacoby - with Coach Joe Bugel.

FedExField®

FedExField

FedExField is the premier stadium in the National Football League. Located in Landover, MD, the privately financed FedExField was completed in a record 17 months and hosted the Redskins home opener September 14, 1997 — a 19-13 overtime win against the Arizona Cardinals.

The stadium is located on a 200-acre site and is the largest outdoor stadium in the NFL with 86,484 seats — over 7,000 more than the next largest — the Meadowlands in New Jersey. FedExField is one of just two stadiums with three tiers of luxury suites, a total of 224. Suites are equipped with restrooms, a refrigerator, televisions, lounge area, two rows of seats, and bar stools.

FedExField increased the Redskins attendance capacity by over 40% when the team left RFK Stadium after 1996. Nevertheless, the Redskins have sold out every home game for the past 35 seasons (270 regular season and 13 playoff games) including all 41 contests at FedExField. All eight games for the 2002 season are sold out as well as both pre-season contests.

Construction on FedExField began in March, 1996 and cost $250 million. The following year, $30 million was spent to create a 170,000 square-foot atrium encircling the entire stadium making the Joe Gibbs Club Level the most spectacular in the league.

When Daniel M. Snyder became the Redskins owner in July, 1999, one of his first tasks was to make additional improvements to FedExField. Immediately, millions were invested in such projects as replacing metal rails with glass rails in order to provide unobstructed sight lines in the stadium bowl. The sound system was significantly upgraded and the parking lot was re-structured and re-routed to greatly improve the traffic flow on game days.

After his inaugural season, Snyder spent over $20 million to enhance FedExField. Over the past two seasons, numerous additions have been made. Escalators have been added for fans seated in the stadium's upper tier. The spectacular new Owner's Club Suite Level has been created. A 3,000-foot circumference wind screen has been installed around the top of the stadium to improve fan comfort. A sophisticated radiant heating system has been installed on the loge level. Seats were added to both the general and loge levels. The Field Club section of seating was added immediately around the playing field, dubbed the "dream seats," given they put fans almost on top of the action. The Hall of Fame Store, the original Official Redskins Store, has been remodeled and completely re-merchandised with Redskins products, including new items commemorating the franchise's 70th anniversary season. Finally, the field has been improved and re-sodded.

Recommended Routes

FedExField is conveniently located for fans in Washington DC, Maryland, and Virginia.

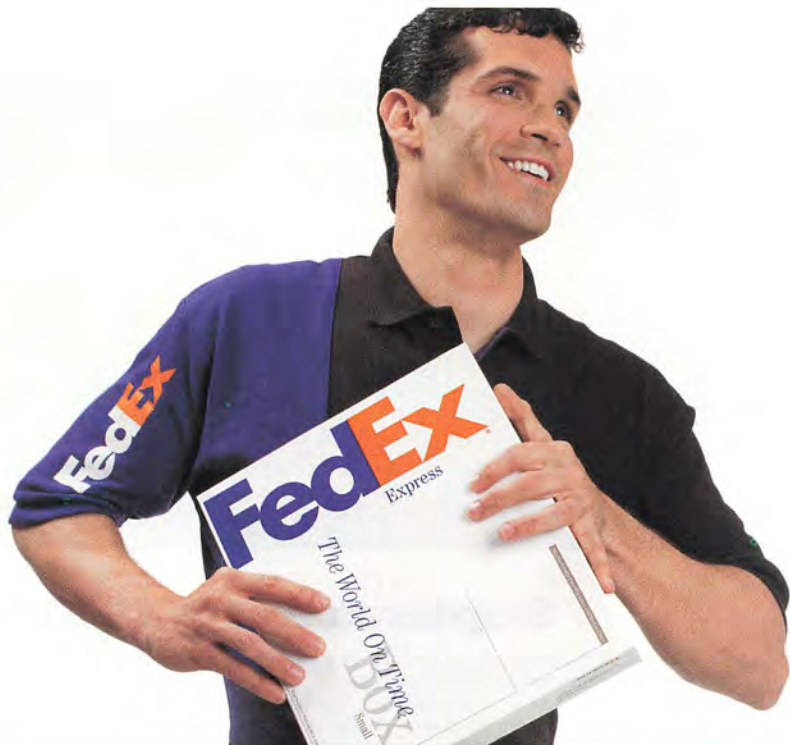

Metro: Washington Metro Area Transit Authority (WMATA) provides public transportation to the stadium. Shuttle bus service is provided to and from the Addison Road and Landover Stations.

A Day of Firsts: September 14, 1997

The Redskins opened with a thrilling 19-13 overtime victory over the Arizona Cardinals in front of a record crowd of Washington fans.

In their first game at their new home, the Redskins were forced into overtime when Cardinals kicker Kevin Butler connected on a 47-yard field goal to tie the score with just two seconds remaining.

The Cards won the toss to start the extra period, but rookie defensive lineman Kenard Lang stripped Arizona running back Leeland McElroy of the football, and Derek M. Smith recovered for the Skins on the 35-yard line. Quarterback Gus Frerotte was sacked on first down, but on the next play he found Michael Westbrook in the endzone for a game-winning 40-yard TD.

THE REDSKINS' LEADING RUSHER

FedEx
Ground

Welcome to Redskins Park

Rising from a former dairy farm and set on a picturesque 162 acres of land in Ashburn, Virginia, Redskins Park is the Washington Redskins' training facility.

The team has called Redskins Park its home since August of 1992, enjoying a private haven away from urban distractions. The complex features four football fields, strength training and sports medicine facilities, offices and meeting rooms for players, coaches and front office staff, accommodations for electronic and print media, and ample parking. The building amasses some 65,000 square feet.

Located in the Beaumeade Corporate Park near the intersection of Virginia State routes 28 and 625 (Waxpool Road), the two-story concrete and glass structure looks deceiving in size. Visitors enter a bright, spacious lobby that opens out to the second-story balcony, overlooking an impressive back yard of three carefully groomed natural grass playing fields and an additional astro-turf practice surface.

The downstairs part of the building is dedicated to football operations, including player and staff locker rooms, a strength and conditioning center, the equipment room, training rooms and video studio. The training room facilities include an x-ray room and dentist office, in addition to private examining rooms for the medical staff that cares for the team throughout the year. The lower level also consists of two racquetball courts and a half-court basketball gym. A kitchen is located adjacent to the gym, used as a dining hall during team practice sessions.

The upper floor consists of a large, 105-seat multipurpose auditorium, used for team meetings, press conferences, and film sessions with connecting meeting rooms for offensive and defensive coaches and players. In addition to the coaching staff, the personnel and scouting department also has offices and video rooms on this floor. The public area of the building consists of large hallways, high ceilings with natural lighting, and many trophy cases displaying the team's rich history and tradition.

The club's accounting, marketing, public relations, publishing, Leadership Council and administrative offices are also located on the upper floor. An adjacent media room has individual cubicles furnished with desks and electrical outlets for beat reporters and visiting media. The press room, as well as the auditorium and the locker room, is pre-wired for direct television uplink.

For the first time in Washington history, the organization will host the annual Redskins Welcome Home Luncheon at Redskins Park. The entire team, including players, coaches, staff, Redskins Alumni, Redskins Cheerleaders and the famed Washington Redskins Marching Band will all be in attendance. The annual event will herald the team's return from Training Camp 2002 at Dickinson College, back to the Washington area, and offer a unique opportunity for Redskins fans to have lunch and spend an afternoon with their favorite team.

Washington Redskins Training Camp

After a six-year hiatus, the Washington Redskins returned to Dickinson College in Carlisle, Pennsylvania for training camp in 2001. This season will mark the 34th year that the Redskins called the Dickinson College campus home, preparing for the upcoming regular season.

Training camp is an annual ritual in the NFL, an opportunity for fans from all over the country to come see their favorite Redskins players in action on the practice field, and get a first glimpse of newly signed free agents and draft picks. All practice sessions are free and open to the public.

Dickinson is a private liberal arts college of 2,000 students, known for its innovative curriculum and international education programs. Founded in 1783, the school was the first college chartered by the new nation.

Dates: The Redskins report to the Dickinson campus on July 22nd and will conduct practices through August 16th. Visit redskins.com for more information.

Osaka, Japan

The American Bowl

The Washington Redskins make their first trip overseas since 1992 for the 2002 American Bowl, traveling to Osaka, Japan, to open the pre-season against the San Francisco 49ers. The game will be broadcast from the Osaka Dome on ESPN, on Saturday, Aug. 3 at 10:00 p.m. ET.

The American Bowl is a series that NFL International launched in 1986 to showcase the play of American football to a growing worldwide audience. The contest will mark the League's first appearance in Osaka.

This game will be the Redskins second American Bowl appearance, both played against the 49ers. The first international contest between the two teams was held in London, England in 1992, resulting in a 17-15 Washington loss. The Skins look to even the record in 2002, and launch Steve Spurrier's NFL coaching career with a resounding victory. The pre-season battle in Osaka will be a part of the NFL's Hall of Fame Weekend showcasing the Redskins and 49ers, and later the new Houston

Texans' franchise in the Hall of Fame game against the New York Giants, in Canton, Ohio on August 5th.

In addition, the Redskins organization has been infused with Japanese talent, joined by wide receiver Akihito Amaya for the American Bowl, and Maki, a rookie Washington Redskins Cheerleader.

#15 AKIHITO AMAYA - WR

Height: 6-0 / Weight: 192

Born: 12/11/72

Career Highlights:

Amaya has spent the past two NFL Europe seasons playing for the Rhein Fire. He had a standout rookie season in 2001, leading the Fire and the NFL Europe League with 14 catches for 148 yards and 1 touchdown. He was a Player of the Week recipient and named to the All-NFLEL team at the conclusion of the season. Amaya returned in 2002, contributing 5 catches for 21 yards and helping Rhein reach the 2002 World Bowl. Personal: He played at Tsukuba University, while majoring in sports physiology. During the off-season, Amaya is a marketing manager for IBM.

First Ladies of Football

Each year, hundreds of talented young women audition for the chance to cheer on the Washington Redskins players and entertain fans along the sidelines of FedExField. Since their inception in 1962, the First Ladies of Football have brought Redskins fans to their feet, both on and off the field.

While the Washington Redskins Cheerleaders are most visible to Redskins fans during the games at FedExField, they also find themselves working weekends and holidays year round to assist charity and volunteer organizations, fundraisers, and educational foundations. Each year, working with the Department of Defense and Armed Forces Entertainment, members of the Washington squad travel to military bases around the world. Over the last five years performing for U.S. troops, the Washington Redskins Cheerleaders Variety Show has grown from a small Holiday performance to a musical extravaganza that incorporates the latest in funk, rock-n-roll, swing, and jazz, as well as contemporary and country music, with some audience participation thrown in to ensure the show has something for everyone.

An integral part of every Redskins game at FedExField is the dedicated staff of statisticians and assistants that monitor every snap, tackle, pass and catch that takes place on the playing field. The Redskins stats crew is responsible for generating official game stats, compiling and inputting play-by-play information into a computer database that quickly makes the data available for use by team coaches, the NFL and the media. Jon Stratton heads up the group, beginning his sixteenth year of service. His crew is among the League's best, with more than 100 years of combined experience.

Redskins Grounds Crew

Under the supervision of Head Groundskeeper Don Follett, the playing surface at FedExField is among the very best in the NFL, and has earned Follett numerous invitations to prepare Super Bowl and Pro Bowl playing fields. The Redskins Grounds Crew is responsible for ensuring that the playing fields at FedExField and Redskins Park are in smooth, safe condition and able to withstand the rigors of NFL football. They work year-round operating the high-tech irrigation system under FedExField, fertilizing, mowing and chalking the field to keep it in top playing condition. The Grounds Crew plays an important role in Redskins community initiatives as well, helping the Washington Redskins Leadership Council renovate the football fields of local high schools throughout the region. The program has been so successful that the NFL is encouraging similar programs in other NFL markets.

Washington Redskins Marching Band

The Redskins Marching Band begins its 64th year leading sell-out crowds at FedExField in the team fight song, "Hail to the Redskins." With bandmaster Billy Ball directing, it is one of just two pro football marching bands still in existence today. The all-volunteer ensemble formed in 1937, when George Preston Marshall brought the team to Washington, D.C., with the goal of entertaining fans from the moment they walked into the stadium until the time they left to go home. For more than six decades, the Marching Band has taken great pleasure in entertaining fans with their pre-game and halftime shows. Over the years, the Band has marched between train stations and stadiums before notable games, down Broadway before a New York Giants game in the early 1960s, and around the concourse of Tampa Stadium during Super Bowl XVIII.

HAIL TO THE REDSKINS

THE REDSKINS FIGHT SONG

"Hail to the Redskins!

Hail Victory!

Braves on the warpath,

Fight for old D.C.!

Run or pass and score

we want a lot more!

Beat 'em Swamp 'em Touchdown

let the points soar!

Fight on, Fight on,

Til you have won,

Sons of Wash-ing-ton!"

On August 17, 1938, "Hail to the Redskins" made its debut as the official fight song of the Washington Redskins. The song was written by renowned band leader Barnee Breeskin and the lyrics were penned by Hollywood movie star Corinne Griffith, the wife of team founder and owner, George Preston Marshall.

Gettin' Down with the Funky Four

The Funky Four are members of the Washington Redskins Marching Band percussion section who have become a fixture of the FedExField game day experience. Members Harry Jackson, Kenny Scott, Thomas Clarke, and Michael Dorsey entertain the FedExField crowd with uniquely choreographed dance routines, performing to "Play that Funky Music" by Wild Cherry during the third quarter of every home game. In addition to their performances at Redskins games, the Funky Four are in demand around town, appearing at charity and community events throughout the metro area including the Steve Spurrier Redskins Golf Classic at Lansdowne Country Club, benefiting the Washington Redskins Leadership Council.

Meet the Hogettes

Another trademark of FedExField game day is a sighting of "The Hogettes," a highly spirited group of Redskins fans that dress in polka dot skirts, brightly colored wigs, plastic hog snouts, and enjoy extra-large cigars. "The Hogettes" started appearing at Redskins games in 1983, named after Washington's popular offensive line from the 80's, "The Hogs". The group can be found at FedExField for every home Redskins games, and sometimes in the stands on road trips. The members are extremely active in the community as well, making appearances at golf tournaments, telethons, and parades to support children's charities. "The Hogettes" received the ultimate die-hard fan honor in 1999, with an induction into the Pro Football Hall of Fame, in the Hall of Fans exhibit in Canton, Ohio.

FedExField Attendance Records

In 2001, the Washington Redskins established a new NFL record for the second season in a row by playing in front of 1,137,730 fans in their 16 games. Washington's total home attendance for the season came to 624,374. The NFL's top single season mark in front of a home crowd is 647,424 – set by the Redskins in 2000 season.

Washington fans set their own team record on December 2, 2001 at the game between the Redskins and the Dallas Cowboys. 85,112 fans attended the contest – the most ever at a Redskins game. The eight-game attendance average at FedEx Field was 78,047 for the 2001 season. The NFL average was 65,781.

WASHINGTON REDSKINS

Leadership Council

MISSION STATEMENT

To be the voice that raises awareness of issues influencing youth in the region. Utilize the unique assets of the Washington Redskins organization and its corporate and community partners to achieve measurable results that improve communities.

SIGNATURE COMMUNITY PROGRAMS

Designed to encourage and promote community service and volunteerism among youth. Over 40,000 area youth have participated in the program. For 2002, the Council has teamed up with Bank of America to double participation in the All Star program and to reinvest funds into youth organizations.

Football field renovation program that supports and promotes high school and youth football. By fall 2002, the Council will have renovated ten inner-city high school and community fields throughout the region. In addition to the field renovations future plans include placing an academic coach in inner city high schools. Our goal is to develop high school athletes both on and off the field. The Council also plans to work with the NFL on a national roll out for the Fields for Tomorrow program in all 32 NFL cities.

Encouraging and promoting literacy among youth is the mission of the Redskins Read summer reading program. For 2002, the Leadership Council has teamed up with Intelsat to produce and distribute 50,000 Redskins Read Activity books to 150 local branch libraries. Local libraries will receive grants to enhance their summer reading programs. Redskin players will continue to read to children at area locations throughout the year.

A curriculum based program for high school athletes that focuses on what it takes to be successful on the field, in the classroom and in the workplace. The curriculum illustrates important life lessons by using examples from Redskins players, coaches and alumni. Over 5,000 high school athletes from 40 area high schools have participated in the program culminating with a player-led interactive forum at FedExField in the fall.

NFL Youth Football

The Redskins actively support and participate in NFL league-wide programs designed to promote the game of football. 2002 programs include Community Quarterback award, High School Coach of the Week, the NFL Coaching Academy and the United Way Hometown Huddle.

Redskins Player/Alumni Fund

New for 2002, this program will support and encourage player and alumni community service and development. Current and former players will serve as role models and community advocates to lend their voice to help lead the region. As part of this program, the Council will establish an off-season job program for Redskin players and alumni at participating Leadership Council member organizations.
